Premier Berlin Visit Defied By Anti-Reds

Wall Blasted; New Crisis Is Predicted

BERLIN (UPI) — Anti-Communists blasted a hole in the Berlin wall Saturday in defiance of the East Berlin visit of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. And signs multiplied that Khrushchev was running into some fresh new political crises.

The anti-Reds blew a hole about two feet by seven feet in the six feet high wall about 250 yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point known as Checkpoint Charley. It was the 17th attempt to blow up the wall since it was erected Aug. 13, 1961.

Relations between the Soviet Union and Communist China plunged to an all-time low Saturday and Western diplomats were speculating openly that Romanian leaders might be snubbing Khrushchev, perhaps to line up with Albania on the side of Red China.

'SUMMIT'

Leaders from Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Bulgaria either were in East Berlin or en route for what was expected to be an East bloc "summit" meeting with Khrushchev starting Monday.

But there was still no announcement that Romanian party leader Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej was coming, and no sign that he had arrived. Diplomats said they wondered whether Romania had decided to boycott the expected conference, but some sources said he had been ailing.

It was noteworthy that Romania alone of the East European satellites published a June 14 attack by Communist China on Khrushchev's policies of "peaceful coexistence." Publication of the attack was banned in the Soviet.

Sino-Soviet relations chilled further today with the Peking charge that Russia has demanded the recall of five Chinese nationals, three of them embassy employes, from the Soviet Union for distributing pamphlets containing the attack on Khrushchev.

The Peking move came in the wake of Khrushchev's charge, also published Saturday, that China had pushed relations between the two countries "to the limit."

VICINITY OF GILBERT

Small Tornado Hits In Area; Damage Is Minor

GILBERT (Special) — A small twister touched down two miles west of here churning up several hundred yards of land and caused minor damage to several houses Saturday afternoon.

No one was injured by the swirling winds.

The tornado first dipped down on a farm owned by Mrs. W. H. Bates of Gilbert. Traveling in a northerly direction, the twister hit the farm one-half mile south of the Gilbert-Jigger Road (State Hwy. 84) about 2:30 p.m., State Trooper Charles B. Holcomb reported.

A 200 - yard wide swath between 400 to 500 yards long was torn up by the tornado which lifted the roof off an old house used for storing hay on the Bates farm, Trooper Holcomb said.

PORCH, ROOF

The wind also took away the porch and part of the roof of a home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Nichols who live on the Bates farm.

Before leaving the farm, the twister also lifted a four-wheel trailer setting next to the Nichols home and deposited it in a field 200 yards away.

Further north, the twister ruffled a shingle roof on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Robins scattering shingles over a wide area.

Lightning also accompanied winds in the area about 40 miles southeast of Monroe and eight miles south of Winnsboro in Franklin Parish.

A firey bolt struck a tree in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Strickland showering him with bark. He was uninjured and no damage was done to the Strickland home.

When last seen, the tornado was still headed in a northerly direction and warnings went out in the Delhi area in Richland Parish about 3:30 p.m. The alert in Richland Parish which experienced hard rains was lifted at 4:45 p.m. No damaging winds were reported in the area. No damaging winds were reported in West Carroll Parish directly north of Richland Parish, but West Carroll also received about two hours of rain Saturday afternoon.

Officers Urge Caution For Dock's Opening

Twin City and parish law agencies urged local residents and visitors to use extreme caution while driving and boating today to avoid mishaps resulting in fatalities.

Monroe police spokesman said a large crowd is expected in town today for the gala opening of the newly constructed Monroe Boat dock north of the city near Forsythe Park. Police Chief James C. Kelly called for caution on the part of drivers, especially with the new changes in Monroe streets, throughout the day.

He added that officers have been called out on special duty to take care of the added traffic problem that will arise with the influx of out-of-town drivers here for the boat and air show slated on the river at the new boat docks. He urged drivers to be especially careful to obey traffic laws and parking signs at the river dock landing, and called for an orderly procedure in loading and unloading boats for the boatshow.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said both the Ouachita Parish sheriff department boats — "Doc Adams" and "Gunsmoke"—will be utilized on the river today as patrol boats and emergency first aid stations.

He warned speed and raceboat owners to take their boats for warmups and practice runs completely "out of sound and sight" of the city early Sunday morning, pointing out the best place for these purposes is farther up the river, north of Monroe.

Sheriff Grant also added that enforcement of the boating law calling for life preservers or belts for each person in a boat will be carried out by his deputies. The sheriff explained that such a requirement is for "your own protection, and we would hate to see fatalities — by car or boat crash or drownings today."

Grant asked the public to cooperate when time for the boat races at 1 p.m. arrives. He said racing will continue from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and the sheriff's department will attempt to block off the racing area for a practice heat for the boats. He asked for co-operation in keeping the water "Smooth and steady for the racers."

Both Chief Kelly and Grant also said the grassy banks of the leveee can be utilitized for gallery seats the show, but Kelly said no eating will be allowed except in "picnic areas."

Strong Civil Rights Law Is Forecast

Any Legislation House Passes Will Be Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration apparently is going to accept the strongest civil rights legislation passed by the House.

And any bill it gets through that body seems likely to be plastered with Republican amendments.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, told reporters that "any bill that the House passes will be it."

"For practical purposes," he said, "we cannot expect to get through the Senate any bill stronger than that the House votes."

Just how far the House will follow President Kennedy's recommendations is not yet clear. The heart of his program—enforcement of desegregation in privately owned firms serving the public—ran into hostility in the House Judiciary Committee this week.

SEPARATE BILL

This hostility may be duplicated when Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy opens the administration's case Monday before the Senate Commerce Committee. That group will consider a separate bill involving only the accommodations feature of the President's program.

Humphrey predicted committee approval of the measure, possibly in revised form. But he said there is no leadership intention of trying to bring it before the Senate before the House acts, a move which would be certain to touch off a Southern filibuster.

The Minnesota senator made it clear that leaders want to compile a record of hearings in both the commerce committee and the judiciary committee, which will consider the President's full package measure. They want to be able to counter complaints that the subject hasn't had committee consideration when they seek to bring a House-passed bill before the Senate.

Attorney General Kennedy already has indicated he will accept amendments to the accommodations section of the bill. One of these may be a provision excusing from its enforcement terms firms doing less than $150,000 yearly business.

Red Chinese Bring Feud To Kremlin

Three Diplomats Are Unwelcome In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China brought its ideological feud with the Soviet Union to the door of the Kremlin Saturday. It announced to surprised Western diplomats that three Chinese embassy officials have been declared unwelcome in the Soviet Union for distributing a letter assailing Premier Khrushchev's cold war policy.

Peking was apparently ready to play by diplomatic rules and recall the officials. But diplomatic sources said the Chinese were preparing to defy a Kremlin ban on the letter and begin a new distribution in Moscow.

The sources reported the Chinese had flown in large batches of English language copies of the letter in handsomely printed pamphlet form. The letter was issued by the Chinese Communist party and the Kremlin had taken the unusual step of announcing it would not be published in Moscow.

A statement defiantly released in Moscow by Peking's official New China news agency called the Kremlin action against the officials unreasonable.

Quoting Red China's foreign ministry, it demanded to know if the Russians were trying to undermine Chinese-Soviet unity almost on the eve of talks here to discuss ideological differences between Moscow and Peking.

BOYCOTT

Western diplomats said the Soviet action may prompt the Chinese to boycott the talks scheduled to open July 5.

"The Chinese could have kept the matter quiet," said one Western diplomat. "It's beginning to look as if they don't really want to come here next month."

But there were indications the Russians, too, may want out of the talks.

The Soviet Communist party organ, Pravda, Saturday printed a sharp speech by Khrushchev, accusing the Chinese of using a "racial approach" on ideological matters.

This was a reference to the fact that Chinese have not hesitated to use their skin color to win friends in such places as Africa and Southeast Asia.

But there was no comment from the Soviet foreign ministry on the Red Chinese disclosure that the Russians had demanded the recall of three Chinese embassy staff members in Moscow, a Chinese post graduate student and a Chinese Institute official. The Kremlin note was sent to the Chinese embassy Thursday, the Chinese news agency said.

The Kremlin announced June 18 it would not publish the letter in the Soviet Union.

Seven Killed In Collision Of Bus, Cars

RUTHERFORD, N. J. (AP)—A bus sped over the crest of a rain-soaked hill on a northern New Jersey highway early today, skidded, flipped and collided with two cars. Seven persons were killed and 25 injured, four of them critically.

The accident, one of New Jersey's worst, happened on Route 3 about 10 miles west of New York City.

Wreckage and bodies covered the roadway at the foot of a hill several hundred yards east of the Route 3 Drive-in Theater. The highway rises sharply over an underpass entrance to the movie.

ARRAIGNED

Wilber Parker Jr., 30, of Paterson, driver of the Inter-City Transportation Co. vehicle, was arraigned later on a seven - count charge of causing death by reckless driving. He was released on $2,500 bail.

The bus left the Port of New York Authority terminal in New York bound for Paterson. The collision occurred less than half an hour later.

The victims: Miss Leonora Lerner, 24, Rutherford; Anthony J. Vertullo, 57, Clifton; Joseph A. Caputo, 73, Rutherford; Joseph J. Domino (age unavailable) Pompton Plains, a sailor; John F. Cardiello, 59, Jersey City, a passenger in one of the cars, and Mrs. Eleanor Marie Roche, Jersey City, a passenger in the same car.

NONE CRITICALLY

49 Are Injured In Train Crash

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — A 90-mile-an-hour Milwaukee Road passenger train jammed with vacationers hit a standing freight on the main line Saturday. Fifty-nine persons were injured, none critically.

The diesel engine of the passenger train overturned and a baggage car and a dining car tilted but did not fall over. A mail car and two coaches were derailed but remained upright.

The impact shattered the caboose, knocked four freight cars off the tracks and ripped up rails for 250 feet. Wreckage was scattered 75 feet along the right of way.

All except two of the injured passengers and crew members were treated and released from the hospitals. The two held in the hospital were B. J. Mosely, 73, Decatur, Ala., who suffered leg injuries, and Bernice Berger, 47, Cincinnati, Ohio, head and nose injuries.

The accident occurred at 9:40 a.m. in the small southeastern Wisconsin community of Truesdell, two miles west of Kenosha. The train was due in Milwaukee at 10:15.

Charles Gust of Milwaukee, the engineer, said his train was traveling 90 miles an hour when he spotted the rear end of the freight. He said he hit the brakes and ducked. He escaped with facial bruises.

FBI Checking Voting Records In Area Parish

HARRISONBURG (Special) — An agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation began taking notes of voting records for Catahoula Parish Saturday.

The FBI agent arrived here Friday and told Catahoula Parish Registrar of Voters Douglas Stockman he wanted to look over the records. Stockman advised the agent he would have to consult with District Attorney D. W. Gibson.

According to the voter registrar, Dist. Atty. Gibson told the FBI agent he could take notes of the records, but could not make photostats without a court order.

The FBI man took a few notes and said he would return Monday or Tuesday, but did not indicate whether he would try to get a court order, Stockman said.

The voter registrar said the FBI agent told him he had no complaint, but was merely making a routine check in parishes where Negro voter registration is low.

Catahoula Parish which did not have a permanent voter registration had the highest number of Negroes registered during the last election with 320 Negroes registered to vote and 3,900 white persons.

Pope Paul VI Preps For Coronation

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI prepared himself with prayer and meditation for his twilight coronation Sunday before powerful and humble people from every corner of the earth.

Vatican officials set up a canopy before St. Peter's Basilica. The great church will serve as a backdrop for this open air ceremony.

This will be the first papal coronation outdoors in this century and is designed to let more people see the ceremony.

As the time drew nearer for placing the beehive crown on the head of Pope Paul, a feeling of intense expectation built up in Rome, now bursting with visitors and sweltering in a heat wave.

EVERY EFFORT

The Vatican made every effort to organize the ceremony to give the world a picture of the pageantry, solemnity and traditions of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pope Paul spent Saturday performing the functions of his office. He granted an audience to 600 newsmen during which he asked for friendly and sympathetic understanding between the Vatican and the world's news media.

He also received his first chief of state—President Joao Goulart of Brazil. The two men conferred for about 35 minutes.

Safety Officer Is Accidentally Shot At Ft. Polk

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—Second Lt. Frank W. McFadden, 23-year-old infantry officer, was killed Saturday when he accidentally stepped into the line of fire of a .50 caliber spotting rifle.

McFadden, who was acting as safety officer, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodrow McFadden, Michigan City, Ind.

The accident came during preparations for a firepower demonstration. The rifle was being fired to set its sights accurately for use in the demonstration.

Post officials said an investigation was underway. Preliminary findings indicated the soldier firing the rifle was not at fault and his name was not disclosed.

McFadden was an instructor with the anti-tank subcommittee of Ft. Polk's weapons committee. He was commissioned in the Army Reserve upon his graduation from the University of Indiana in June 1962 and had been on active duty since Nov. 3. He had been at Ft. Polk since Jan. 27.

TIDELANDS MAY BECOME ISSUE

Governor Race Stage Set

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana is ready to shift into higher gear soon for the governor's race and the unsolved tidelands question may become an uninvited issue.

When the special legislative session departed Thursday, after adopting House reapportionment favorable to a federal court, Gov. Jimmie H. Davis once more voiced hope for settlement of the old offshore boundary problem with the federal government.

In his farewell to legislators, Davis said it probably was the last time they would be together, unless there was an opportunity to ratify "some proposed settlement on the tidelands issue."

That's all Davis said on the issue. Administration leaders said later as far as they know, nothing was in sight.

Since the question may reach straight into the White House, President Kennedy is likely to be involved one way or another.

When U.S. Rep. Edwin Willis of St. Martinville, chairman of the Tidelands Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, gave his views to the Shreveport Junior Chamber of Commerce a few months ago, he made this point:

"Whatever recommendations we make will have to be submitted to and approved by the legislature of Louisiana, as well as by authority higher than Mr. Cox in the federal government."

He referred to U.S. Solicitor General Archibald Cox, in a remark obviously pointing at the White House.

Some Louisiana politicians contend President Kennedy may become an issue in the campaign for governor, particularly in view of his civil rights proposals.

In the fiscal Legislature, ardent states rights advocates attempted without success to push when it appears for the presidential electors primary. It would have allowed voters to name unpledged electors.

Sponsors, supported in the House but defeated in the Senate, insisted such a step would help settle the tidelands issue by forcing presidential candidates to bargain with Louisiana.

The states rights group also warned a similar effort would be made in the Democratic State Central Committee next year when it appears for the presidential campaign in Louisiana.

However, one Louisiana legislator, Rep. Salvador Anzelmo, Orleans Parish, argued in the legislature the states rights stalwarts may have tied the hands of Louisiana congressmen in any attempt to bargain with the White House.

This argument came up in the legislature when Rep. John Rau of Jefferson Parish won House passage of a resolution demanding the Louisiana congressman make public their position on the president's new civil rights program.

Anzelmo told the House such a

Weather Style Not To Change

The weatherman seemingly satisfied with his latest handiwork has decided to let it stand for a few days with the high set at 88-94 degrees under partly cloudy skies today. Little change is expected through Monday.

NO CHANGE

For variation, the forecast offers hit-or-miss scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Tonight's low is set near 70 degrees to compare with Saturday's low reading of 71.

The mercury quit climbing Saturday after reaching 91 degrees. Variable winds will flit about the area at between 5 to 15 miles per hour.

BY BATHYSCAPHE CREW

Big Crater Found In Thresher Area

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING (AP)—The crew of the bathyscaphe Trieste Saturday photographed what was described as a huge crater just behind a debris area where the submarine Thresher is believed to have sunk last April 10 with 129 aboard.

The Trieste had been assigned on its fourth dive to follow the area of the previously photographed debris to see if it could come upon the nuclear submarine.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews, search commander, said the Trieste did not sight the Thresher but instead found the crater which he estimated measured 40-feet deep and 200-feet wide.

Andrews said some scientists have advanced a theory that the submarine could have taken on water and plummeted to the bottom of the ocean at a speed of some 100 knots, burying herself in the ocean floor.

He added, however, that while some scientists believed the Thresher could have buried herself in such a dive others held that the 267-foot sub could not have disappeared into the ocean bottom completely.

Three men were aboard the Trieste Saturday instead of the usual two as the cigar-shaped vessel descended the 8,400 feet some 220 miles east of Boston.

Andrews said the bathyscaphe would make a fifth dive today and would make a further search of the crater.

WORLD AND NEWS-STAR

The big Monroe Morning World and News-Star Photo Contest starts today — and you can have a lot of fun by entering, plus a good chance of winning some money.

The contest, which closes August 18, will offer a total of $31,000 in national awards with the top national winners receiving $1,000, plus local prizes.

It is easy. All you have to do is have a camera and an eye for getting the right pictures.

At the end of the contest, we will enter the four top pictures of the contest in the four classifications involved and enter them in the 1963 Newspaper National Snapshot Awards. If you are a winner in the national event, you can win up to $1,000, plus an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C.

So dust off that old camera and start looking. The picture you shoot might be the prize winner.

There are four classifications in the contest — all black-and-white pictures. They are Class A — Babies and Children; Class B — Teenager and Adult Activities; Class C Scenics and Table Tops; and Class D — Pets and Animals.

Be sure you read the rules published elsewhere in today's paper, and go to it!

Deadline for getting photos in for the first week's judging will be next Thursday. The winners in each classification will be announced next Sunday.

Approximately $300 will be given in local cash prizes, and the grand prize winners chosen at the conclusion of the contest, will be eligible to compete in the 35th Newspaper National Snapshot Awards. Cash prizes totaling $31,000.00 will be offered in the nation contest, which means if you are one of the lucky ones you can win up to $1,000. In addition, you'll get an expense paid trip to Washington for the award.

Each week during the seven-week contest, the Morning World and News-Star will offer awards to winning entries in each of the four black - and - white divisions, which are "Babies and Children, Pets and Animals, Teenagers and Adults, and Scenics and Tabletops." Winners in each division will be presented $5 while second and third place entries will receive $3 and $2 respectively, plus $5 for the grand local winners in each of the four classifications at the end of the local contest. These four winners will be the one eligible to participate in the national event.

You can turn in as many photos as you like, but make sure they were taken after July 1, 1962. Put your name, address and classification on the back of each photo and send them to the Photo Contest Editor, Morning World and News-Star.

Photo Contest rules are simple to follow and will be available in several places. They will be printed at times in both local newspapers.

Be sure that you obtain the written consent of any recognizable persons appearing in a picture to permit the use of the photo for advertising purposes. The photograph will be ineligible for the national judging unless this is done.

All you have to do to participate in this contest is to be an amateur and own a camera. Any type camera will do.

New Wheat Legislation Is Voted Down

By SUSAN K. POLLOCK
United Press International

The administration decided this week to give farmers what it feels they want — no new wheat legislation.

A strong "no" vote in the May wheat referendum, and only a trickle of letters from individual farmers, indicated to the government that farmers wanted to make a go of it alone.

"We have received very little mail from individual farmers regarding new legislation and no mail that would indicate a consolidation of farmer opinion on what sort of bill may be needed," Rep. Graham Purcell (D-Tex.), chairman of the House subcommittee on wheat, said this week.

Agricultural Secretary Orville L. Freeman, in dismissing all hopes or fears of fresh legislation, outlined alternative programs for the 1964 wheat crop. In his analysis he figured the existing wheat and feed grain laws.

The first alternative would be to divert an estimated 24 million feed grain acres and continue to drawdown feed grain stocks. The resulting firmness in the feed grain market would in turn provide support for wheat as a part of the total feed grain economy.

A second would be to provide slightly higher diversion payment rates under the feed grain program and to require that feed grain farmers with wheat acreage keep the bread grain within the allotted bounds in order to qualify for the feed grain program.

The final possibility, the one which Freeman is said to favor, would be similar to the second plan with the added feature that farmers involved in the feed grain program would be allowed to substitute wheat on feed grain acres and feed grains on wheat acres.

The decision to forget about wheat legislation may come as a surprise to such observers as "Broomhall," the London grain paper, which said early this week:

"They (the farmers) rejected the plan and responsibility now lies on the government either to introduce new legislation or let the income of American wheat growers sink $700 million below the 1962 returns."

Many market authorities feel that farmers won't suffer to this extent as many growers will place their 1963 crops under government loan and benefit from the high payments.

The way things stand now, farmers who plant within their allotments next year will be eligible for price support. The support level will be around $1.25 a bushel.

WELCOMED BY DEMONSTRATORS

JFK, Macmillan Discuss A-Treaty

CHELWOOD GATE, England (AP)—President Kennedy arrived in England Saturday and joined Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for talks on prospects of negotiating a test ban treaty with the Soviet Union. Youthful Britons welcomed him with a ban-the-bomb demonstration.

Kennedy first made an unannounced pilgrimage to the grave of his younger sister, Kathleen, in the Derbyshire village of Edensor. Kathleen died in a 1948 plane crash.

Then the presidential jet, which has carried Kennedy through a rapturous tour of West Germany and a sentimental journey to Ireland, took him to a quiet welcome at Gatwick Airport in Sussex. He was greeted by the Earl of Munster, representing Queen Elizabeth, and by Macmillan.

A mile or two away, outside the airport grounds, about 100 youthful ban - the-bomb demonstrators paraded with banners saying, "Welcome Mr. K. but no Polaris missiles."

Kennedy never saw them. Immediately after the airport greeting he and Macmillan boarded a helicopter that took them to the prime minister's home, Birth Grove House, about 35 miles south of London to spend the next 24 hours.

But outside the gates of Macmillan's country home, ban-the-bomb demonstrators staged a hunger strike in protest against nuclear weapons. They vowed to refuse food until Kennedy leaves for Italy Sunday. Kennedy didn't see them, either.

The new America-British bid for agreement with Russia on a test ban treaty appeared to be the topic dominating them for the brief conference.

Macmillan, brushing aside his domestic political woes, went into the talks prepared to press for a bold Western diplomatic initiative.

He had his eyes on an early Big Three summit conference, which could consolidate his leadership and perhaps even allow him to retire in a blaze of greater glory than now seems possible.

Underlining the nuclear weapons issue, Kennedy said in answer to Macmillan's speech of welcome, "I am glad to have an opportunity to talk about the forthcoming trip of our representatives to the Soviet Union."

This was a reference to the mission U.S. special ambassador W. Averill Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham are making to Moscow in mid-July to discuss a treaty to ban nuclear testing.

AT LAKE PROVIDENCE

State Pageant Events Listed

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — A complete list of activities for the Miss Louisiana Scholarship Beauty Pageant to be held here July 4 - 6 has been released.

The 14th annual event, which will feature 33 contestants from all parts of the state, is sponsored by the Lake Providence Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The emcee will be Bob Evans of Helena, Ark. Nightly performances will begin at 8 p.m. at the Lake Providence Country Club.

July 4 activities will also include boat races and sky-diving. A parade on July 6 will begin at 10 a.m. and will feature all the pageant contestants, the reigning Miss Louisiana, Diana Jane Smith; Miss Hospitality, Vickey Hair of Lake Providence, and the Lake Providence High School and Eudora High School bands.

The Northeast Louisiana Jazz Ensemble, directed by Ray Carroll, will provide music each night. Diana Jane Smith, reigning Miss Louisiana, will be presented each nght and will perform the opening and final nights. Thelma Levee of Tallulah will provide special music July 5.

Contestants will compete in divisions of talent, swim suit and evening dress. On the first two nights, each girl will compete in all phases of competition. Talent entries will include singing, dancing, dramatic readings, piano playing, speech, baton twirling and an art display plus an original style show.

On the third night, 10 finalists will be named and each one will compete in the three divisions. Contestants are also scored on personality. They will meet the judges at teas.

Judges will be Ken Osterberger, out - going Jaycee state president; Barry Rudd, father of the reigning Miss Texas; Katy Chowning, former director of seven state pageants; Lee Zackery, past national Jaycee president and G. J. Post, director of the Miss Texas pageant.

In addition, she will receive $500 wardrobe by Toni Banlon, a $500 wardrobe by Silversteins of Monroe, a "Miss America" watch by Raglands of Lake Providence, a share of stock in the Lake Providence Bank, $100 savings bond by First National Bank of Lake Providence, and a trophy by the Lake Providence Jaycees.

The first runnerup will receive a $200 scholarship; second runnerup $100 scholarship; Miss Congeniality (to be selected by popular vote of all contestants) $100 scholarship; and most talented not in the top three, $100 scholarsip.

Trophies, which are on display at Raglands in Lake Providence, will be presented to each of the winners by the Lake Providence Jaycees.

Preliminary winners will be named in the talent and swim suit divisions on the first two nights of the pageant. Ten finalists will compete the final night. This will be narrowed down to five and they will be asked questions.

The judges will turn in their final ballot after these five girls have answered a serious and light question. After the crowning, a coronation ball will be held in the Lake Providence Country Club with music by Allen Green and the Jumping Jacks.

Contestants in the pageant include Linda Roberta Brossette, Miss Baker; Glenda Kay Jeter, Miss Baton Rouge;; Johnnie Cheryl Peterson, Miss Bienville Parish; Janelle Cutrer, Miss Bossier Parish; Marty Guinn, Miss Catahoula; Jo Ann Wooten, Miss Cenla; Sondra Fulmer, Miss Claiborne Parish; Kay Cross, Miss Concordia Parish; Beverly Sumrall, Miss Delhi Stock Show; Jan Heald, Miss Greater New Orleans; Patsy Lowderback, Miss Holiday - in-Dixie; Diana Claire Haddad, Miss Houma; Salli Elizabeth Wilson, Miss International Friendship Festival; Karen Keith, Miss Jackson Parish; Rebecca Ann Simpson, Miss Lake Charles.

At right is Miss Union Parish, Juanita Reppond, 20, a senior at Louisiana Tech. She is sponsored by the Farmerville Jaycees and will do a dramatic reading.

Louisiana's Road Death Prediction For 4th Given

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Twelve traffic deaths over the four-day Fourth of July holidays may be expected if a special safety effort is not made, Col. Thomas Burbank, director of the Department of Public Safety, said today.

"We can fairly accurately predict 12 deaths for the 102-hour holiday period on the basis of the average traffic death rate in Louisiana," Burbank said, "but with the Light Up and Live safety campaign we may be able to reduce the number of fatalities as we have in the past."

The Light Up and Live safety campaign asks motorists to drive during the daytime of the holidays with their headlights on.

"I don't know if people realize it or not, but since we started the Light Up and Live safety campaigns, it has become safer to drive on holidays in Louisiana than for the average of the rest of the year," Burbank said.

"This program has helped give Louisiana the lowest traffic death rate in its history for the past two years."

The 12 traffic fatalities for the Fourth of July holidays are based on the average of one traffic death for approximately every 10 hours during the weekdays and a higher average for weekend periods.

The Fourth of July holiday period begins at 6 p.m., July 3, and extends to midnight, July 7, for purposes of calculating traffic deaths.

Girls Still Testifying In Sex Scandal

LONDON (AP) — The prosecution Saturday brought on the girls —blondes and brunettes, in skin tight slacks or clinging dresses— to support its argument that Dr. Stephen Ward should be tried on vice charges.

The dapper society osteopath, 50, a talented artist who says members of the royal family once sat for portraits, sketched the girls as they testified.

Ward is accused of procuring, running a brothel and advising on abortions. The testimony added a lurid court chapter to the sex and security scandal that threatened Britain's Conservative government and brought the downfall of War Minister John Profumo.

—Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies 18, insisted that she had slept with Lord Astor, a friend of Ward.

—A "Miss X", wearing dark glasses, said Ward asked her to make love in a bedroom so spectators could watch through a concealed, two-way mirror.

Sally Norrie said she had slept with Ward at a cottage he rented on Lord Astor's estate.

—A "Miss R" said she had, too.

—Margaret Ricardo said that when she visited Ward's London apartment he introduced her to other men and she slept with them.

Christine Keeler, the prosecution's star witness, testified Friday that she had met Profumo while living in Ward's apartment, slept with him and accepted presents from him. She also said she had made love with Yevgeny Ivanov, naval attache in the Soviet Embassy.

Testimony by Miss Ricardo, a dark-eyed brunette who wore a sleeveless silk dress under her lemon-yellow coat, was taken by Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones as evidence supporting the procuring charges against Ward.

She also testified that Ward asked her once if she knew anyone who could perform an abortion. Miss Ricardo said she gave him a girl friend's name.

First witness of the day was Miss Rice-Davies. The blonde, wearing a long-sleeved gray dress with tight bodice and deep ruff collar, was brought back for cross-examination on her statements about American actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Astor.

Burge asked whether Miss Rice-Davies knew that Astor had told the police he had not slept with her.

She replied saucily:

"Well, he would, wouldn't he?" Laughter filled the little courtroom.

Astor has not commented publicly on the charges but he has hired a lawyer to observe the case.

Miss Keeler had testified that Astor's check had been used to pay the rent on an apartment she shared with Miss Rice - Davies. Burge suggested the money was a loan to Ward. Miss Rice-Davies said she had never heard that.

As for Fairbanks, Burge asked: "You never had any meeting with Mr. Fairbanks at all?"

Miss Rice-Davies said she did—and not in connection with a screen test as suggested by the lawyer.

"Twice I had a meeting with him and twice with Christine Keeler," she said. That was all she said about it.

After she "Miss 'x" came in wearing ski pants, pink blouse and brown suede sleeveless jacket. She said she had met Ward briefly only two or three times, and it was to her that he mentioned the mirror.

"He said you could sit there and watch people making love in the bedroom, and he made a little joke that he could make a little money if people paid to sit around and watch," she said.

Memphis Firm Will Construct Tower Building

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lloyd J. Cobb, president of International Trade Mart, announced Saturday that Bloomfield Building Industries, Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., will finance and construct a new tower building home for the famed trade center.

The structure, which may rise more than 22-stories, will be built at the foot of famed Canal Street facing the Mississippi River.

A syndicate of underwriters headed by Blyth and Co., New York, purchased $12,480,000 of bonds to get the project off the ground.

"The builder is obligated to begin operations for actual construction within 30-days after approval of the final plans and specifications," Cobb said.

A trade fair and convention facility will be constructed adjacent to the tower—designed by Edward Durrell Stone.

"Upon expiration of the leasehold and payment of the cost of the Mart Tower," Cobb said, "title and possession will automatically vest in the city of New Orleans."

"This means," the mart president said, "that the people of the mid-South Gulf region are to receive an immediate boon to world trade promotion, and the people of New Orleans, are to receive both immediate and long-range benefits."

The international trade mart, first of its kind in he world, displays many nations products in its present quarters about one-quarter mile north in the business area.

NAACP Lashes Slow Pace Of Desegregation

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) Saturday criticized the slow pace of desegregation and warned of a mood of "Sharpened acerbity" among the nation's Negroes.

The NAACP released its annual report for 1962 two days before the opening of its 1963 convention here.

"As the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation neared, Negroes throughout the country grew increasingly restive and resentful of the century-long delay in the fulfillment of the promises of Lincoln's historic document," the report said.

The 100-page report listed the organization's efforts last year in securing employment, education, voter registration and housing for Negroes. It detailed its battle to "free itself completely from the mischievous legal restraints" imposed on the NAACP by some southern states following the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

The report hailed efforts of NAACP youth units for their "aggressive efforts through direct action tactics to break down discrimination" through sit-ins, picketing and selective buying (boycott) campaigns.

It listed jobs as one of the Negroe's most urgent problems, pointing out that the Negro unemployment rate was "consistently from 2 to 2½ times that among white workers."

CIVIL SERVICE MERIT RAISES APPROVED

State College Presidents Given New Pay Authority

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Board of Education in a 7-1 vote Saturday authorized College presidents to make use of any new funds they have in the coming fiscal year to give pay boosts to professors according to a new salary scale.

The board also authorized directors of state trade and special schools to provide civil service merit raises as far as possible within their new fiscal year operating funds.

Board member Leon Gary, Houma, who voted against the college salary revisions, said the new program could mean a full professor working summer school could earn as high as $16,250 a year.

The new scale, Gary said, adopted by the board a couple of months ago, would — in view of the board's latest authorization to use new funds available—provide a "test of nerves" for college presidents.

Some of the college presidents indicated they doubted more than 50 per cent implementation of the salary scale could be carried out now.

Gary said the new board action would mean a continued lack of balance involving salaries for similar work in different colleges.

The new college scale, adopted several weeks ago, calls for these minimums and maximums:

Instructor—$4,500-$6,500.

Assistant professor—$6,000-$8,000.

Associate professor — $7,000-$10,000.

Professor — $8,400 - $12,000.

The new fiscal year begins Monday, and the board directed both colleges and trade schools to prepare their new budgets in line with legislative appropriations and submit them to the board by July 31.

Board president William J. Dodd, in discussing board committee work a day earlier, said it simply involved an inventory of classroom usage at colleges and trade schools "to help the board and the school utilize their classroom space."

The board set Aug. 16 for its next meeting date, so Northeast State College, Monroe, could call for bids to be opened on that date for a $600,000 bond issue to be used for campus improvements. The board must be in session when bids are opened.

In other action, the board:

Approved distribution to parish school boards of the $170,785,516 in state per educable and first-phase equalization funds voted by the legislature. The legislature provided an additional $5,142,484 for distribution by the board in November when school boards make up-to-date nose count of the actual number of students enrolled.

Approved $250,000 to continue classroom driver education in high schools, in addition to the new driver simulator programs handled in cooperation with the state department of public safety.

15-Year-Old Youth Is Killed

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Frank Knight was crushed to death Saturday while working beneath a car in the Kingsville community north of here.

The boy, who lived in the Sharp community, was working on the car in a wrecking yard. The auto fell on the boy's head when it slipped from a jack.

Memphis Police Probe Attacks, Purse Snatches

MEMPHIS (UPI)—Police pressed a search Saturday for a young man — or possibly two of them — following the second attack and purse snatching here in 24 hours.

The victim of the first attack, Miss Marian Sowell, 54, remained in critical condition at a local hospital. Her attacker beat her to the ground; broke five facial bones and frcatured her nose when she resisted his efforts to take her purse.

The attack came only about 30 yards from her home as she walked from a bus stop about 12:30 a.m. Friday.

Miss Ruth Conrad, 24, was attacked while she stood on a downtown street about 1:30 a.m. Saturday. She said her attacker, whom she described as "a young Negro, clean cut and well dressed," walked up, grabbed her, hit her on the forehead and ran off with her purse.

Assistant Police Chief W. W. Wilkinson said there was nothing to indicate that the same man was responsible for both attacks.

STATUES EXCHANGED

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — Uruguay will dedicate a statue of George Washington here July 4, the foreign ministry announced. The statue is a gift of the U.S. government, which had accepted from Uruguay a statue of its national hero, Gen. Jose Artigas.

IMPERILS RELATIONS

Five Red Chinese Ousted By Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has expelled five Chinese Communists, including three diplomats, it was disclosed Saturday. The unprecedented action brought Sino-Soviet relations to the gloves-off stage.

Peking, which disclosed the Soviet action, said the Kremlin acted because three members of its Moscow Embassy staff distributed copies of a June 14 attack on Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's coexistence policies—a n attack not printed in the Soviet press.

The Chinese said the Soviet action in declaring the five Chinese persona non grata was "unreasonable" and that the excuse was "untenable." Observers said such an expulsion would imperil the Sino-Soviet peace talks scheduled for July 5 to heal the breach between the two Communist giants.

Peking identified the five Chinese as embassy staff members Mei Wei-kang, Lu Pei-Hsin and Wang Yao-tung. It said Moscow also asked the recall of Liu Tao-yu, a Chinese post graduate student, and Yao Yi, an "institute functionary."

The attack on Khrushchev's policies was contained in a 67-page letter from the Chinese Central Commmittee to the Russians. It warned that capitalism would "bury" communism if Khrushchev's policies were followed.

The reported expulsion of the Chinese from Moscow has not been confirmed officially here but it became a foregone conclusion after the Soviets had branded the abusive Chinese letter as containing "unjustified slanderous a t-tacks" against the Soviet Communist party.

A special resolution of the Soviet Central Committee which concluded its plenary session last week, after hearing Khrushchev's accusation that the Chinese has "aggravated the Sino-Soviet dispute to the limit," rejected the letter and refused to accept Peking's challenge that it be published.

"Enough is enough," the Soviets said in effect, and further accused the Chinese of violation of an agreement not to jeopardize the July Sino-Soviet meeting by continuing public polemics.

Two Solvents Officers Get Posts On Board

W. Ward Jackson and J. E. Wheeler, Vice Presidents of Commerical Solvents Corporation, have been elected to the Company's Board of Directors, it was announced today (FRIDAY, June 28, 1963) by Maynard C. Wheeler, President.

Jackson, Sales Vice President, heads CSC's selling, advertising, and traffic activities. A chemical engineer, he joined Commercial Solvents in 1951 as General Manager of Industrial Chemicals Sales, was given additional sales responsibilities the following year, and was elected a Vice President in 1954.

Wheeler, Vice President for Production at CSC, who is at the Sterlington plant, joined CSC in 1934 as a chemical engineer in the Research Department. In 1961 he was named a Vice President to head Commercial Solvents' manufacturing, purchasing and quality control functions, as well as the industrial relations and safety programs. Prior to that time he was the Company's Production Manager.

Jackson is a Director of Northwest Nitro-Chemicals, Ltd., Canadian fertilizer subsidiary of Commercial Solvents. He is National Vice President and a Director of the Armed Forces Chemical Association; Treasurer and a Director of the Drug, Chemical and Allied Trades Association, and a Fellow of the American Institute of Chemists. His other memberships include the Sales Executives Club, American Chemical Society, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Society of the Chemical Industry, Newcomen Society, Salesmen's American Chemical Industry, Chemists Club and Union League Club of New York.

Wheeler is a graduate of Pardue University, Lafayette, Indiana, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering. His memberships and affiliations include the Armed Forces Association, the Louisiana Industry - Engineering College Council and the Louisiana Workshop on Economic Education.

Civil Defense Office Opens Here Monday

The civil defense office will reopen Moday in Monroe to service area four which comprises a 12 - parish area according to James B. Scruggs Jr. of Monroe, agency representative.

The Louisiana Civil Defense Agencies Representatives Office at 400 Stone Ave. will be under direction of A. B. Clarkson of Monroe, area four civilian head of civil defense. It will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Function of the office will be to aid and assist cities, towns and communities and dispense pertinent civil defense information to the public.

Parishes in area four include Ouachita, Lincoln, Union, Morehouse, West and East Carroll, Madison, Tensas, Franklin, Caldwell, Jackson and Richland.

The office had been closed for a year, but after the Cuban crisis last October numerous requests throughout the area came in for civil defense information along revealing a clear-cut need for civil defense services, Scruggs said.

Mrs. Young Dies At 25; Services Are Set Monday

Mrs. Naneppe Young, 25, of 212 Curve Drive in Monroe, died in a local hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Hampton Presbyterian Church in Hampton, Ark. at 2 p.m. Monday. Officiating will be the Rev. Vester Headrick, assisted by the Rev. Horace Snipes.

Burial will follow in the Means Cemetery at Hampton under the direction of Benton Funeral Home.

The body will remain at Kilpatrick Funeral Home in West Monroe until 7 a.m. Sunday at which time it will be taken to Hampton, Ark., to lie in state at Mrs. Clarence Duncan's residence.

Survivors include her husband, Kenneth M. Young, Monroe; one son, Kenneth M. Young II, Monroe; parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Duncan of Hampton, Ark.; one sister, Miss Elizabeth Ann Duncan of Hampton; and grandfather, C. W. Simpson of Hampton.

Demonstrators Swarm British Germs Center

LONDON (AP)—Demonstrators swarmd into the British government's closely guarded germ warfare center on Salisbury Plain Saturday despite stern warnings to keep out.

About 20 of the several hundred demonstrators actually penetrated the Porton center's outer perimeter by climbing wire fences. Army officers said they risked contamination.

Troops in field cars were rushed to the fences to head them off. About 17 were arrested.

"They have chosen a dangerous spot to try to get in,' 'an officer said. "This is one of the places where testing of gases has been carried out and it is an extremely risky thing to do."

The demonstrators turned up in buses after the Committee of 100 against Tyranny had announced its decision to invade the area.

About 1,200 troops, without arms, were on hand to receive them. They stood guard in pouring rain round the 22-mile circumference of the restricted area, which is headquarters of British microbiological research and chemical defense.

Army helicopters droned overhead.

A leader addressed the demonstrators with the words: "Hello, potential victims," before they went into action. He said many were increasingly aware of what was going on at Porton and the government had a great deal to be ashamed of.

Nuclear Power Plant Contract Agreement Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and India have reached virtual agreement on building a large nuclear power plant near Bombay with American aid, the State Department announced Saturday.

Signing of the agreement for the 380 million watt power station at Tarapur, India, is expected in Washington next week.

Following that, an agreement on U.S. financial aid is planned. U.S. officials have in mind an $80 million loan to help finance the $115 million project. India would supply the other funds.

The atomic plant, to be one of the world's largest, will take an estimated 5 years to construct and put into operation. The Indians want a U.S. firm, the International General Electric Co., to do the job.

NEVADA CITIES GROW

DR. JOLLY B. Harper will be the main speaker at the organizational meeting of the Twin City Council on Alcoholism. Dr. Harper, who has been very active in the field of alcoholism, is on the Board of Directors of the Caddo - Bossier Council of Alcoholism. His subject will be "Help and Hope for the Alcoholic.'

Alcoholism Meeting Set Here Tuesday

An organizational meeting of the proposed Twin City Council on Alchololism will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday, in the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel.

The meeting is for the purpose of forming a local chapter of the National Council on Alcoholism. NCA is a voluntary, non-profit organization of professional and lay people whose purpose is to combat alcoholism through education, research and community services.

Several officials of the Caddo-Bossier Council on Alcoholism will be present to help establish the local chapter.

Principal speaker for the meeting will be Dr. Jolly B. Harper, superintendent of the Shreveport District Methodist Church. His subject is "Help and Hope for the Alcoholic."

Dr. Harper, who has been active in helping fight alcoholism for many years, organized a chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous in Ruston when he was pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church there. He was president of the Caddo-Bossier Council for three years, and is presently on the board of directors of that group.

Others from the Shreveport group to attend are Mrs. W. C. Gilmer, president of the Episcopal Church Women; Miss Ines Scivally, executive secretary of NCA, and John Fleming, executive director.

NCA is neigher "wet" nor "dry", but is concerned with the disease of alcoholism rather than social drinking. The group cooperates with all public and private organizations and serves as a clearing house for both general and specific information including the latest developments in the field of alcoholism.

"1. Alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic is a sick person.

"2. Alcoholics can be helped and are worth helping.

"3. Alcoholism is a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility."

The Council operates through local affiliates, such as the proposed Twin City Council on Alcoholism. Four main objectives on the local level are:

1. An intensive campaign of education on alcoholism through all known media.
2. Acceptance for alcoholics in the acute phase in all general hospitals.
3. Establishment of an Alcoholism Information Center.
4. Stimulation of out-patient clinics for the treatment of alcoholism.

PARSONS PRESIDENT

Local Optimists Install Officers

His wife, Mrs. Juanita Parsons, was installed as president of the Opti-Mrs. Club, auxiliary of the Optimist Club.

Highlight of the banquet was the presentation of the Optimist of the Year Award to Sam Hanna, outgoing president, and the Opti-Mrs. of the Year Award to Mrs. Shirley Cagle.

Board members installed included Ira Cagle, Bob Anderson, Stanley Passman, John Lacy, Jack Phillips, Sheldon Ray and Earl Lingle.

Other new officers of the Opti-Mrs. installed were Mrs. Betty Spillers, vice president, Mrs. Pat Ray, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Blakemore, historian, Mrs. Jo Ann Marrs.

Other Optimist awards were as follows: Parsons and Anderson, co-recipients of outstanding service awards; Fontenot, outgoing secretary's award; Surguine, club achievement award; certificates of appreciation went to Cagle, Lingle, Ray, Passman, Lacy, Cooper, Jim Files, Bob Bruce and Bob Carter.

In his report, Hanna noted that the Optimist Club had doubled its membership during the year 1962-63 while sponsoring projects at the city zoo, a boys baseball clinic plus Little League Team and north Louisiana's first gun safety clinic, plus other civic contributions amounting to about $4,000.

The Optimist Club, selected as an Honor Club, was the Outstanding Club of the Year in Louisiana and Arkansas.

Ex-Soviet Naval Attache Under House Arrest

LONDON (UPI) — Former Soviet assistant naval attache Capt. Eugene Ivanov has been under house arrest in Moscow since June 21 while Soviet authorities investigate his role in the Profumo - Keeler affair, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

Ivanov, described by call girl Christine Keeler as a "great huggy bear of a man" who liked to romp all over the room, denied having an affair with Christine and the Soviet Tass news agency carried the official government denial.

Diplomatic reports from Moscow said Ivanov was suspended from Communist party membership a week before his house arrest and given leave from the intelligence department of the navy ministry where he had been working since his return from London last December.

Ivanov's questioning is reported to center on whether he made a complete report on all his contacts, whether he lied about having an affair with Christine and whether he really posed as an intermediary during the Cuban crisis as claimed by Dr. Stephen Ward.

The Soviet press has carried a statement that had Moscow wished to contact the British government during the Cuba crisis it would have done it through official channels and not through an obscure osteopath and a model.

'Children Under Six Meeting' Is Held Here

About 75 teachers and parents of pre-school children of north Louisiana attended a Workshop for members of the North Louisiana Assn. for Children Under Six held recently in the Baptist Student Center here.

Featured speaker Dr. Josephine Hoffer, professor of Child Development at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater discussed adventuring with children.

Following the speech, members gathered in discussion groups led by Mrs. J. S. Bonnet of Lafayette, Mrs. Grunnell of Hammond and Mrs. Wanda Flora of Stillwater, Okla.

Dr. Cherie Long of West Monroe spoke on mental health at a luncheon in student union on Louisiana Tech campus.

Afternoon speaker was Dr. Otto Wasmer of the bacteriology department at Louisiana Tech. He spoke about creativity through science.

During the business meeting Mrs. Harry La Foe of Monroe was re-elected president of the group. Other officers for the coming year are Mrs. E. M. Wilder, 1st vice president; Mrs. S. C. Strausser, 2nd vice president; Mrs. B. F. Cummings, secretary-treasurer; Miss Willie Fletcher, consultant; Mrs. W. M. Griffith, Rayville, Mrs. William Teague, Shreveport, Mrs. Leroy Martin, Bastrop and Mrs. Virgil Orr, Ruston, area representatives.

State Hospital Guard Charged

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (AP) —Dist. Judge John Rarick signed a warrant charging a guard at East Louisiana State Hospital, Jackson, with disturbing the peace by beating a patient awaiting admission to the mental institution.

The judge acted Friday on the warrant sought by Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourne on affidavits made by the victim, W. M. McKenzie of New Orleans, his wife, and sister-in-law.

The warrant, Kilbourne said, accused Purvis Schilling, the mental hospital guard, of pulling McKenzie from his auto at the hospital June 18 and striking him twice on the neck.

Hospital authorities had no comment.

Kilbourne said he probably would arraign Schilling July 10. The charge is a misdemeanor.

The difference isn't peanuts

(It's extra money in your pocket!)

8% interest per annum computed

12 times a year

Look at it this way: 8% is nearly 78% greater than 4½%. Or, figured in dollars. If your funds now earn $100 in annual interest, they could be earning $177.77 in interest at Affiliated Investment Corporation. Big difference, isn't it?

And, Affiliated's big 8% annual interest rate works just as well, percentagewise, for small investors as it does for larger accounts. Interest is computed and paid 12 times a year—on the first of each month.

Earnings aren't everything, of course. You must consider the Company you're doing business with. Affiliated, since its inception, has had a perfect record of interest payments to its investors and requests for funds have always been met immediately.

Why not open (or add to) your Affiliated Investment Corporation Investment account now? If you prefer, invest by mail; we pay postage both ways. Funds placed by the 15th of any month earn from the 1st. If you want to increase your Investment income, bag that big 8% at Affiliated. It's not peanuts.

requirement would cut off any chance the Louisiana congressman would have to bargain for whatever they wanted for the state.

More than $550 million is held in escrow by the federal government derived from offshore oil production in the Gulf of Mexico reaching approximately beyond Louisiana's three-mile boundary to some 7½ miles from the coast.

Louisiana's congressmen have sponsored a bill to give Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama similar offshore boundaries to the 10½-mile limits recognized by the U.S. Supreme Court for Texas and Florida.

In Louisiana's case, the big question is where to mark a base line along the state's irregular coastline to start the three-mile limit.

When Gov. Davis addressed the 30-day fiscal legislature early in May, which appropriated state operating funds for the new fiscal year, this is how he spelled out the tidelands problem then:

"A settlement is an involved and difficult task. There seems to be general agreement that our best hope for the establishment of an acceptable base line lies in reasonable negotiations or legislation, rather than through court litigation. Serious and encouraging discussions along that line are continuing . . . .

"As a result of these negotiations, the most controversial areas have been identified. Present talks are centering around an effort to eliminate or reduce the area of controversy as much as possible.

"I am satisfied," the governor told the fiscal legislature, "that there is a real possibility of a fair and equitable agreement on the baseline issue. Until such a base line is established, it is impossible to estimate the dollar benefits that will accrue to our state. But I am sure it will involve millions of dollars."

Louisiana congressmen may have other worries. During a Baton Rouge visit not long ago, U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., vowed he would lead a fight to prevent Louisiana from gaining in the tidelands now under federal control.

No Ill-Effects Suffered From Nail In Brain

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 1½-inch long nail is lodged in the back of Tommy Hendley's brain, but doctors said Saturday the 14-year-old boy is feeling no ill-effects and should leave Children's Hospital soon.

Tommy didn't know the small laceration on his lower right eye lid and the swelling that followed a power mower accident June 10 was caused by anything but a pebble. The nail was flicked into the boy's brain while he mowed the lawn at the home of his foster mother, Bessie Lucas.

"I thought a stone flew up and hit me," Tommy recalled as he felt the patch taped over his eye. "My eye bled and I felt sick for a few days. Now that the swelling is down, I feel good."

"It's just one of those rare cases," said Tommy's surgeon, who was called in to determine whether an operation was necessary. "Since no abcess or brain infection has developed, we are not going to disturb the nail. It won't do any damage where it is. After all, a lot of men came home from the wars with shrapnel in their brains that never caused any damage."

The surgeon, who asked not to be identified, said the nail was discovered while taking routine X-rays of Tommy's head.

"The nail passed beneath the eye and slipped through the openings in the skull in which the eye and its appendages are located," the surgeon explained. "It went clear through to the back of the head, where it is now lodged."

Chinese students at Moscow University passed it around to fellow students.

The Chinese apparently have been distributing the letter in the Communist countries of Eastern Europe. In East Germany, now host to Khrushchev, their actions brought an angry protest from the East German government. Portions of the letter were published in Romania, which has shown signs of restiveness.

One of the strongest points in the Chinese letter is the statement that it is "sheer illusion" to believe that general disarmament is possible so long as Western "imperialists" are allowed to function.

This is a direct attack on one of Khrushchev's pet propaganda themes. He claims that eventually communism will triumph, even though there is peaceful coexistence with the West.

The Chinese news agency quoted a Peking foreign ministry spokesman as saying the Soviet action was "unreasonable and its excuse untenable."

"It is normal and unimpeachable for the Chinese embassy and Chinese personnel in the Soviet Union to distribute official documents of the Central Committee of the Communist party of China," the statement said.

"The Soviet establishments and personnel in China have always been doing the same and no objection has ever been raised by the Chinese government.

"What justification has the Soviet government to lodge a protest with the Chinese embassy in Moscow in this connection?

"What justification has it to demand that the Chinese government recall the five Chinese?

"One is fully justified to ask this: In taking this step, which is unprecedented in the history of the relations between the two socialist countries of China and the Soviet Union, on the eve of the talks between the Chinese and Soviet parties, whether or not the Soviet government is deliberately trying to undermine Chinese-Soviet unit, vitiate the relations between the two states and create obstacles to the talks between the Chinese and Soviet parties?"

The Chinese letter was published in Peking on June 14. While denouncing Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, it said the Red Chinese leaders would insist in the Moscow talks that the Kremlin accept the principle of violent Communist revolution to overthrow capitalism.

Cub Scout Splash Day will be held Saturday, July 13 at Camp Kiroli in West Monroe, Scout Executive Jack Pankey announced.

All cubmasters, den mothers, cubs and parents are invited to meet at the camp at 2 p.m.

Swimming will last from 3:30 to 5 p.m., with games until 6 p.m. Supper will be at 6, and the final event of the day will be the campfire at 7 p.m.

Officer Training

Jes 'Ramblin' has learned four Northeast Louisiana State College students of Monroe are at Fort Sill, Okla., attending the General Military Science ROTC Camp learning to become future army officers.

Undergoing the training are Cadets Julian Mehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nate Mehl, 22 Lakeside Dr.; Stanley E. Dupree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valvis Dupree, of route two, Monroe; Thomas W. Jefferson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jefferson, 814 K St.; and William A. Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Haley, 1502 S. Eighth St.

The cadets to train for six weeks arrived at Fort Sill June 14 and 15. They are to learn manipulation of weapons, radios, and to become efficient in techniques of mine warfare. Cadets utilize the actual equipment under combat conditions.

Police Activity Quiet Saturday In Twin Cities

Activities in the Twin Cities remained on the quiet side for law enforcement agencies Saturday.

Monroe police booked a 19-year-old Negro, Lucille Carton, of 106 Green's Alley, for theft after a warrant had been obtained for him. She allegedly took $35 belonging to Joe Rogers Jr., Negro 717 Adams St.

The Monroe department also were probing the theft of a lawnmower and gardening tools which was reported by Negro Bernice Ethridge, 1711 DeSiard St. He told police he put the tools beside a grocery store at 11th and Adams street for a short time, and when he returned they were gone.

West Monroe police cleared a Friday night case of hit-and-run driving with the arrest of a 35-year-old man for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, reckless driving and hit-and-run driving. Victor Adams, of 155 Blanks St., West Monroe, was booked on the charges at 11:15 p.m. Friday after being taken into custody in the 300 block of Pine Street.

Bank Suspect Found Insane

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) —Arlen Whisenant, 41, charged with bank robbery May 9 has been found insane and committed to East Louisiana Hospital at Jackson, court record revealed Saturday.

Dist. Judge Walter Hunter committed Whisenant after receiving the report of a three-man sanity commission Friday.

Charges of bank robbery and aggravated kidnaping were brought against him after a bank was robbed of $11,750 and bank messenger Jack Wilder was forced to accompany the robber at gunpoint.

Whisenant was arrested and the money recovered within an hour.

Railroad Rules Dispute Studied By Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government officials studied drafts of legislation Saturday to end the 3½ year-old railroad rules dispute after two weeks of intensive mediation failed to produce major progress toward an agreement.

Working against a July 10 deadline set by President Kennedy, Labor Department officials this week tried a new approach on the critical diesel firemen issue.

Assistant Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds, who heads the government's team of mediators, reported there was "genuine effort" shown by both sides but no progress.

The President warned rail union and management officials before leaving on his European trip that he would ask Congress to resolve the dispute if they could not reach a settlement by July 10.

Drafts of legislation to provide for compulsory arbitration of the seven main unresolved issues or seizure of the railroads to block a tie up or pave the way for a government-imposed settlement were being considered by the Labor Department.

A bill drawn up by the railroads was reported to be under study by commerce department experts on transportation.

The government's aim is to prevent a nationwide shutdown if the carriers place into effect sweeping new work rules that would cut rail jobs. The Supreme Court gave management the right to impose the rules but also gave the unions the right to strike in protest. The unions have said they would call a strike.

Kennedy won agreement from both sides to refrain from any action that would trigger a tieup before July 10, at least. But his statement also indicated he would expect the status quo to be preserved until his legislation is presented to Congress in the event no agreement is reached by the deadline.

It is understood the government will defer a decision on whether to seek arbitration or seizure legislation until the 11th hour in any crisis.

Since seizure would be distasteful to the railroads and arbitration repugnant to the unions, Kennedy could throw his weight against the side he felt was most to blame for the impasse.

Man Kills Wife, Three Children

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A distraught father killed his pregnant wife and the three youngest of his ten children early Saturday, police said.

The victims were Leonarda Monge, 43; Teresa, 11 months; Vincent, 4, and Alan, 6.

Detective Byron Haze said the father, Luis J. Monge, 45, driver for a household goods firm, told him he had set out to slay his whole family and himself but he quit in revulsion at the bloody spectacle after four dead.

As for the move, Haze would only say that Monge was upset over personal problems.

Meredith's Talks To Be Investigated

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) —State officials said Saturday a committee has been set up to investigate recent public statements by James H. Meredith, the Negro student whose admission to the University of Mississippi touched off bloody rioting.

The committee was appointed by the board of trustees of institutions of higher learning and was established at the request of the state Sovereignty Commission. The commission is headed by Gov. Ross Barnett, who physically barred Meredith from the school on several occasions.

The sovereignty group adopted a resolution recommending punitive action "be taken immediately against James Meredith" if it was found his recent statements concerning segregation violated a directive by the chancellor of the university forbidding students to say or do anything that would add to racial tensions.

Meredith is due to speak at the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) convention, opening in Chicago Monday.

The South's racial fronts were quiet in advance of the meeting and at least one leader — Charles Evers, brother of slain integrationist Medgar Evers — indicated the NAACP would hold off further demonstrations in Jackson until after the convention.

However, the Negro leadership in Jackson has been disorganized since the death of Medgar Evers and there was the possibility that leaders from other integrationist groups might jump the gun on the NAACP in organizing new demonstrations.

A hint of this came Friday when a Negro delegation met with Jackson Mayor Allen Thompson and was told that the city had no intention of desegregating its parks and other recreational facilities unless ordered to do so by a federal court.

The delegation asked the mayor whether Negro children "planning to go to the parks on the Fourth of July" would be arrested.

Kingmanship Lingers On In Europe

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The last four decades have seen many thrones toppled in Europe and Kings sent into exile. A survey reveals that the profession of Kingmanship, despite many setbacks, still is not dead. Here is a report on royal rulers, deposed kings and princes and those aspiring for a return to power.

The ancient profession of kingmanship is still far from dead.

Throughout history wars have toppled thrones and caused royal heads to roll. But today, after not one but two terrible wars in this century, Europe still has five reigning kings, two queens, a pair of princes and a grand duchess. They are:

Kings:
Baudouin of the Belgians.
Frederik IX of Denmark.
Paul of Greece.
Olav of Norway.
Gustav VI Adolf of Sweden.

Queens:
Elizabeth II of Britain.
Juliana of the Netherlands.

Princes:
Rainier of Monaco.
Franz Joseph II of Liechtenstein.

Duchesses:
Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg.

EX-KINGS

Among the ex-European kings still alive are:
Peter of Yugoslavia.
Michael of Romania.
Umberto II of Italy.

Umberto's is a tricky case because he is one of the few kings who ran for office—and lost.

Victor Emmanuel III, of the house of Savoy, was king of Italy in 1914. He reigned through the Mussolini era and World War II. Emmanuel abdicated on May 9, 1946, and his son Umberto became king.

The abdication cleared the way for a referendum on the monarchy. Held on June 2, 1946, less than a month after Umberto became king, it resulted in a vote of 12,700,000 to 10,700,000 for a republic.

That ruined all hopes of Umberto's for reigning.

King Leopold of Belgium is another special case. He abdicated in favor of his son Baudouin in 1950, but he is still legally styled King Leopold and continues to live in Belgium.

Though hardly European, ex-King Farouk of Egypt spent enough of his time in Europe, perhaps, to be included.

Swept away in the wake of war have been the thrones of the Russian and Bulgarian tsars, the Austrian and German emperors and the kings of Romania, Spain and Albania.

OVERTHROWN

The Portuguese monarchy was overthrown in 1910.

Should the monarchy ever be restored in their various nations, the following would have sound claims to mount the thrones:

Don Juan de Bourbon of Spain.
Umberto.
Prince Dom Duarte of Portugal.
Simeon of Bulgaria.

Only in June of this year did Austria make it possible for Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, eldest son of Austria's last Emperor Charles, to return to his native land.

But, he had to renounce his rights as head of the ruling house of Austria and swear to be a loyal member of the Austrian republic.

Where are the ex-kings, and the descendants of the European monarchies that were in business at the beginning of World War I?

After divorcing former Queen Narriman, the ex-King Farouk was for a time a constant customer at the green baize tables of the Italian Riviera gambling resorts.

He lived during the summer on fashionable Capri and in the winter was often seen nightclubbing around Rome's Via Veneto.

Although Farouk still lives in Italy, he has dropped out of the limelight, but maintains a lavish apartment in Rome.

His constant companion is Irma Capece Minutolo, a Neaopolitan who recently made her debut as an opera singer in a private concert in Naples.

He has very little money but many friends. He is charming, and intelligent and, when you get him talking, still longs to go back to his native land. As king, of course.

PLANS

Asked what he would do with President Tito, he once replied—with a smile: "Under certain conditions he could remain as prime minister."

King Michael of Romania lives in Switzerland near Lausanne, married to Anne of Bourbon Parma and they have three daughters.

He has a special interest in cars and planes.

Michael's mother, ex-Queen Helen of Romania, lives at the Villa Sparta, a Renaissance building at San Domenico near Florence. She was married to Carol II who dropped her for Magda Lupescu, now Princess Magda, living at Estoril in Portugal.

Simeon of Bulgaria is living in Spain, married to a Spanish socialite. He is the son of Tsar Boris, a flamboyant character who liked to drive railway locomotives as a hobby.

The Spanish pretender, Don juan, lives with his family in Estoril. His son, Prince Juan Carlos, a very handsome young man, is married to Princess Sophia of Greece and is said to be Gen. Franco's choice to head a restored monarchy.

Austria's Archduke Otto has been living in a relatively modest villa at Poecking on Lake Starnberg in West Germany.

SIX CHILDREN

He is married to German Princess Regina and they have six children, five girls and a boy.

Germany has, perhaps, a greater abundance of royalty than any country in Europe.

The reason for this is that the country for hundreds of years was a loose conglomeration of large and small kingdoms, grand duchies and principalities.

When the king of Prussia became emperor of the Second Reich, proclaimed in 1871, these kingdoms and principalities retained their thrones.

At the end of the first world war, the German revolution ended all this. Within a week or 10 days in November 1918, Kaiser Wilhelm II, the kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Wuerttemberg and the little princes lost their thrones by renunciation or because their kingdoms were proclaimed free states within the Weimar Republic.

DIED IN EXILE

Crown Prince Wilhelm died in 1951. His first son, Wilhelm, who had renounced his right to succession in 1933, was killed in action in France in 1940.

The new head of the house of Hohenzollern then became Prince Louis Ferdinand, who in the 1920s had worked as an automobile mechanic in the United States.

Refugee Flood Dwindles

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—At the height of the refugee flood from East Germany two years ago the refugee camp in the West Berlin suburb of Marienfelde used to be packed with 3,000 people.

Now it's an exceptional day if 30 persons are being processed for their new life in the West.

In the last weeks before the Communists put up the wall and ringed Berlin with armed men to stop the exodus, as many as 2,000 would report to the camp in a day.

But the tide of humanity has dwindled to a trickle.

For the first time since 1950 East Germany last year recorded an increase — instead of a decrease—in population. East Berlin had a slight increase of 6,000 inhabitants and 11 provincial towns added a total of 26,300 to their populations.

ECHOING CORRIDORS

Echoing corridors and lines of empty beds in Marienfelde testify to the effectiveness of the wall. Before the wall, refugees simply took the subway or elevated from East Berlin into West Berlin.

Now those who want to turn their backs on communism have to face formidable barriers. They risk being shot by border guards. At least 30 refugees are known to have been shot trying to escape since August, 1961.

But some get through and the Marienfelde camp is still in business. There is no question of closing it down. West Berlin authorities think such a move would be an admission of defeat.

But its capacity has been reduced to 400.

It was opened in August 1953 to replace improvised quarters being used to house refugees. Since then 1,800,000 refugees have passed through its doors.

From the outside the camp looks like a normal group of 30 apartment blocks. The plain, practical buildings were made so they could be converted into apartments for rent. This has been done with the 20 biggest blocks.

The remaining 10 blocks are administration buildings, separate dormitories for men and women, and apartments where families can be housed together.

STAFF REDUCED

The administrative staff of 461 has been reduced to 80. There used to be six doctors on duty, now there is one.

Once there were long lines of people waiting to go through the business of collecting the papers and rubber stamps needed to settle in West Germany. The process normally took 10 to 14 days before the refugee was flown to the West.

It still takes about a week to clear a refugee because of the time-consuming interrogations by German and Western allied officials.

The United States, Britain and France maintain interrogation teams at the camp to question refugees about conditions and trends in East Germany. Much valuable information has reached the West this way.

Refugees are not obliged to give more than their names and reasons for fleeing. But most are glad to cooperate with the Western interrogators.

ON AUG. 14, 1961, a long line of refugees fleeing from East Germany waited to be processed at the Marienfelde reception center camp in West Berlin. During that time the camp would process as many as 2,000 escapees a day. When the Reds built their wall through Berlin and began shooting escapees, the flow slackened. Camp officials today consider it exceptional if as many as 30 people are being processed at one time. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Those Old Justices

Supreme court justices, like the more venerable popes, highest dignitaries of the Catholic church, are forever growing old, if they aren't already old when they assume their positions. As far as the justices are concerned, especially those now occupying the highest bench in the United States, there are a good many who think this characteristic is a good thing.

Right now, theer is a vast number of people who think Chief Justice Earl Warren is a lot more ambitious than he should be. He is primarily responsible for the imfamous "black Monday" school integration decision which upset prior rulings of many years' standing that equal rights could be given without integration. It was merely a question of giving Negroes equal facilities. Few thought then that the Negroes considered themselves so inferior that they would think they were being deprived of equality merely by not mixing socially with white people.

Warren is 72 years old and the government provides that everyone eligible for social security or other retirement pay, "can retire when he is 65. That means Warren is already seven years past due on the basis of the ordinary retirement plan. We can only imagine how much better off this country would be in the matter of freedom of the people and the right to choose one's associates if Warren had retired seven years ago or if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had not made the mistake of paying off a political debt by appointing him. Warren wants to remain on the court at least until he is 75.

Associate Justice William O. Douglas, one of the earlier liberals on the supreme court, will be 65 just after the court convenes in October. He seems to be about as difficult to please matrimonially as he is legally. A Washington news correspondent says Douglas may be divorced for the second time and married for the third time before October and that he is likely to go through the next court session, then retire on his full pension and devote his time to writing and travel.

Associate Justice Hugo L. Black, at 77, is the oldest man on the supreme bench and senior in service. Reportedly, he has no plans to quit.

Black and Douglas, once close friends, have been feuding recently. Both were products of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration at a time when the late president was trying to pack the court by increasing the membership to 14. Congress would not let him do that but fate intervened and enough members of the court left it to enable Roosevelt to give it a leftist flavor, which has been accentuated by later appointments.

About the best thing that could happen to the country would be the defeat of President Kennedy in the 1964 election and the subsequent retirement of the oldsters mentioned above, along with one or two others. It is known that President Kennedy would like for some of these men to step aside now so he could put in men who would carry on his socialist ideology for a long time, but the justices have strong opinions of their own and are not ready to relinquish their duties of enunciating what President Kennedy has described as "the laws of the land."

If the present justices will stay in until after the 1964 election, if President Kennedy is defeated and a man who believes in the principles of democracy is elected and if the older justices will then relinquish their "law-making" duties the people in this country who believe in constitutional government and freedom of the people will have a more hopeful outlook.

Integration Wilting

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, President Kennedy's "bossman" in integration matters, is falling down on the job in one respect at least, and where it hurts worst. It is happening in his own bailiwick — Washington.

The state department admits its machinery for finding homes for African diplomats in Washington has collapsed and says some of these representatives of new Negro countries have been forced to live in slums. This, of course, probably means where the other Negroes live. African diplomats are strongly opposed to integrating with American Negroes.

A Washington real estate board formed to help obtain the housing said one reason for the breakdown was that the state department placed "ringers" on the list of those needing housing. Not content to try to find housing for the diplomats, the state department, which is answerable to Robert Kennedy, along with other departments, under an edict presumably issued by President Kennedy, sought to run in large numbers of American Negroes as "diplomats," the realty board contended.

This is really a situation to talk about. In a country in which the Negro population is less than 10 per cent, the city of Washington, D.C., capital of the United States has been overrun with Negroes, with government encouragement, to such an extent that the entire population there is now more than 50 per cent Negro. There should be plenty of room for the representatives of the newborn African countries in the Negro and integrated portion of town.

The trouble with that is that any portion occupied by Negroes or mostly by Negroes in the enforced integration areas soon becomes classed as "slum" districts. There should be a moral in that that is not hard to see.

Strangely, the African Negroes don't want to live in the areas transformed into slums by the American Negroes. There used to be plenty of good housing for all diplomats. Now Washington simply does not have it, because it is mostly slum or Negro districts.

As Others See It

Grass Alchemist

(From The Raleigh News & Observer)

For many men mowing grass is done in the same spirit that an imperative dental appointment is kept. With others it is the same challenge as fixing a flat tire on a dusty road. Still others fancy themsleves master mechanics. They spend so much time assembling and fixing their equipment the laws grows wildly as an old man's beard.

But there is one on every block who acts as if he has a rhapsodic tryst to give his grass a delicate manicure, a gentle shampoo and a tender shave with a loving razor. He mows, cuts, waters and trims the way a surgeon might work, and he puts on all the finishing touches a dedicated barber gives to a special customer.

After the expenditure of infinite pains and labor, he stands at a slight distance and surveys his lawn the way Balboa first saw the Pacific. If one blade of grass is out of place, he runs to it as a mother would run to fix a capricious curl on the head of her darling daughter who is all gussied up in her first green party drss.

When the sun goes down and evening comes with a shimmering rustle, he turns on the water and joggles the nozzle the way the high priest of growing things might offer a benediction.

The Pentagon, the world's largest office building, covers 34 acres of land in Virginia. It was completed in 1934 at a cost of about $83 million.

The Hawaiian goose, the state bird of Hawaii, is a rare bird, indeed. Only about 60 are known to live in the Hawaiian Islands.

Commends Letter

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I want to commend you on printing the letter in last Sunday's paper from the nurse in Beckley, W. Va., who informed the people of this area about the "Citizens for Goldwater" movement in Valley Forge, Pa.

The vicious, turblent waters of Federal dictatorship and Kennedy socialism are swirling in an ever increasing flood all around us. Large banks of freedom are constantly being washed away and being swept down stream to the rivers end, where your land and my land is to be merged comfortably with the Soviet Union.

There is, however, a straw bobbing in this holocaust which freedom loving Americans can, and should reach for. This straw can be surrounded first by bits of grass, then by twigs. As this nucleus gathers other support in the form of timbers and logs, it will not be bobbing alone. Before long all the supporting elements will enable it to anchor on the bank and begin to dam this treacherous river.

In my opinion, Senator Goldwater who is an avowed conservative and constitutionalist, is the only person on the politicai scene today who can help direct our great country back to the fundamentals on which it was founded. He is the straw we need to reach for and he needs all the help we can muster. Now, this man believes in integration. This, I personally will never agree to. But, this man also believes that the 14th amendment has been violated and integration is a matter for each State to handle. I will agree to this and will support him on this stand. The shameful stench in Washington caused by years of Liberal hanky-panky and Kennedy and the New Frontier, must be fumigated. When Mr. Goldwater reaches Washington as the next president, he will indeed be a Gardenia in a garbage can. I feel confident, however, that he will pick up the tattered remnants of our Constitution, which has been trampled on by the Supreme Court, and begin to restore it to the glorious prestige it deserves.

The primary purpose of this letter, Mr. Editor, is to inform the people of this area that a most important movement has just begun in the Twin Cities. The 5TH DISTRICT CITIZENS FOR GOLDWATER was formed just a week ago. Already hundreds of people throughout the district, who share in this feeling, are offering their support. The purpose of this organization is to promote the nomination, then the election of Goldwater by making the public conscious of this great need. An intensive campaign of bumper stickers, billboards, telephone calls, house to house surveys, conservative speakers at the meetings will be underway. A concentrated effort is being made to have Senator Goldwater speak in this district after he is nominated and starts his campaign. This is not a party movement. It is open to all registered and unregistered (those too young to register) Democrats, Republicans, States Rights and Independent citizens.

I am sure that many people, who share like views, do not know of this movement yet. If you are learning of it for the first time now, for America's sake and for your own sake and personal satisfaction — DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT! Write the "5th District Citizens for Goldwater", Box 703, West Monroe, Louisiana. You will be contacted.

Upholds Rebel Flag

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Mr. Lea, how DO you stand, Sir?

Your "Flag Waving" letter to the Editor intrigued me and I wondered if you have given thought as to WHY the Stars and Bars of the old Confederacy was prominently displayed in Franklin Parish.

It's common knowledge that the "Ghost Flag" is accepted as the National symbol of the fight for the restoration of States Rights. Surely you know that the display of the Confederate flag was their way of letting it be known that they're opposed to the Federals encroachment upon States Rights, and that knowing this, you took your stand in sympathy for this encroachment.

Are you aware that the so called "Ghost Flag" is the Divisional insignia of one of the finest Divisions in the National Guard — the "Dixie Division," which is composed of troops of Alabama and Mississippi? Do you know, too, that the Rebel flag has been emblazoned on many of our crack war planes and that one of our War ships proudly staffs an original Confederate battle flag?

You advise those of us who display a Rebel emblem to get out — get out, so that the integrationists can take over, lock, stock and barrel? Now, lets reverse your suggestion: those who are in favor of the total integration that is now being proposed and thrashed out in Washington should move up there — enter their children in one of their "model" integrated schools — keep their big noses out of the rights of other States — and let the chips fall wherever they may.

Festival Thanks Given

Minden, La.

To the Editor:

As Queen dixie Gem XII of 1962, I would like to express my sincere appreciation to you and your staff for the publicity given to the Peach Festival and the recognition given to me during my reign.

I would especially ask that you express my thanks to Mr. Joe Richardson who photographed the Festival last Friday in Ruston and Mr. John Fogleman who was present when we were in Monroe on our recent tour of the state.

The past year was a memorable one for me and the wonderful people like you and your staff helped to make it so.

Thank you again and God Bless you.

Becky McKenzie

Maurine Nebuberger

Alexandria, La.

To the Editor:

Speaking before the AFL-CIO's political arm, COPE, at their Northwest regional conference at Portland, Ore., on May 26, Sen. Maurine Neuberger shrilled in with other "liberal" attackers of American conservatives. She concentrated her fire on the tax-free status of certain patriotic organizations and aimed special vituperation at the patriotic DAR which she polished off with: "If I were a member of the DAR and contributed to that crusty old institution, my gift would be tax deductible." This was round two in a continuing battle to forever silence articulate anti-communists. Sen. Kuchel's recent attacks on the "Fright Peddlers", i.e. Constitutionalists, also contained many references to the tax-free status of patriotic organizations.

Such complaints by ultra-liberals bring to mind the giant tax-exempt foundations such as Ford, Carngeie, Rockefeller, etc., which disseminate progaganda designed to shape grassroots thinking to fit the line taken by those who would turn this into a commu-socialist government. You never read of attacks on those foundations by the "liberals."

A few of the tax-free, soft-on-socialism organizations which gravely influence our leaders are: The Foreign Policy Association, which has been cited by at least two Grand Juries as pro-socialist, finding that it presented subversive materials in the schools, for one charge; the American Association for the United Nations, which disseminates propaganda favorable to world government; the Council of Foreign Relations, headed by the Rockefeller-Ford-Carnegie combine, the organization termed "the invisible government of the U. S.," and whose domestic and international machinations are too vast for inclusion here; the National Education Association, exponent of federal aid to schools, which spent $10,839 lobbying before Congress in the first three months of 1962. There are many more, all with interlocking goals.

The Fund for the Republic, a tax-free propaganda arm, deserves special note. Set up with 15 million tax-exempt dollars of the Ford fortune, this organization among its other activities, engages in wholesale pamphleteering by its "Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions." The Center says, "The faculty and students of hundreds of educational institutions — ranging from large universities to high schools — are using the publications as reference material and classroom texts."

Speaking to the House on Oct. 30, 1962, the late Rep. Francis E. Walter deplored the attack on J. Edgar Hoover by the Fund's vice president, W. H. "Ping" Ferry and unfolded Ferry's long left-wing career. (Cong. Record that date, p. A7955). On Jan. 13, 1960 the Santa Barbara News-Press featured a letter written by Ferry in which he proposed as his solution to the arms race the surrender of the U. S. to the Soviet Union — not when a war might develop between the two nations — but right now. Nuclear war, he said, was unthinkable. He recommended that the U. S. junk all our weapons of whatever kind and announce to the world that it had taken this step. I wonder how much of this sort of thinking is going into those pamphlets circulated in our schools?

Another interesting sidelight is that the Rockefeller Foundation, with an estimated net worth of $535 million, has not had an IRS audit in at least 10 years, according to the House Small Business Committee. Yet there is a move by the "Liberals" to have all patriotic organizations' tax status closely scrutinized by IRS.

It's easy to see why "liberals" constantly attack what they call "Fright Peddlers." The "liberals" know that we know what the communists are after, how close they are to getting it, and exactly how they are achieving their goal. We "Fright Peddlers" know how to communicate and we have the documentation to prove what we say, most of it from the "Liberals'" own spoken or written words. No wonder they want to make it more difficult for us to spread our own pro-Constitutional information!

Two-Party System

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

The wave of pro-Goldwater feeling now sweeping the country, and particulaly the South, may be due more to anit-Kennedy sentiment than to concern over issues, though few of us would dispute that he is eminently qualified for the office of President. This is only natural, since voters are motivated more by emotions than by intellect.

There is little doubt that Mr. Goldwater would carry the Fifth District handily. Lifelong Democrats would troop to the polls and, like they have for 20 or more years, cast their ballots for Sen. Goldwater, whom many call a "Mr. Republican" cast from the same mold as the late Sen. Bob Taft. Yet most of these same Democrats would sconer give up their right to vote than become Republicans. This strange bit of political schizophrania is, up to a point, understandable. After all, Great-Granddaddy was a Democrat, so why should I change? As registered Republicans, they woold be "dis-enfranchised" from voting in Democratic primaries. And they would be forced to support men like Nelson Rockefeller, or a party which sent troops into Little Rock. In many parts of the District. "Republican" is a dirty name not to be trusted. The reaction of many disenchanted Democrats has been to register States' Rights — a party which may more closely represent Southern conservative views. It should be pointed out, however, that a vote for a States' Rights or other "splinter-party" candidate in effect is a vote for Kennedy, since it only serves to split up the popular vote.

The growing political vacuum that is being created by the dissatisfaction with the Kennedy Administration in Louisiana can most effectively be filled by a mass movement into the Republican camp. A healthy two-party system is, I submit, the only answer to the blatant usurpation of our rights that has been taking place in recent years. In this state, there is a small but growing army of political pioneers who, by switching over to the Republican side, have kicked the traces of tradition to fight for a Cause they sincerely believe in. These, for the most part, are dedicated people in this battle for a two-party Louisiana, not out of a desire for personal gain, but because they sincerely feel that (1) the people of this state can no longer remain aloof from politics, (2) that maintaining the status quo will only continue the graft and moral decay that has set into Louisiana politics, (3) that old-fashioned, grassroots Republicanism - Americanism is the only hope for checking Federal infringement on states' rights and sweeping clean Louisiana politics at all levels, and (4) that a vigorous two-party system will lead to a healthier, more prosperous Louisiana.

Now I would be the first to admit that the Republican party doesn't have all the answers, or that the national party contains certain elements that differ from the Southern viewpoint. But NO major political party in history has ever represented the beliefs of its EVERY segment. I would venture to say that, a few years hence, there may well be a Southern Wing of the Republican Party, just as we now have Southern Democrats. Honest differences are the American way. But, as a whole, Republicanism MORE NEARLY represents the Southern point of view than does the New Frontierism of the Kennedy Democrats. So why shouldn't Fifth District conservatives join the Grand Old Party which more nearly stands for what they believe in? Why should we continue to suffer this strange schizophrania that makes most of us sheep in wolves' clothing, that causes us to lie in a politically compromising bed with the Kennedies, and be part of a party in which the influence of great conservatives like Harry Byrd is fast giving way to the big-city power politics of Northern Liberal wardhealers?

Make the Democrats in Washington and Baton Rouge stop taking Louisiana voters for granted.

Promote wider interest and participation in state and local political affairs by transferring the real elections from the Democratic primaries (which really are mere internal party "popularity contests") to the general election arena, where both the personalities AND the issues can be aired and debated, in the true American tradition. It's a well established fact that the main reason for the poor participation by qualified voters in most elections is the archaic and ridiculous one-party system in the South.

Provide a check on the "professional politicians" who gleefully rifle the public tax till in the belief that the voters don't care anyway, by making it possible for the "outs" to constantly police and criticize the "ins."

Create a more competitive political atmosphere in which the most qualified candidates for public office can be sought.

Result in elections which more accurately reflect the true views of opposing sides on vital issues.

Bring Louisiana out of the "political backwoods" and make it a politically mature state that would be more attractive to new industry, and where poker-playing or guitar-strumming public officials who have made Louisiana the laughing stock of the nation would only be unpleasant memories!

The Republican Party is actually the only organized political party in this state. The Democrats haven't had to be. Until now, the Democratic Party has functioned largely as a mechanical organization for getting men elected to public office. In effect, we have had a "no-party" system in Louisiana. We have just had a lot of politicians who wear the "Democratic" label and whose principal aim has been to get into office and stay there. True, there are many good, dedicated Democratic office holders who are interested in serving the people. Hitler had good Nazis, too.

In the coming months, Fifth District Republicans intend to build their organizations, seek qualified candidates, raise funds, conduct primaries — and probably start to make some Democrats squirm a little. If you are courageous enough to join our ranks and climb ALL THE WAY onto the Goldwater Bandwagon, welcome. We need you! WE are holding an old-fashioned Independence Day rally and barbecue at Forstythe Park in Monroe next Tuesday night. Come on in, the water's fine — and maybe a little cleaner.

Proposed Washington Negro March Could Embarrass Kennedy

The proposed Negro March on Washington in August to force the hand of Congress places President Kennedy very painfully on the horns of a dilemma. If 100,000 Negroes picket the Capitol and sit-in on the cold marble floors of its corridors, the possibilities of civil rights legislation will probably go out the window. Many Congressmen who feel that such legislation is necessary and warranted will not tolerate this kind of pressure tactics. They will certainly not vote for cloture if Negro leaders attempt to put a pistol to the head of Congress.

On the other hand, if no legislation is enacted, Mr. Kennedy can kiss away his chances for reelection. The tension and rioting that have been on the increase election. The tension and rioting that have been on the increase will undoubtedly continue at a stepped-up pace. The President will either have to condone it or send troops to major cities north and south of the Mason - Dixon Line. This would lose him votes by the millions. Whatever racial difficulties exist today, the nation is not ready to accept martial law without protest. Whether fairly or not, both Negroes and whites will blame Mr. Kennedy.

What then is the solution? The Rev. Martin Luther King insists that the March on Washington cannot be prevented, no matter what he says or does. And other Negro leaders have argued in the same manner. But is this true? If Mr. King and the leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were to urge their followers to stay home — and if the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) were to add its voice — would there be any substantial gathering here in Washington? The question answers itself.

Certainly, some of the extremist groups would attempt to capitalize on the responsible behavior of the NAACP and other Negro associations and committees by opposing it. The Communists, who for years have attempted to recruit Negroes by offering a "solution" now taken over by the Black Muslims for a "Negro republic" in the South, will seek to take hold of any possible demonstrations.

BUT TO MOUNT A massive March on Washington will require the kind of planning and logistical support that only the NAACP, the King organization and CORE can provide. A sober statement by these groups warning that trouble at the Capitol will harm rather than help would automatically cool off some of those now demanding it. And the tedious and necessary business of renting buses, arranging train schedules, finding lodgings, and providing food for 100,000 demonstrators could not be handled by ad hoc Communist and-or Black Muslim agitators.

The concern now felt by the Kennedy Administration has begun to bubble to the surface. Attorney General Robert Kennedy faced the criticism of the Negro leadership when he cautioned them that a march was "premature" until Congress had a right to debate the civil rights legislation proposed by the President. But behind the scenes, the talk is considerably more emphatic.

Some of the President's advisers are, in fact, considerably resentful of the bind in which the Rev. Mr. King and others have put the Administration. They have always thought of themselves as the Negroes' best friend and they cannot comprehend why this is not understood. Negro leaders, however, take a somewhat different view. They note that before his election, Mr. Kennedy had promised flatly that a civil rights bill would be his frst order of busness. Once in office, he insisted that statutes then on the books were sufficient to cope with the problem.

The President's turnabout, after the riots in Birmingham and Philadelphia, has not impressed those who believe that he is now acting out of fear rather than from principle. As long as fear seems to be the motivation, the pressure will grow and the demonstrations increase in number and size, no matter what the eventual consequences. Irritation at the President's dilemma will achieve little.

Strong leadership is required now based on a thorough understanding of the issues, sympathy for all citizens whether black or white who must come to grips with an explosive situation, and a proper regard for law and constitutional principle. A show of the courage which seeks to do the right regardless of political consequences will do more to quiet the country and help it arrive at just solutions than all the pious sentiments and violent non-violent demonstrations.

Senator Soaper Says

As summer is ushered in, Shotgun Schultz huddles close to the air-conditioner with his kitchen-cooked dinner. "Who knows?" he says, "This may be the last indoor meal I'll get until Labor Day."

In defense of Great Britain's moral fibre, about which there is much concern these days, it should be pointed out that bribing basketball players is virtually unknown over there.

It's always pleasant to be around when the fellow who has been bragging for 20 years that he is immune to poison ivy finds out he isn't.

Asked if he feels he will have trouble adjusting to retirement, Walter Tippy says that he probably will, since he never was able to adjust very well to work.

The Week In Focus

Rambling Around

When the Farm Bureau was campaigning last month to defeat the Administration's new plan to control wheat production, its slogan was "freedom to farm" in order to put an end to the government "intervention and aid which have become so much a part of our national life." This month, Insider's Newsletter reports, Farm Bureau lobbyists in Washington are pressuring Congress to (1) Approve an Agriculture Department budget of more than $6 billion, which includes such programs as soil conservation, marketing services and low interest credit; (2) Set up a soil bank scheme which would pay farmers $17 to $20 an acre to take up to 100 million acres out of production. And whether farmers chose to retire land or not, they would be protected by price supports high enough to keep them from losing money on their land. The Newsletter says there is a growing sentiment in Washington against the Farm Bureau on certain issues. This coupled with the civil rights issue, which may tie up Congress all year, makes any new farm bill a dim possibility at present.

AN INTERESTING report is out on why Russia refuses to pay up its UN obligations. The report claims the Soviets, whose economy suffers a far worse balance-of-payments crisis than the U.S. are so short of funds outside of Russia that they would have to pay the UN, if they pay now, in gold bullion. Russia would look like a club member who had to hock the family jewels to pay his dues.

WHY DID THE REFUGEES leave Cuba? A Stanford University political scientist suggest that most fled to the U.S. from Cuba for highly personal reasons — and not because of political concern over Communism. Professor Richard A. Brody, who headed a field team which interviewed a cross-section of Miami's Cubans, said "we're finding out that most people are not very ideological." On the basis of these interviews and the information from other sources, the Stanford group concludes that the refugees decided to leave their country only after specific acts of the Castro government upset their family lives or threatened them individually . . . .

WHICH CIA REPORT do you believe. In a private briefing to a few selected newsmen, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the past week that he had word from the CIA that the Russians had just withdrawn four heavily armed combat teams — some 6,000 men — from Cuba. A day later the State Department's press officer told newsmen that he had good news from the CIA. The Russians, he said, had lately withdrawn a few hundred men. Rusk promptly ordered an investigation of how the two differing reports came into being. At last report, he has not cleared up the situation. . . .

A UN CORRESPONDENT the past week reported on the difference between a diplomat and a lady at the U.N. When a diplomat says "yes" he means "maybe," when he says "maybe" he means "no," and if he says "no" he's no diplomat. When a lady says "no" she means "maybe," when she says "maybe" she means "yes," and if she says "yes" she's no lady . . . .

REMINISCING upon his retirement after 45 years on the Chicago police force, Arthur T. Linderman tabbed as one of the sure signs that a burglary was done by an ex-convict the fact that almost invariably, if there was a canary in the house, the cage has been opened to let him fly away . . .

IT'S ALL IN how you look at it: The Japanese are somewhat puzzled at all the fuss the British are making over the John Profumo affair. A couple of years ago a weekly magazine ran a documented article listing the mistresses (some of them geishas) of all Japanese cabinet ministers; where they lived; how many children they had born their patrons, and how well he was caring for them. The revelations — which were widely read — did not result in a single divorce, nor did the newspapers or opposition party take up a hue and cry. . . .

A PANEL at the American Gastroenterological Association's recent convention in San Francisco reported that the widely touted "freezing" technique, used as an alternative to surgery, has turned out to be a grave disappointment. Fact is, it may encourage ulcers in many cases, rather than cure them. . .

Inside Information

STILL ANOTHER untouched move-in target for Negro college students arriving on white campuses—the sorority house. Word on the present sisterhood picture is that racial discrimination would be hard to prove from present language of written national sorority charters, yet the vast majority do not even have mixed-religion memberships, let alone mixed-race. The gimmick still keeping the pledge process "selective" (and thus so-called discriminatory): Required recommendation by an alumna. So far, President Kennedy hasn't covered this particular field in his Civil Rights proposal . . .

LAST ONES in on the Profumo affair — legitimate photographers and fashion models, now indignantly calling for professional tests and codes to keep party girls and prostitutes from calling themselves "models" to cover their real activities. The Paris fashion mannequins' association has placed a formal demand with the DeGaulle government for action — preferably on an international basis. Chief objection is that the international call-girl circuit is now so large and mobile that legitimate models, with the word "model" or "mannequin" stamped on their passports, are being greeted with sneers and leers at airports, docks, customs sheds. Fact is that both sets of girls tend to follow the same route — Rome, London, Paris — though for different reasons. Some legitimate models even complain that they've been stopped and cross-examined by frontier officials who assume they are traveling for illicit purposes. The Paris group suggests that an international body be created to issue "certificates" for legitimate models, based on working experience and proof that they work regularly at the profession. Phonies who tell police and press that they are models would thus be quickly exposed —and lurid tabloid accounts of their adventures would not heap disgrace on the word model . . . .

SCHOOL-BUS STOPPER: Watch for more organized "grass-roots" pressure on the ticklish topic of public bus service for parochial schools. Catholic parents in many states have concluded that now is the time for open shows of solidarity; in the planning stage are court cases citing a new ground under the Fourteenth Amendment — "equal protection under the laws." Precedent is a 1947 Supreme Court ruling that bus service benefits the child, not the school — and is therefore not direct aid to religion. But many state constitutions still prohibit indirect aid.

LATEST BUS-for-all outbreaks: St. Louis, Mo., where Catholic parents sent parochial "sit-ins" to public schools — demonstrating the tax burden that would result if all children were educated by the state. Fairfax Country, Va., where a parents' committee is mounting a campaign to change the prohibitive state constitution.

Sample national solutions, according to Dr. Theodore Powell, author of The School Bus Law: Kentucky —Bus money, first provided from school revenue, then struck down by state courts, is now taken from general state funds. Maine — A Catholic citizens' protest last year in Augusta sparked permissive local option legislation. New York — Mandatory transportation for parochial pupils to schools up to 10 miles from home has led to charges that Catholic students are now a privileged group; foes would cut the number of miles allowed.

Official Catholic opinion supports the spirit of parent demonstrations but is wary of being connected with them. Msgr. O'Neil D'Armour, associate secretary of the National Cataholic Education Association, told The Insider's Newsletter that more expressions of irritation on the part of impatient parents can probably be expected, but protest marches run the risk of damaging community interfaith relations. Citizens for Educational Freedom, a militant Catholic lay group, says "sit-ins" could cause chaos and suggest that Catholic parents would send their children back to public schools. . . .

Sex And Spy Scandal

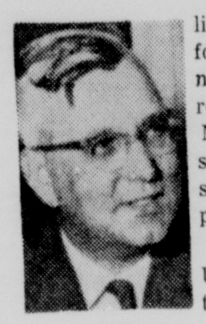
A TRIO of sex and spy scandals in Europe and the United Nations have aroused some curiosity but very little excitement in official Washington. The FBI won't say anything officially, but U.S. agents obviously are investigating the John Profumo-Christine Keeler affair, the Swedish spy scandal and an alleged call girl racket at the UN. But no official in the Kennedy administration or in Congress, is contending that the succession of scandals has wrenched the security of the U.S.

Swedish officials are extremely angry over their own case — termed the worst in Swedish history. It may force Soviet Premier Khrushchev to cancel his visit to traditionally neutral Sweden.

Last Tuesday, Swedish officials disclosed the arrest of Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom, decorated both by the U.S. and France, and charged him with spying for the Soviet Union for the past 15 years. For five of these years he was Swedish air attache in Washington. It is feared Wennerstrom, among other things, passed on secret data about NATO bases to the Soviets.

In the UN case, FBI and CIA agents are reported investigating at least 15 girls who are said to have worked for Harry Alan Towers, a British Broadcasting Co. producer as prostitutes. One of the girls was reported to be Maria Novotny, a relative of President Antonin Novotny of Communist Czechoslovakia. It is feared that this group also did spying for the Communist — both at the UN and in the U.S. In London, the Novotny woman denied the allegations and charged the investigation was just a smoke screen to cover up embarrassment of the Profumo affair.

The London scandal continued to make headlines. Joseph Godber, an articulate spokesman for Britain in the East-West arena, has been named war minister to succeed Profumo, who resigned in disgrace three weeks ago. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, whose conservative government has been shaken by the sex-and-security scandal, announced the appointment Thursday.



GODBER

Meanwhile, it has been disclosed that three U.S. airmen were apparently involved with the Keeler woman, whose affair with Profumo and a Soviet naval attache, termed a spy, and a West Indian, all at the same time. However, Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said there was no security breach and that the airmen, all Negroes "had no intimate contact with the Keeler woman."

In the final act of his disgrace, Profumo was dropped from the Privy Council, a largely honorary body of eminent public figures who advise the queen. Announcement of the dropping was made by Queen Elizabeth and said it was requested by Profumo. Such an act has only occurred once before in the history of the Privy Council which has been in existence for hundreds of years.

President Kennedy On Tour

PRESIDENT Kennedy — now on a tour of Europe — is receiving wild reception — but only time will tell just how effective his visit will be in the fields of politics and alliances. He did, however, lash into President Charles de Gaulle of France, although he did not refer to him by name.

In a rough, deliberately planned major policy speech Tuesday at Frankfurt, Germany, Kennedy — with all Europe listening ripped into De Gaulle for suggesting America might run out on its Allies in case of attack.

For the past year or so, De Gaulle has bucked Kennedy on several issues including the U.S. plan for a NATO nuclear force and the European Common Market. In both, De Gaulle would rely on its own military strength, including nuclear arms, and on the ECM issue. He vetoed British entry into the organization — which the U. S. wanted.

KENNEDY'S talk Tuesday was probably the harshest criticism that any U.S. president has made on an Allied leader since the war. And it made the relationship between the two men frigid. It was already cold. De Gaulle pointedly had not asked Kennedy to stop off in France on his trip . . . .

In his address, Kennedy said the U.S. will risk its cities to defend "yours because we need your freedom to protect ours. Those who doubt our pledge or deny this indivisibility — those who would separate Europe from America or split one from another — would only give aid and comfort to the men who make themselves our adversaries and welcome any western disarray."

The President coupled his criticism with a challenge to all West Europeans that they "work together to become a new and unified world power able to join the U.S. in a full give-and-take between equals."

IN REPLY later in the week, France warned Western Europe against trusting its security completely and indefinitely to the U.S. President De Gaulle's information minister—obviously voicing the President's views — observed that no one knows what Washington's policy may be 10 years from now. He said the record of American neutrality in 1914 and in 1939 does not inspire confidence. He went on to say that U.S. foreign policy has already undergone considerable changes and others might occur. Then he added — "To insure the survival of the country, France should herself have control of the means of her own defense. It is not reasonable for a country to abandon itself completely to another country for its defense."

After his speech the President flew to West Berlin, traveling over Communist-held territory for 110 miles. He visited the Berlin wall at two points, but was not able to see much as the Russians had sealed off all visibility.

In the beleaguered city he received what was described as the greatest reception ever accorded anyone, including Hitler. In many instances, crowds broke through police lines to touch him, or to say something to him. In an address there, he labeled the Communist wall "an offense against history and an offense against humanity."

After the German visit, the President flew to Ireland, the land of his ancestors. He visited his family's homestead, had tea with relatives in the barnyard and visited with all the folks in the area. It was a day of kissing relatives who referred to him as "cousin Jack, the Yankee President."

At two points he was almost mobbed by teenage girls, but was rescued by police and secret service agents who handled many of them roughly to reach the president.

At week's end, he went on to London where he will confer with Prime Minister Macmillan. He will go from England to Italy before returning to the U.S.

On The Foreign Fronts

SOVIET PREMIER Khrushchev — obviously shooting to offset the effects if any of President Kennedy's visit to West Berlin — flew into East Berlin Friday. Observers felt he was attempting to match the personal success of Kennedy, who had left the area two days earlier.

Khrushchev used the occasion of East German Communist party Boss, Walter Ulbricht's 70th birthday, for the visit. In a welcoming speech, Ulbricht charged that Kennedy's visit to West Berlin was "directed against the interest of the German people." Replied Khrushchev "I'm in full agreement with the remarks made by Comrade Ulbricht about the Kennedy visit."

For the past two days, the East German leaders had been trying to whip up enthusiasm for Khrushchev's visit. At the same time, it was disclosed that the Soviet dictator would meet with other communist leaders from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary.

IN MOSCOW, Chinese Communist delegates threw the World Congress for Women into an uproar the past week by invading the speakers' platform and demanding time to air their views on the Chinese-Indian border conflict. Two Chinese women marched to the platform and demanded to be heard after Mrs. Aruna Asaf Ali of India had presented the Indian side of the border conflict. Other delegates shouted them down and the two were finally forced to leave the stand . . .

IN MIAMI, the Cuban Revolutionary Council reported that mines placed by Cuban guerrillas blew up two trucks carrying Russian soldiers in Eastern Cuba, killing 12 of the Soviets. The statement said "machine gun and mortars put the enemy to route."

THE VISIT of an Indian weapons mission to Moscow this coming week is interpreted in diplomatic circles as a demonstration of Soviet firmness in the ideological struggle with Communist China. The Indian team seeking arms for defense against China will arrive just before the Chinese-Soviet Communist party talks open July 5. The move obviously gains for India a new show of Soviet friendliness while India is also getting arms aid from the U.S. and Britain. Meanwhile, Red China's papers published the Soviet Communist party decision to pursue its current foreign policy line in the forthcoming talks. By doing so, Peking provided itself an opportunity to follow one of several face-saving lines . . .

Congress

ONE OF the first Negroes to enter the University of Alabama, James A. Hood, 20, says the "whole idea of protests has gotten off course." Hood, one of two forced into the University by the federal government, said he had concluded that the protest movements have resulted "in a big unnecessary mess. I think it has become a matter of excitement rather than conviction for most Negroes." Then he added, "why doesn't the Negro race wake up and go about this thing in a more intelligent way." Implying that it was the Negro leaders who were stirring up the masses, Hood said "there must be some more positive way of achiving first-class citizenship, a way without violence or protest and I think there is."

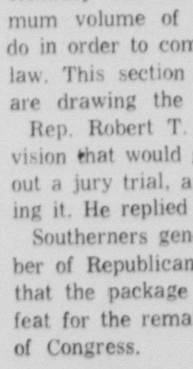
MEANWHILE in Washington hearing started on the far-reaching civil rights proposals submitted by President Kennedy and his brother, Bobby. In testimony before a House subcommittee, Bobby Kennedy charged "this country can no longer abide the moral outrage of racial discrimination." He said the courts and the administration had both played important roles in seeking an end to racial discrimination and that it is "now clearly up to Congress to bring its strength to bear."

Kennedy quickly received reaction to his testimony. Under prodding by committee chairman, Emanuel Celler of New York, Kennedy said he would accept a proposal to set a minimum volume of business that establishments would have to do in order to come under the proposed public accommodations law. This section and the Fair Employment Practice proposal are drawing the most fire.

Rep. Robert T. Ashmore of South Carolina criticized a provision that would give the courts power to enforce the law without a jury trial, and asked Kennedy if he would consider changing it. He replied — "I'm not certain."

Southerners generally are opposed to the proposal and a number of Republicans object to certain provisions of it, indicating that the package may run into trouble and may result in defeat for the remainder of the Kennedy proposals in this session of Congress.

On one point, the GOP leaders are insistent. They have charged that the proposals be toughened by applying stiffer penalties to labor unions which they claim practice discrimination. As a result, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said after testifying before the committee that he would not object to legislation that would provide for court orders to halt discrimination by either unions or employers.



WIRTZ

But Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio said additional sanctions were needed against Unions. "We feel very strongly about this," he said. Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida told Wirtz that if you put in management, you have to put in labor.

The hearings then were recessed until July 8.

EARLIER, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona had said he intended to offer an amendment to the civil rights package which would deny National Labor Relations Board and other benefits to unions which practice discrimination. "I'm not at all surprised that provisions of this sort were left out of the bill," he said. "I don't think the administration will support the amendment in a showdown, but I'm going to give its supporters a chance to go on record."

Meanwhile, the Pentagon announced it has eliminated racial segregation from the armed forces reserves. It said that all Negro units as were found to be in existence for whatever reason, have been integrated.

IN NEW JERSEY, education commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger applied his precedent-setting yardstick for what he termed racial imbalance in schools for the second time and ordered Plainfield to cut the 96 per cent Negro enrollment at one of its schools.

And in Kentucky, Gov. Bert Combs ordered racial discrimination ended in all state-licensed businesses and professions. The order affects motels, restaurants, taverns, bars, doctors, dentists, nursing homes, funeral homes, real estate brokers, attorneys, accountants, dairy product outlets and even watchmaking. A number of Kentucky businessmen have protested the order and indicated they planned to file a suit . . .

COMBS

IN MISSISSIPPI, Byron de La Beckwith a 42-year-old ex-Marine, was bound over to a grand jury without bond for the alleged sniper slaying of Negro Medgar Evers, an NAACP leader in Jackson. Judge James Spencer made his ruling binding Beckwith over after hearing testimony supposedly showing that the right index fingerprint of Beckwith, was identical to one found on a rifle apparently used to kill Evers. The state of Mississippi has announced it will seek the death penalty in the slaying. . . .

IN SAN FRANCISCO, Senator Barry Goldwater praised the liberals of 50 years ago, but said "the politicians who have inherited the tradition of liberalism in this country are not liberals at all but merely ambitious men who have become the captives of the big city machines." In a speech before the Young Republican national convention, Goldwater charged "the stern, cold fact is that no Democrat can be elected to national office today who is not under deep and unbreakable obligation to the corrupt big city machines." . . .

IN CONGRESS, Republican leaders say it looks as though the administration has given up pushing for a tax cut this year. However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it isn't so, and added "we will make every effort to pass a tax bill this year."

THE KENNEDY administration received cheering news from the Senate when it voted more funds for depressed areas. The vote overrode GOP protest of "pork barrel" and "political slush fund" and in doing so approved all the $455 million in extra funds asked by the President. The House earlier had dealt the program a stunning setback when it voted against expanding it. Now the Senate action means the proposal has to go back to the House and administration leaders are hopeful for a favorable vote . . .

MEANWHILE, the Senate investigating subcommittee has accused the entertainers' union of conspiring with nightclub owners to import Canadian girls for prostitution amid "unbelievable and shocking" conditions. It called on Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz to act swiftly to force the American Guild of Variety Artists to comply with U.S. laws. The subcommittee also said the Union cheated its own members of welfare and social security benefits, and the federal government of revenue. The report told of some Canadian girls, many as young as 15, of being held in literal bondage" by nightclub owners. . .

Khrushchev, Mao Fuss Is Major Rift

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In advance of a meeting which could be the biggest event in cold war history, Soviet Premier Khrushchev is hurting badly.

Ideologically speaking, though professing to yearn for world Communist unity, Mao Tze-tung has skinned Khrushchev alive and nailed his hide to the barn door.

It is obvious now this is more than an ideological fuss between Moscow and Peking. It has the look of naked struggle for supremacy over the world Communist movement. The ideology quarrel seems just window dressing.

Mao's offensive against Khrushchev—the more painful to the Russian leader because he has no adequate way of fighting back — has impelled the Kremlin to take the unusual step of rebuding Peking publicly.

GOOD REASON

Khrushchev had good reason to do so. Peking's truculence has infected much of the Communist world and has even generated sullen rebellion against Soviet economic domination among European satellites like Romania and Czechoslovakia. Such infections can be dangerously contagious.

It will be a fascinating show when—and if—the Red Chinese and Russians sit down together as scheduled next Friday to talk about their dispute. The prospects for peace grow dimmer every day.

This is a power struggle, just as Stalin had his struggle with Trotsky in the 1920s. Then, too, there was an ideological cover for the battle. But the real fight was over who would run the world Communist revolution.

Peking is not looking for peace. Mao has named to head his delegation to Moscow a man who is fully capable of irritating Khrushchev. The shrewd, able and uncompromising Chinese party secretary general, Teng Hsaio-peng, is noted for arrogance in debate. He is just the man to rub Khrushchev the wrong way.

What does Mao want? He talks about Communist camp peace because he does not want the blame for pulling it apart. But clearly he regards Khrushchev as incapable of heading the world revolution. Clearly he regards himself—Mao—as the only rightful inheritor of Communist world leadership, the only man who has created a body of theory on his own, with stature enough to rank beside Lenin and Stalin in the Red pantheon. To Mao's adherents, Khrushchev is an upstart, a man who, as Mao is reported to believe, is a "rich peasant riding an H-bomb."

WANTS FORCE

Mao wants to force Khrushchev into a meeting of Communist leaders from all 89 world parties. Peking seems cocksure it can convince the others that Khrushchev undermines, subverts and menaces the world revolutionary movement; that for the good of the movement, Khrushchev must be deposed.

Khrushchev's followers do not relish such a showdown. When it comes to which party violates Marxism-Leninism, the Soviet first secretary hasn't a leg to stand on. Chinese theoreticians have cut him to pieces.

Mao's supporters cite chapter and verse of Red scriptures to prove that Khrushchev is an arch-deviationist. Now the issue is joined. Peking is pushing its advantage, and this is a fateful moment for the Communist world.

Communist leaders in Latin America, African and Asia are restless, resentful of Kurhsuchev policies. They seem to look more and more to Peking for guidance toward the fastest road to revolutionary power.

Peking's party considers itself the real voice of world revolution and of unremitting enmity to the United States. By implication, it accuses Khrushchev of thinking first of Russian national interests, and second of world revolution. The Chinese accuse Khrushchev of many sins.

JOLTED PARTY

In advance of the Moscow meeting, Mao's party jolted the Russians with a 30,000-word letter in language so strong that the Russians refused to print it. This letter detailed several dozen specific Khrushchev sins.

A CYCLORAMA painting at Gettysburg depicts Confederate Maj. Gen. George E. Pickett's charge there on July 3, 1863. The Confederates are coming up from the right, the Union defenders are at left. The action beneath the clump of trees in center apparently shows the high water mark for the Confederacy; the spot where Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Armistead was mortally wounded after placing his hand on a Yankee cannon. From there the charge broke and fled back down the hill. The hundredth anniversary of the battle will be observed Wednesday. Layout Designed To Make Life Much Easier For You DISTINCTIVE RANCH: This attractive ranch has three bedrooms, two full baths, and touches of glamor that make it fun to own. The exterior is brick and fieldstone with a fetching flagstone terrace between the protruding wings. A handsome lamp is an accent at the end of the terrace wall.

By JULES LOH

For some reason many builders are reluctant to discuss an important feature of their home designs. Perhaps they think to do so would be indiscreet, but more likely it's because they're so seldom proud of it.

That feature, of course is the bathroom.

Architect Lester Cohen has no such misgivings — for either reason. He knows, as the head of a family of seven would be expected to know, the daily demands placed on a home's humble facilities. He has suffered through the morning rush hour, the before dinner hand washing and before bed teeth brushing; he has seen small boys tear through the house from the backyard on an urgent call and heard the plaintive "please hurry!" of young girls outside the door.

> A full study of this architect - designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plan J-82.

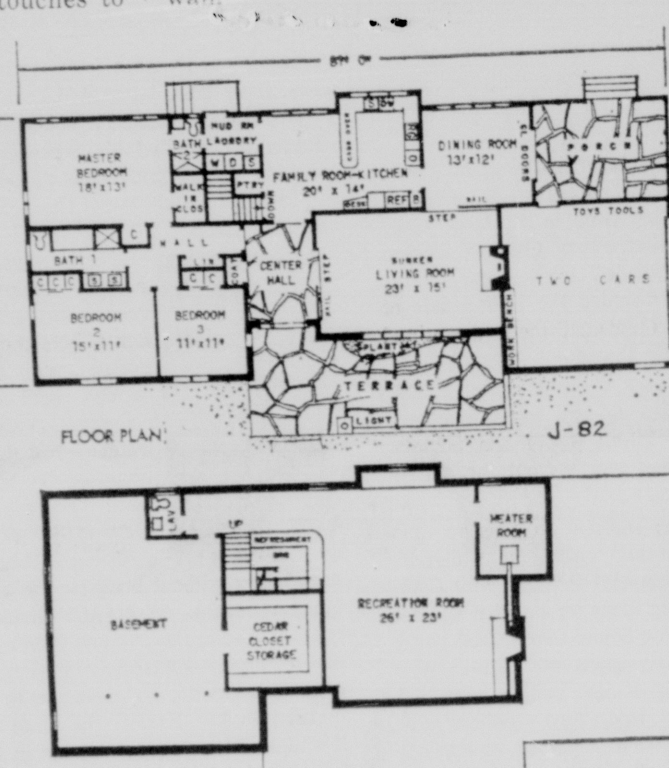
He also knows that few families can afford a separate bathroom for everybody — the dream of every harrassed father. So, as today's House of the Week he designed a home, J-82 in the series, guaranteed to make life easier for a family or five or six.

It only has two bathrooms, but both are arranged to perform extra service.

The bathroom adjoining the master bedroom, for example, has a second door providing access to the family room and kitchen area as well as the backyard. This makes it convenient for daytime use by the family without interferring with the parents' morning and evening privacy.

The main bath is large, and equipped with both a tub and a stall shower and with double lavatories — a setup geared to serve a brace of kids at a time.

The house is a handsome three-bedroom ranch 33'6" deep by 81' wide which would fit on a one-third acre plot or even a quarter-acre plot in many communities.



FLOOR PLANS: Living area totals 1,968 square feet in over-all dimensions of 33'6" deep by 81' wide. Basement includes spacious storage area plus room for informal recreation and utilities. Laundry is located on main level, convenient to living and sleeping areas.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

This house, characteristic of Cohen designs, makes maximum use of every square foot (the house contains 1,968 square feet of living area) and at the same time includes touches of glamor which make it fun to live in.

This sunken position is accented by balcony rails at the large flagstone reception foyer and the dining room. The combination of the three rooms makes a dramatic and gracious formal area.

The informal and housekeeping areas are equally well integrated. The kitchen is efficiently laid out in a U-shape with triple windows over the sink which assure plenty of light and fresh air as well as excellent supervision of the backyard. A long counter with overhanging cabinets separates it from the family room, and the combined area is 20' by 14'.

A mud room and laundry adjoin the family room at the rear service entry. The family room also is equipped with a large closet which can be used as a pantry, right next to the basement stairs.

Adjoining the dining room and behind the garage is a covered flagstone porch, ideal for outdoor dining. Another outdoor area, useful as well as fetching, is the front terrace between the two protruding wings.

All three bedrooms have cross ventilation, and each has at least two closets. Storage facilities throughout the house are excellent; there are eleven closets in all.

J-82 STATISTICS

A three-bedroom ranch with two full baths, living room, dining room, family room-kitchen, covered porch, attached double garage, full basement. Living area is 1,968 square feet in over-all dimensions of 33'6" deep by 81' wide.

Oil Activity Picks Up In Past Week

The Monroe Oil and Gas District activities picked up slightly this week after last week's decrease.

Manager Duncan S. Cook reported 12 completions, as compared to only three last week.

Ten new locations were staked in seven parishes. Tensas led with three, Union had two, and one each was reported in LaSalle, Concordia, Rapides, Catahoula and Franklin parishes.

No wells were abandoned during the past seven days.

Four parishes contained all the completed operations — Union finished five, Ouachita came second with four, Catahoula had two, and Tensas one.

Caldwell Parish dominated Cook's breakdown on operating rigs with eight. LaSalle reported five, followed by Tensas with four. Others included one each in Franklin, Lincoln, Ouachita, Richland and Union.

In his weekly district report through the Conservation Department, Cook released these data on completions and active rigs for the preceding seven day period:

Steel-Labor Agreement Is Puzzler

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—What does the new labor agreement hold for the steel industry?

That was the main question in business circles this week.

Production was being cut back since the possibility of a strike had disappeared.

There was talk of a need for new steel price increases.

Steel output declined last week for the fourth consecutive week, dropping 1.5 per cent from the previous week to 2,426,000 tons. Another fall was expected this week.

Users and service centers had built their supplies to about 17.35 million tons, or about 4 million tons above normal. The buildup was not as high as expected because consumption remained at a high peak.

An industry publication, Iron Age, expressed the opinion that the effect of last week's labor agreement on the steel market will be fairly severe but will be considerably milder than that experienced in 1962.

Estimates of the drop in new orders this month range from 20 to 30 per cent.

A factor in favor of the industry is that the business outlook remains good and the level of steel consumption should hold up.

Some steel executives argued that the need for additional price relief was increased by the new agreement.

Cost of the pact, which will remain in force until May 1965, was variously estimated at 12 to 15 cents an hour.

The United Steelworkers Union turned next to the aluminum industry where it seeks to work out a pact similar to that reached with the steelmakers. The unprecedented agreement, reached without formal negotiations, provides for 13 weeks a vacation every five years for half the work force and improved insurance and other benefits. There was no sage increase.

In the automobile industry, where heavy usage of steel is expected to ease the end of stockpiling, production remained at a high pitch. Output this week was estimated at 169,400 against 170,689 last week and 126,521 a year ago.

To keep up with the demand, the two biggest automakers, General Motors and Ford, hired new plant workers.

A good sign, according to economists, was the gain in new orders for machine tools in May for the fourth consecutive month. The total was 25 per cent above May 1962.

Construction contracts in May spurted to a new all-time high of $4,850,522,000, a 21 per cent increase over May 1962. All major construction and building categories contributed to the gain.

The cost of living in May remained unchanged at a record level for the second straight month. The Bureau of Labor Statistics predicted that the period of stability is over and there the index in June will rise at least one-tenth of one per cent.

SERVICE PINS

Monroe Caples and C. A. Hollingsworth, members of Louisiana Power & Light Company's Northern Division construction crew, recently became eligible for their 20-year service pins.

PROMOTIONS

Two promotions have been announced by Southern Equipment and Tractor Co. here. Curtis Hembree Jr., formerly sales representative for SETCO, has been named sales service manager of the Monroe operation, and E. B. (Toad) Williams, also previously a sales representative, was named sales manager in Monroe.

Hembree, a native of West Monroe, joined SETCO in 1957. He attended Northeast State and Louisiana Tech, and served in the Naval Air Force during World War II and in the Army Corps of Engineers during the Korean War.

Williams, a Choudrant native, joined SETCO in 1953. Prior to that he was a partner in a sporting goods and hardware firm in Ruston. He's a graduate of Louisiana Tech.

CONVENTION

Kenneth C. Wagley of Monroe, representative of Southwestern Life Insurance Company, has been invited to attend his company's 60th anniversary convention in Miami Beach, Fla., June 27-28.

Market Ends Half Of Year With Losses

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market ended the last trading week of the first half of 1963 with a moderately severe loss — but on the lightest trading in three months.

Analysts saw the decline as part of the corrective process due logically following the huge recovery movement which got under way in late October and reached a peak at the end of May.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 3.1 to 270.9 for its worst loss since the week ended March 2 when it dropped 6.8. The decline in the March week was followed by a straight-line advance which continued for two months.

Whether the stock list will repeat that recent history was a question no one dared try to answer in Wall Street as the week ended. The watchword in The Street was caution. Analysts also remarked that the vacation season was starting and that the July 4 holiday week is coming up, usually one of desultory trading.

Weekly volume shrank to 19,901,170 shares from 22,598,311 the week before. It was the lightest trading since the week ended March 30, when 19,349,540 shares changed hands.

The week began with a slight advance paced by rails and aerospace issues. On the second day the rise continued for a while but was nipped by late profit taking which put the average a shade below a "floor" in the averages which had held during several weeks of irregularity late this spring. As this level was penetrated more deeply on Wednesday, selling was generated and the market took its steepest one-day loss since Feb. 28.

The decline continued more moderately on Thursday. The market rallied Friday but on a mere 3.02 million shares, the second lightest day of 1963. An advance on light volume is always regarded as unpromising.

So the week ended on a note of uncertainty.

The atmosphere was further clouded by news that President Kennedy's tax program is behind schedule in congress and may be sidetracked while the administration pushes forward with civil rights legislation.

The auto industry's sales of new cars continued at a record pace. But steel production declined for the fourth straight week and as the week ended there were reports of further cutbacks in production.

Nevertheless, retail sales held up above year-ago levels at the same time that a University of Michigan survey said that consumers have trimmed their buying plans in the past few months.

Oils were investment favorites during the week and some of the merger-minded rails were very much in the spotlight.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

THE ASSOCIATED Press average of 60 stocks declined sharply this week, closing at 270.9 from 274.0 a week ago. The commodity index moved higher for the first time in five weeks, closing at 159.4 from 159.0 a week earlier. Livestock scored a sizeable gain. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Mize Field Action Continues Saturday

Central Oil Co. set surface casing in its unit No. 10-13 sec. 10-10n-15w, a 13,100 foot try.

California Co. ran production tests at its Board of Supervisors No. 6-1, sec. 16-10n-15w, with operators testing a sand at 11,904 feet.

The Mize Field was found in December 1962 and currently lists four producing wells. The discovery well has produced over 50,000 barrels of oil since its completion.

Also in Smith County at the South Center Ridge Field, Triad has location cleared for its Sullivan No. 1, sec. 32-1n-8e, a 13,000 foot test. Suth Center Ridge was discovered early this year and lists two producers.

Development in the Lazy Creek Field of Pike County continued with two wells drilling. Furrh, Murray and Mayflo Oil Co. tested below 10,700 feet in the Wallace No. 1, sec. 8-4n-8e, and the Cane Corp. was below 10,700 feet in the Lehman No. 1, sec. 9-4n-8e. Both tests were scheduled to be drilled to 10,800 feet. Lazy Creek is about two miles west of the Little Creek Field.

California Co. drilled below 4,-sec. 34-8n-3e, about four miles 100 feet in its important Rankin production in the Smackover lime drilled to 16,000 feet in search of formation. Also in Rankin County, Lover Petroleum and Carleton tion in the Selma chalk formation.

California Co. drilled below 4,-100 feet in its important Rankin County wildcat the west No. 1, sec. 34-8n-3e, about four miles northwest of Goshen Springs. The venture was scheduled to be drilled to 16,000 feet in search of production in the Smackover lime formation. Also in Rankin County, Lover Petroleum and Carleton Billups drilled below 10,700 feet in their wildcat, the Rhodes No. 1, sec. 7-5n-5e, about one mile north of the recently-found Pelahatchie Field.

Natural Gas Imports May Show Boom

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Imports of natural gas from Canada are expected to boom the next 10 years.

A recent survey indicates Canadian gas deliveries to the United States should jump to more than 7½ billion cubic feet a day by 1973. The 1962 rate approximated 955 million cubic feet.

There is indication this estimate of future demand for Canadian gas is conservative. The new survey indicates imported gas requirements by 1973 could reach 27 billion cubic feet daily.

The trend has prompted some concern in Canada.

A citizens group in the province of Manitoba, for instance, has recommended action be taken to protect Manitoba's future interests. A special committee appointed in 1961 to investigate actions necessary for accelerating the growth and development of the province's economy submitted a report on its 18-month study in March.

The committee tacked on a warning after expressing confidence Canada has sufficient gas reserves to meet anticipated increases in Canadian demand and exports to the U.S.:

"Under no circumstances should individual industries in western and northern Ontario, or the Dakotas and Minnesota, receive Canadian produced gas or electricity on terms more favorable than those available to the same industries in Manitoba.

"Government intervention may be necessary in order to ensure that consumers in Manitoba enjoy a price advantage over competing areas to the east and south."

Manitoba is in a strategic position in that it is located astride the main avenues of transportation for movement of oil and gas from western provinces to the more populated and industrial eastern provinces.

The citizens committee called for an overall integrated energy policy to protect Manitoba's own needs.

"Sight must not be lost of the fact that, in the future, more fuel and power originating in western Canada will be exported to eastern Canada and to adjoining areas of the United States," the report said.

Gas has been imported into Manitoba from the west only four years but already is supplying 9 per cent of the province's total energy requirements. This is expected to increase to 20 per cent by 1970 and 24 per cent by 1975.

The report on long-range U.S. requirements for imported gas was prepared by the Catawba Corp., a New York City consulting firm.

The report said it will be necessary to increase importations substantially and that it is probable the 7½ billion cubic feet per day estimate by 1973 will be a minimum increase needed for balancing supply with demand.

Catawba said the forecast was based on an assumption new U.S. gas discoveries will show the same annual rate of increase through 1973 as during the past 16 years.

"The more logical assumption, however, is that new discoveries will not continue at the same rate as in the long term past," the report said.

Natchez Girl, 2, Fatally Scalded While Bathing

DeSiard Street Meeting Slated

A meeting of merchants and property owners has been set for 10 a.m. Monday to discuss ways to bring more traffic and more shoppers to DeSiard Street.

A spokesman for the group said the meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Virginia Hotel, but the project is not being sponsored by the Chamber.

Topics which will be presented for discussion will be a proposal for restoration of two-way traffic on DeSiard, and the re-establishment of bus stops in the downtown business area along the street.

The spokesman said that the possibility of eliminating parking on DeSiard will also be discussed, and various promotions to bolster business in downtown Monroe will be considered.

America's First Air Force Pilot Still Zestful

EDITOR'S NOTE — America's one-man air force of the pioneer days is still very much alive. Here is a bit of zestful history.

By VERN HAUGLAND

ANDREWS AIR FORCE BASE, Md. (AP)—He is what you might call a sharp dresser—even a bit on the flashy side.

He is addicted to slacks and sporty jackets, and is rarely seen in public without a bow tie. He smokes a pipe constantly.

At the officers' club here, conveniently close to his on-base quarters, he is easily the most popular individual. Usually he is surrounded by the prettiest women in the room, and whenever he sits down young officers cluster around to encourage him to tell his stories.

He is partial to scotch, and of a Saturday night he is likely to be the last person on hand to close the bar.

With a drink in one hand and his pipe in the other, he comments, "This is the position you're likely to find me in—holding up the bar."

He is witty, lively, zestful—and 83 years old. He is long-retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Benjamin (Benny) Delahauf Foulois, the father of military aviation.

Long years before there was a U.S. Air Force, he was the American air force. From November 1909 until April 1911 he was the only military citizen on flying duty. It was his job to convert the first airplane purchased by the U.S. Army—the only plane then owned by the federal government—into a military craft.

Foulois learned to fly from the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur. He learned, for the most part, by correspondence.

"From Ft. Sam Houston in Texas, where I was trying to fly their plane, I'd write to them in Ohio to find out what I had done wrong," he recalls.

"We kept up this correspondence for a year. I really learned to fly by mail."

The first military student of the Wright brothers and first U.S. Army pilot to take a plane aloft was Foulois' friend and colleague, Lt. Frank P. Lahm. He is a former brigadier general now living in retirement in Hollywood, Calif., and Mansfield, Ohio.

The Wright brothers won a $25,000 contract from the Army Signal Corps Feb. 8, 1908, to build its first airplane. Requirements were that the craft be able to carry a pilot and passenger, average 40 miles an hour over a 10-mile course, stay in the air an hour, and carry enough fuel to fly 125 miles.

Foulois recalls that a part of the contract was that he and Lahm be trained to fly the plane. "But I was sent overseas," Foulois says. Lt. F. E. Humphries of New York City received the flight training along with Lahm. Lahm said later that he qualified as a pilot after three hours of instruction, and Humphries after five hours.

On July 27, 1909, Orville Wright achieved the endurance requirement set by the Army. With Lahm as a passenger, he stayed aloft an hour and 12 minutes.

Foulois, back on the scene, went aloft with Orville as navigator on the final qualification flight July 30, 1909 — the first cross-country flight in America. On a course of more than 10 miles from Ft. Myer, Va., to Alexandria, Va., and return, they averaged 42.6 miles an hour and naturally established world records for speed, altitude and duration in cross-country flight.

The Wright brothers received a $5,000 bonus for exceeding the speed requirement, bringing the cost to the Army for its first airplane to $30,000.

Foulois says Wilbur Wright began teaching him to fly at a field in what is now College Park, Md. In early November 1909, before Foulois could get ready to make his first solo flight, the plane was damaged in a rough landing. At this point Lahm was transferred to the infantry, and Humphries to the Engineers' Corps.

"I sat around at College Park waiting for spare parts. Then I went to Chicago, for the first laboratory tests of radio equipment, and then to Ft. Sam Houston at San Antonio to teach myself how to fly.

"On March 10, 1910, I made four flights—7 minutes first, then 14 minutes, then 21—and on the last one I cracked up.

"I made my first solo, my first takeoff, my first landing and my first crackup—all the same day."

This began the long series of experimental flights and rough landings—controlled crashes, really—that kept the letters moving between Foulois, in Texas, and the Wrights in Dayton, Ohio.

Until the spring of 1911 Foulois was the only pilot, navigator, instructor, observer and commander in the heavier-than-air division of the Army.

As commander of the first Army airplane, Foulois pioneered the fields of aerial reconnaissance, of air liaison with ground units, of aviation utility.

He gradually developed a number of mechanical improvements that were incorporated in later types of aircraft. Where the Wright brothers had used skids for landing gear, Foulois introduced wheels.

From May to July 1911, he was detailed with the Army's maneuver division at San Antonio, and during that period he designed and tested the first radio receiving set ever used in the United States on an airplane.

During this period he also broke the world's cross-country flight record with a passenger, and carried out the first air reconnaissance problems ever conducted with U.S. Army troops.

Transferred to the Militia Bureau in Washington in July 1911, Foulois was placed in charge of the organized militia. In October 1912, he joined the 7th Infantry at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and the following February moved to Galveston, Tex. In December he was assigned to the Signal Corps Aviation School at San Diego, Calif.

Assuming command of the First Aero Squadron at Ft. Sill, Okla., in July 1915, he took the squadron to Ft. Sam Houston and then to Columbus, N.M., to accompany the punitive expedition into Mexico in March 1916.

In March 1917, Foulois became chairman of the Joint Army and Navy Technical Aircraft Committee of the War and Navy departments. Following promotion from the rank of major to brigadier general, he went to France in October 1917 to take charge of the protection, maintenance and operation of American aeronautical equipment and personnel.

In November 1917, Foulois became chief of air service for the American Expeditionary Forces, and commandant of the Army aeronautical schools. The following May he was appointed chief of air service of the 1st Army, and in August was made assistant chief of air service for the zone of the Advanced AEF. Two months later he became assistant chief of air service, Services of Supply.

After Wrold War I Foulois served for a time as assistant to the military attache at the Hague, Netherlands, and in Berlin.

He attained the rank of major general, and was appointed chief of the Air Corps Dec. 19, 1931. He served in that capacity until Dec. 31, 1935, when he retired after more than 35 years of military service. He had entered service in July 1898, as a sergeant in the Corps of Army Engineers.

In 1957, Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, then Air Force vice chief of staff, invited Foulois to visit air bases and lecture personnel on aviation history. Gen. B. A. Schriever, commander of the Air Force Systems Command offered him quarters at this Maryland base, home of AFSC headquarters, and close to Washington.

That started a new career for the sprightly air pioneer—an occupation that he now credits with helping to keep him young.

Read the rules of contest in box at right. Get busy! You may win a cash award, First prize is $1,000 in cash. It's the biggest snapshot contest ever sponsored. Watch the News-Star—World for contest hints and weekly winners.

Winning some of the $280 in the Morning World and News-Star Photo Contest, as well as qualifying for a piece of the $31,000 in national prizes, can be as easy as following nine simple rules.

The contest starts the week of June 30th and ends the week of August 11th.

Below is a complete list of the rules for entering the local contest as well as the 25th annual Newspaper National Snapshot Awards. The four classes for black-and white which this contest offers are also described.

SNAPSHOT CONTEST RULES FOR 1963

1. The contest is strictly for amateur photographers. Anyone is eligible excepting employees of these newspapers, or employees of any newspaper participating in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, employees of the sponsors and their families, and individuals who, personally, or any members of whose families are engaged in the manufacture, sale, commercial finishing, or professional use of photographic goods.

2. Pictures that have been made after July 1, 1962, are eligible.

3. Black - and - white snapshots may be made from any brand of negative type black-and-white film, but not from color transparencies. Any make of camera may be used. No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longer dimension will be accepted. No art work or retouching is permitted on prints or on the negatives from which they are made. No composite pictures, such as multiple printing or montages are eligible. Pictures should not be mounted or framed.

4. To enter the contest, mail as many prints as you desire, within the contest dates to these newspaper's photo contest editor. On the back of each picture, print your name and address clearly in ink, and the class in which you wish the picture entered. (See Classes.)

5. No black-and-white prints will be returned. Do not submit negatives with your prints. Keep negatives of black-and-white prints until requested by the Amateur Snapshot Contest Editor. (Only original negatives accepted.) These newspapers and the sponsors of the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards assume no responsibility for negatives or prints.

6. At the close of the contest, these newspapers will award Grand Prizes to the four pictures (one in each class) chosen by its judges as the best entered in its contest. These eight winners then will be entered by the newspapers in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, where they will compete with entries from other participating newspapers for cash prizes totaling a nimimum of $31,000.

Read The News-Star—World for list of local prizes and news about the contest.

CLASSES

A. BABIES AND CHILDREN — One or more youngsters to be judged for cuteness, expression of character, or mood. Subjects may be engaged in any activity or interest. Adults may appear if they are not the principal interest.

B. ACTIVITIES — Teen-agers or adults. They may be engaged in any activity outdoors or indoors, at any season; occupations, hobbies, sports and recreations; any picture that tells a story of an interesting phase of everyday life. Children may appear if they are not the principal interest.

C. SCENES AND "TABLETOPS"— Judged for scenic or pictorial appeal — landscapes, marine views, historical spots, street scenes, buildings; or unusual "still-life" subjects including "tabletop" or miniature arrangements.

D. ANIMAL LIFE — Household pets, farm animals, forest wild life, zoo animals, etc.; any situation in which the aforesaid subjects are of principal interest.

7. All pictures shall be judged in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards on general interest and-or appeal. Photographic quality, although important, may not necessarily be the deciding factor. The decision of the judges shall be accepted as final.

8. It is not permissible to enter pictures in the contest of more than one newspaper participating in the Twenty-fifth Annual (1963) Newspaper National Snapshot Awards.

9. Before receiving the newspaper's final prizes in one or more of the four classifications, the entrant must submit the original negative with print and sign a statement that his picture or any closely similar picture of the same subject or situation, has not been and will not be entered by him in any snapshot contest, exhibit, or salon where prizes are awarded, other than the one conducted by this newspaper, and has not been and will not be offered for publication in any manner.

IMPORTANT: If you snap a picture which you expect to enter in the contest and in which a person or persons appear, be sure to get their names and addresses. This is necessary because, before your picture can become eligible for entry in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, the written consent of such recognizable person or persons to the use of the picture for advertising purposes must be obtained.

Lema Falters But Still Ties Palmer, Nicklaus For Cleveland Lead

THIS WAS the start of Tony Lema's troubles Saturday on the 16th hole of the $110,000 Cleveland Open golf tournament as he hit his second shot into a cluster of pine trees. Lema then three-putted the hole for a bogey and bogied the 17th before getting a par of the final hole for a triple tie with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus at eight-under-par 205. Lema was 10 under par before he slipped back into the tie. (AP Wirephoto)

Final Round Today, Player Only 1 Behind

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Lema, 29-year-old ex-marine from San Leandro, Calif., bogied two of the last three holes Saturday to toss away a clear-cut lead after 54 holes in the $110,000 Cleveland Open and wound up in a three-way deadlock with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

The trio had scores of 205, eight under par, as they paced 75 Pros into today's final round for the $22,000 top prize.

Lema, hottest guy on the tour for the last several months, was 10-under-par with only three holes to play, but he missed a three-foot on the 53rd for bogies which dragged him back into the tie.

Gary Player of South Africa, who with Nicklaus and Palmer makes up golfdom's Big Three, was a stroke back at 206. A half dozen others were deadlocked at 207, including veteran Sam Snead and Bo Wininger.

Palmer, staging one of his usual rushes, Saturday carved out a 66, a five-under par on the Beechmont Country Club's 6,618-yard par-71 course. The Pennsylvania hotshot had seven birdies and veteran Jim Ferrier, who played with him, said Palmer easily could have a 62 had his putter been working.

Palmer got down birdie putts of 8, 10, 12, 2 and 2½ feet and had easily two-putt birdies on the par-5 holes.

Nicklaus and Lema shot 69's in the third round after having 69s in each of the first two rounds. Nicklaus three-putted the 9th and 12th holes for his only bogies, but had birdie putts of 3, 10, 5 and 12 feet.

The Columbus youngster, holder of the Masters crown, said this was "my best round at hitting the ball since the Masters and despite the three-putters I'm happy about it all."

Player, who was in a three-way tie at the halfway mark with Wininger and Tommy Aaron, carded a par 71 Saturday. Aaron had a 72 for 207, as did Wininger.

National Open champion Julius Boros, haunted by a double bogey 7 on the fifth hole where he hit his tee shot out of bounds, had a 71 for 209.

After surrendering the edge, Lema was asked how he felt about it and answered:

I feel just fine. Does anybody have a razor."

Told that he was in a tie with Nicklaus and Palmer, he wisecracked:

"They're in pretty good company, aren't they?"

Palmer is the year's leading money with $63,000, Nicklaus is third with $58,000 and Lema fourth with $52,000. Boros is second with $59,000. Player, the closest challenger to the top three, is fifth with $44,000.

Each of the three rounds has ended in a three-way tie and if there is a deadlock after the 72-hole finale today an 18-hole playoff will be held Monday.

Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., who has won only one tournament in 16 years of touring, came up with the day's best score, a 6-under par 65 to wind up at 208, three shots off the pace.

Trojan Star Sparkles In 22-21 Upset

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Nelson, quarterback of the 1962 national collegiate champs from Southern California, threw two touchdown passes to Hugh Campbell Saturday night as the West shaded the favored East 22-21 in the All America football game of last year's college stars.

A crowd of 20,840 thrilled to the excitement as the two All Star teams traded touchdowns in a free-scoring battle in muggy 81-degree heat.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Statistics of the All-America football game:

	EAST	WEST
First downs	21	24
Rushing yardage	218	209
Passing yardage	159	162
Passes	11-24	11-27
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	3-48.75-41.6
Fumbles lost	1	0
Yards penalized	20	15

Campbell, the former Washington State end who led the nation in receptions for three years and set records, was voted the most valuable player of the game cosponsored by the American Football Coaches Association and the Buffalo Evening News.

The 6-foot-1, 185-pound athlete from Saratoga, Calif., who will play pro ball with the San Francisco 49ers, barely shaded quarterback Nelsen with 11 votes to 10.

Trailing 15-14 going into the final period, the East took the led when Daryle Lamonica of Notre Dame connected with Willie Richarson of Jackson, Miss., State on a 28-yard touchdown pass.

Back came the West with Nelsen hitting Campbell from seven yards out for the touchdown that tied the score. Ray Mansfield of Washington then kicked the conversion that gave the West the victory.

In the final analysis it was a two-point conversion in the first period, after Ronnie Goodwin of Baylor scored the first West touchdown on a two-yard run, that meant the difference. Nelsen passed to Conrad Hitchler for the big two-pointer.

Ron Vanderkelen put the East back in the game with a 24-yard TD pass to his old Wisconsin batterymate, Pat Richter. The East went for the single point conversion on a placement by Johnny Baker of Mississippi State.

After a scoreless second period, the East went out front on a two-yard run by George Saimes, the Michigan State fullback, and Baker's second conversion.

Nelsen, who played the entire game on offense for the West, colaborated with Hugh Campbell for the first scoring play late in the third period, a 19-yard pass.

Then came the wild final period. Lamonica, who will play pro ball with Buffalo in the American League, had been sitting on the bench because of a training camp injury. He came in to lead the East to a score in four plays, the last his toss to the speedy Richardson.

It was a sweet victory for Nelsen, a future St. Louis Cardinal. For the western coach was his old college skipper, Johnny McKay of Southern Cal.

Saimes was the top ground gainer with 87 yards, but he sat out the last part of the game due to a bruised rib. Campbell caught eight passes for 108 yards and Nelsen completed 11 of 27 for 162 yards.

East	7-0-7-7—21
West	8-0 7-7—22

West—Goodwin 2 run (Hitchler pass from Nelsen)
East—Richter 24 pass from Vanderkelen (Baker kick)
East—Saimes 2 run (Baker kick)
West—H. Campbell 19 pass from Nelsen (Mansfield kick)
East—Richarson 28 pass from Lamonica (Baker kick)

Groat And Kaline Top All-Star Vote Getters

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Shortstop Dick Groat of the St. Louis Cardinals led all National League vote—getters and right fielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was the American League's top vote-getter Saturday as the players selected their starting line-ups for the All-Star game in Cleveland, Tuesday, July 9.

Groat, acquired by the Cards in a winter trade with Pittsburgh, received a whopping 238 votes to easily top Los Angeles' Maury Wills. The National League's Most valuable player of 1962 drew only 25 votes.

Kaline, who missed out on the 1962 team because of a shoulder separation sustained just before the voting, was named on 226 ballots and easily defeated Bob Allison, the league's leading home run and runs batted in slugger who got 25 votes.

The biggest surprise in an otherwise cut-and-dried selection was the one-sided victory gained by veteran Frank Malzone over Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and New York's Clete Boyer for third base honors.

Malzone, currently leading the American League in hitting, received 184 votes to only 67 for runner-up Robinson. Boyer was even further behind.

There were only seven repeaters from the 1962 squads. Five are in the National League. They are Pittsburgh second baseman Bill Mazeroski, St. Louis third baseman Ken Boyer, San Francisco center fielder Willie Mays, Los Angeles left fielder Tommy Davis and Groat.

The American League repeaters are left fielder Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels and catcher Earl Battey of the Minnesota Twins.

Mickey Mantle, last years American League starting center fielder, beat Albie Pearson of the Angels for the starting center field berth, 131 votes to 104, but little Albie was named to the starting team because the Yankee slugger, who suffered a broken bone in his foot on June 5, will not be ready.

In a special vote, Pearson received 90 additional alternate votes on the assumption that Mantle would be sidelined.

The only two newcomers to All-Star competition were first baseman Joe Pepitone of the Yankees and shortstop Zoilo Versalles of the Twins.

Pepitone, playing his first full season, beat out Dick Stuart of the Red Sox, 112 votes to 62. Versalles outscored Luis Aparicio of the Orioles, 183 votes to 46. Aparicio was the starting shortstop last year.

Back on the starting squad was veteran Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, who easily defeated Bobby Richardson of the Yankees for AL second base honors. It was the 35-year-old Fox's ninth starting assignment.

Eleven teams were represented on the All-Star squads. The Cards placed three men, Bill White beat out Orlando Cepeda of the Giants for first base to join teammates Groat and Boyer. The Giants, Twins and Angels had two men each.

In addition to Mays, who beat out Cincinnati's Vada Pinson for center field, 168 to 82, the Giants also represented by Ed Bailey who edged out Cincinnati's Johnny Edwards as starting catcher.

The National League's second biggest vote-getter was Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves, the National League's home run leader. Aaron, beaten out by Roberto Celemente for the right field berth last year, turned the tables on the Pittsburgh outfielder, 230 votes to Roberto's 22.

The pitchers and remaining members of the two 25-man squads will be named next week. They will be chosen by the rival managers, Ralph Houk of the American League and Alvin Dark of the National.

NEW YORK (AP) — First and second place finishers in the voting for the major league all-star baseball game to be played at Cleveland July 9, with votes received:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Second base—Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh, 227; Ken Hubbs, Chicago, 14.
Right field—Hank Aaron, Milwaukee, 230; Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, 22.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Second base—Nelson Fox, Chicago, 141; Bobby Richardson, New York, 68.
Third base—Frank Malzone, Boston, 184; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore, 67.
x-Mantle will not be able to play because of foot injury and Pearson has been designated as starting center fielder.

Cardinals Top Houston Colts

HOUSTON (AP)—Ernie Broglio and rookie reliever Ron Taylor pitched St. Louis' National League leading Cardinals to their fourth straight victory Saturday night, a 2-1 decision over Houston.

Dick Groat's single in the sixth inning scored Bill White with the winning run as the Cards made it 7-for-7 against the Colts this season. Last-place Houston now has lost 12 of its last 13 games and 16 of 18.

Broglio, 9-3, yielded six hits before giving way to Taylor after a leadoff walk to Al Spangler in the eighth, and Taylor held the Colts hitless the rest of the way.

St. Louis managed just four hits off loser Ken Johnson in his eight innings but made good use of them. Ken Boyer's single after a walk to Stan Musial in the second and George Altman's sacrifice fly gave the Cards a 1-0 lead and they broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when White doubled and Groat singled him home.

Carl Warwick brought in the Houston run in the fourth when he singled, took third on an infield out and scored on John Weekly's single.

Johnson lost his 13th against three victories.

Kate Whitworth Takes Off Top Prize At Carvel

BROOKVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N. M. put on a garrison finish to carry off the top money in the $10,000 Ladies PGA Carvel Open Tournament at Tam O'Shanter Golf Club Saturday.

Going into the final round, the 23-year-old native of Monahans, Tex., trailed Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, the 36-hole leader, by seven strokes. But she finished with 216, one-over-for the 54-hole event.

A par 36 to the turn, scored in heavy weather conditions following a thunder storm that raked Long Island about noon, plus a one under 35 on the in nine enabled Kathy to carry off first money of $1,350.

At the final green, Kathy holed a four-foot putt for a par 4 to eke out the one-stroke triumph over veteran Marilynn Smith of Tequesta, Fla., who previously canned a 10-footer for a par and 218.

It was the first victory on the LPGA tour for Miss Whitworth, who finished second in the recent Western Open. Last year she was runner-up in nine tournaments, failed to take any, but won $17,044.50.

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Karras and Roger Davis, regular offensive guards for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League have renewed their contracts for the 1963 season.

Roberta Allison Keeps Net Title

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Roberta Alison of Alabama retained her collegiate women's title tennis title Saturday by defeating Cathy Gagel of California, 6-3, 6-1, at Washington University.

Miss Alison swept through the match in 56 minutes in 90 degree temperature to become the first to win two straight titles in the six year tournament.

WITH CHICAGO LOSS

New York Gains Full Game Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Terry pitched a six-hit shutout and Elston Howard and Tommy Tresh hit home runs Saturday as the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox 2-0 to open up a full game lead over the second-place Chicago White Sox.

Chicago was beaten by Cleveland 5-2.

Howard hit his 15th homer of the season in the second inning and Tresh banged his 13th in the fourth. Both came off Red Sox starter Chet Nichols, who absorbed his first defeat of the season. He has yet to win.

Nichols, employed mainly as a relief pitcher this season, was forced to retire at the end of the fourth inning because of a blister on the thumb of his pitching hand. He allowed only three hits.

Jack Lamabe hurled the last four innings for the Red Sox and permitted three singles without a run.

Terry walked two batters and struck out four in squaring his season's record at eight victories and eight defeats.

The Red Sox threatened twice but Terry was equal to the occasion. Singles by Chuck Schilling and Carl Yastrzemski put runners on first and third with one out in the first, but the Yankee right-hander forced Frank Malzone, the league's leading hitter, to grond into a double play.

In the sixth, Dick Stuart followed a walk to Yastrzemski with a ground rule double, but Terry tossed out Lu Clinton to end the inning.

Indians Stop Sox Rally To Gain 5-2 Win

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox used five pinch-hitters in a seventh inning rally but it fell short and they lost 5-2 to the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

The Tribe's second successive triumph at Comiskey Park put the White Sox a full game behind the first-place New York Yankees, who tamed the Boston Red Sox 2-0.

The parade of pinch-hitters, two of whom didn't get to swing a bat, came as the Sox finally solved starter Jack Kralick. He had allowed only one hit until the seventh.

Trailing 3-0 after Tito Francona's leadoff homer in the fourth and Willie Kirkland's two-run double in the sixth—both off starter John Buzhardt—the pinch-hit parade began after Chicago's second and third hits of the game.

Jim Lemon, acquired Friday night from the Phils, was announced as a pinch-hitter for Tom McCraw, but when Gary Bell supplanted Lefty Kralick, Floyd Robinson batted for Lemon and walked.

Robinson walked and Cam Carreon, who broke Kralick's hitless job in the fifth with a single, again singled, and scored Hansen. Al Weis batted for Joel Horlen, second Sox pitcher, and hit into a force play.

Charley Maxwell went up for Jim Landis, but when southpaw Bob Allen replaced Bell, Sherman Lollar batted for Maxwell and grounded out. So did Nellie Fox to end the seventh.

Kralick, who allowed only three hits before quitting in the seventh, notched his eighth win against six defeats. The loser was Buzhardt, 9-4.

Shreveport Ace Advances To Net Finals In T.V.I.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Top-ranked Marty Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., and second-seeded Andy Lloyd of Shreveport, La., advanced Saturday to the championship finals of the Tennessee Valley Invitational tennis tournament. Reed of Glendale, Calif., 9-7, 6-1.

Riessen ousted third-rated David Lloyd defeated fourth-ranked lark Graebner, Cleveland, Ohio, 1-16, 10-8, 6-4.

The 18-year boys crown was won by John Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Ala., who defeated Micky Schad, Louisville, 6-4, 7-5.

The 16-under championship went to Alex Guerry III, Chattanooga.

In the women's semifinals, top-ranked Stephanie Defina, Hollywood, Fla., defeated Peggy Moore, New Orleans, 6-3, 6-3. Miss Defina will meet Putsy Trice of Baton Rouge, La., in the finals Sunday.

The senior singles semifinals matches were won by Alex Guerry Jr., Chattanooga, who defeated C. A. York, Atlanta, 6-2, 6-1, and R. Vince Connerat, Atlanta, who defeated Dr. Fred West, Raleigh, N. C., 6-4, 6-3.

Mississippi State Announces Slate

STATE COLLEGE, Miss (AP)—Mississippi State announced its 1964 freshman football schedule, expanded to four games for the first time.

Auburn was added on basis of a Southeastern Conference rule passed in January allowing 4-game freshman schedules.

The schedule: Alabama here Oct. 5, Auburn here Oct. 14, Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Nov. 15, and Mississippi at Oxford Nov. 22.

NG Club Gets Amateur Win Over Falstaff

"Merchants Night" at Legion Stadium was very successful to all luck prize winners and National Guard's amateur club as it defeated Falstaff, 4-3.

Neither team actually tore the cover off the ball, each getting only three hits but National Guard made the most of theirs.

The winners got off to a fast start, plating three in the initial frame. Zameto reached first on an error and then scored all the way from first on a single to left by Brownlee.

Lovette then plated Brownlee, who was on second, with another single and he later scored on a wild pitch.

The other run for NG, and the one which meant victory, came in the fourth when Sid Smith reached first on an error. He stole second and romped home on a booming triple by Randy Fallin.

Falstaff scored all three of its runs in the fifth. Buddy Joiner reached base on an error. Haynes walked, then after the next two batters made outs, Rosco Holcomb doubled in both runners. Holcomb then scored on an error of a ground ball hit by D. J. Finley.

McDuffey struck out eight men and walked three in his winning performance. Gerald Griggs, the loser, struck out five and walked only two.

Dodgers Defeat Milwaukee With Gilliam's Bunt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Gilliam drove in the winning run with an 11th-inning bunt single—his third straight hit—as the Los Angeles Dodgers came from four runs back and defeated Milwaukee 6-5 Saturday night.

The victory kept the Dodgers 1½ games back of the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals and put Los Angeles a full game ahead of the third-place San Francisco Giants.

Dick Tracewski opened the Dodgers 11th with a single off Bob Shaw, the fourth Milwaukee pitcher. Tracewski took second on a bunt by pitcher Ron Perranoski and moved to third when Maury Wills grounded out. Then, Gilliam beat out his game-winning single to second baseman Frank Bolling.

Gilliam, who had homered in the eighth and singled in the tying run in the ninth, has driven in the deciding run in four of the last five games won by the Dodgers.

BY POLE VAULTERS

Sternberg Foresees Possible 17-6 Effort

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP)—Seventeen feet six inches.

That height—up to the eaves of your two-story house—is within the realm of possiblity for the vaulters now mastering the fiber glass pole, Brian Sternberg said Saturday.

"If I can make 16-8 doing everything wrong," said the University of Washington sophomore, "somebody's going a lot higher doing things right."

It was the first time the modest Sternberg, who catapulted to fame this year on a limber glass rod, had made a guess at the pole vault ceiling. His 16-8 is up for consideration as a world record.

"I hope they don't change the implement again," he said. "In the last few years we've moved from bamboo to steel to fiber glass."

Sternberg forgot to mention cedar. When he was 13 his father, Harold Sternberg, taught Brian to vault over a stretched length of string using a cedar pole.

Harold had been a vaulter when he attended Highline High School near Seattle.

"I could make exactly 11-9 every Saturday," he recalled. "I started Brian because it was something interesting and healthful for a boy's spare time. I had no idea he would take off into the wild blue yonder some day on a glass rod."

"People have said I'm the most consistent of the 16-foot vaulters," he said. "I'm not. That designation belongs to John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State."

Pennel raised the world mark to 16-3 in March. He and Sternberg swapped the record twice and then Brian hit 16-8 June 8. His last fiber glass flight was 16-4 at the National AAU meet in St. Louis June 21, and it earned him a trip to Russia with the United States track team in July.

"I can't believe it," he said. "I just can't believe it. The whole season has been hard to believe.

"My first major meet this year was the Penn Relays. The first time I went down the runway I was thinking of the $325 they had risked to bring an unknown vaulter all the way from Seattle. I barely got off the ground, landing in an upside-down, embarrassed stack in the pit."

(He neglected to mention that he went on to win at 16-5, beating the world mark).

"The event today can't be compared with vaulting a few years ago because the glass pole is so much more exacting. Form-wise, however, there is no real change. We have learned that the most efficient form for the rigid pole still is best for fiber glass."

Foam rubber landing pits have helped the vaulters. "You don't have to worry about landing on the back of your neck," Sternberg said. "If they have sawdust pits in Russia we may not go so high. They tend to pack with use. We'll have to think about coming down under some control."

John Uelses of LaSalle, first man to reach 16 feet, is the other half of the U.S. vaulting team.

Sternberg rarely practices and his best effort in a workout is 16-2. An accomplished gymnast, he keeps in condition by working on the trampoline. His black and blue marks come not from falls, but from pinching himself whenever he thinks about that youth named Sternberg who is reputed to be a pole vaulter.

SPRINTER, HALF-MILER

Northeast Gets 2 More Track Men

Northeast State's Indians added more feathers to their growing headband of track stars Saturday when Coach Bob Groseclose signed two south Louisiana thinclads.

James Bodin, the class A state 880-yard champ from Franklin, and 9.9 sprinter Mike Tabor of Morgan City inked letters of intent with Northeast to bring the total high school track signees to eight.

Earlier Coach Groseclose, who is one of the finest recruiters in the Gulf States Conference, signed prep stars Paul Hobgood of West Monroe, three Fair Park standouts, Stephan Anderson, Roger Mann and Barry Harwell, Sulfur's Roger O'Quinn and Fred Vogel of Neville.

This in itself would be quite a successful recruiting session but Bodin and Tabor add even more spice.

"We believe Tabor and Bodin are two of the top prep track prospects in the state," Groseclose said. "They are both high caliber boys and will fit in well with out program at Northeast."

Bodin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Bodin, was a football and basketball star at Franklin plus his track activities. He was an all-area end in football and basketball and was an all-stater in track.

His best half-mile is 1.57 which he ran at the district meet this past spring. The good-looking athlete placed second in the NORD Meet of Champions in New Orleans.

He also ran the high hurdles, and was a member of both the 880-relay and mile relay teams.

Tabor recorded the second best time in state this spring and he captured third place in the Meet of Champions. He has run a 9.9 four times in meets.

The Morgan City graduate, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin A. Tabor, was on the honor roll his senior year.

He also runs the 220-yard dash, and runs on the 440 and 880-yard relays.

Nuxhall Pitches Reds To Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to enter the major leagues, captured his 100th pitching victory 19 years after his debut when he stopped San Francisco 7-3 Saturday.

Marty Keough's second-inning home run and a four-run third inning rally that Nuxhall started with a single staked the 34-year-old left-hander to an early lead that was never erased.

He scattered seven hits and struck out 10.

Nuxhall, who pitched two-thirds of an inning for Cincinnati a month before his 16th birthday in 1944, did not win in the majors until 1952. He has lost 92 games and is 6-3 this year.

The Giants scored an unearned run in the third and added two more, one unearned, on a pair of singles, a walk and an error in the sixth.

Nuxhall's single, Pete Rose's double and a walk loaded the bases for Cincinnati in the third against loser Jack Sanford, 9-7. One run scored on a fielder's choice, Gordy Coleman doubled home two and Keough singled in the fourth.

Keough's three home runs and eight runs-batted-in this season have all come against the Giants.

Pirates Top Mets On Ninth Inning Walk To Bailey

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A bases-loaded walk to Bob Bailey forced in the winning run as the Pittsburgh Pirates scored twice in the last of the ninth inning for a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets Saturday night.

Trailing 3-0 after three innings, the Pirates got to Met starter Carl Willey for two runs in the sixth, then mounted their winning rally against rookie reliever Larry Bearnarth in the ninth.

Dick Schofield opened it with a single and after a sacrifice, Roberto Clemente beat out an infield hopper and Jerry Lynch walked, loading the bases. The tying run came across as Smoky Burgess rounded out, and then Bailey walked.

The Mets scored twice off Harvey Haddix in the second, with Norm Sherry's single and Jim Hickman's sacrifice fly delivering the runs. They added another marker in the third on two singles and a double play grounder.

Willey blanked the Pirates until the sixth when singles by Lynch, Bailey and Johnny Logan, plus a walk produced two runs. Bearnarth came on with the bases filled and prevented further damage until the ninth.

Paul Dudley Signs Pact With Eagles

PHILADELPHIA, (AP) — Paul Dudley, halfback acquired from the New York Giants, has signed his 1963 contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

General Manager Vince McNally also announced Saturday signing of Jerry Mazzanti, 6-foot-3, 225-pound guard-tackle from Arkansas; defensive back John Maccino from Pittsburgh, and Don Lawrence 250-pound defensive tackle who played with the Washington Redskins the past three years.

Snyder's Single In Eighth Puts Orioles Over A's

BALTIMORE (AP)—Russ Snyder, playing the unfamiliar hero's role two days in a row, singled home Bob Saverine with the winning run in the eighth inning as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City Athletics 3-2 Saturday.

Saverine, an eighth inning replacement in the field for ailing Luis Aparicio, singled with two out off losing pitcher Moe Drabowsky and stole second.

George Alusik scored both Kansas City runs after hitting near-out doubles. Snyder missed a shoestring catch on his drive to center field in the second, and Alusik scored on Jerry Lumpe's bounding single. In the fourth, Alusik's ground double was almost stopped on a dive by first baseman Jim Gentile. A ground out and Ken Harrelson's sacrifice fly scored Alusik.

Gentile scored the first two Oriole runs. He hit his 15th homer in the second inning, and in the seventh he doubled and scored on a single by Brooks Robinson.

COMPILES PERSONAL HIGH

Steve Pauly Takes AAU Decathlon Championship

By LARRY KURTZ

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Steve Pauly of Oregon State University, compiling his personal high, won the 1963 National AAU Decathlon Championship Saturday.

The 6-foot, 4-inch, 190-pound senior scored 7,852 points. His previous best was 7,226 points at last year's national meet when he finished third.

Dick Emberger of the Camp Pendleton Marines closed with a 4:19.2 effort in the 1,500-meter run to edge Dave Edstrom for second place by three points.

Emberger had 7,331 points to Edstrom's 7,328. Edstrom, former University of Oregon star, would have been runner-up had he run one-half second faster.

Pauly and Emberger qualified for the U.S. team which will tour Europe this summer.

Russ Hodge of Roscoe, N.Y., was fourth and Bill Toomey, running for the Santa Clara, Calif., Youth Village, was fifth.

Pauly clinched first place with a javelin throw of 241 feet, 3 inches. It was worth 1,101 points, the highest scored in any event of the two-day competition.

Paul Herman, who won in 1961 and placed second to world record holder C. K. Yang last year, finished eighth with 6,192 points. He complained of tight legs after Friday's five events.

Pauly's daily scores were 4,045 and 3,707, far off Yang's record effort earlier this year of 4,543-4,578—9,121. Yang did not compete this year because of injuries.

Charles Mosely of Alabama, who was second after the first-day competition, found Saturday's schedule difficult. He finished seventh with 6,385.

"I feel great," the 22-year-old Pauly said. "I was hoping to make the top six." A leg injury had limited his running during May.

Emberger fell behind Edstrom with weak efforts in two field events. He threw the discus only 126-4 and the javelin 157-4½. Edstrom was hurt by a pole vaul effort of 11-5 and a clocking of 15.3 in the high hurdles.

"I didn't know what I had to run to beat Edstrom," Emberger said, "but I knew he was breathing down my neck."

The 6-foot, 170-pound Emberger, 24, is from Bloomfield, N.J. Both Edstrom and Hodge are stationed at Oxnard, Calif., Air Force Base.

Veteran Phil Mulkey of Birmingham, Ala., announced he was retiring from decathlon competition. Mulkey, sixth with 6,395 points, scored an unsanctioned 8,709 points at Memphis, Tenn., in 1961.

Steve Pauly 7,852, Dick Emberger 7,331, Dave Edstrom 7,328, Russ Hodge 7,112, Bill Toomey 6,822, Phil Mulkey 6,395, Charles Mostely 6,385, Paul Herman 6,192, Dave Thoresen 6,165, Bill Smith 5,962, John Dobroth 5,787, Bob Gionbetti 5,580, Terry Hendrix 5,557, John Albitz 5,495, Larry Jones 5,298, Nat Johnson 5,243, John Morton 4,829, Eugene McCleary 4,600, Joseph Anderson 4,440, Denny Ellis 4,143, Ron Bondock 3,730.

WM Dixie Youth Will Celebrate Holiday July 4

Dixie Youth Baseball of West Monroe will celebrate the July 4th Holiday with four inter-league games which will be played at the North Side Park in West Monroe.

These games will feature the teams that won their first half championships in their respective leagues as well as games between the runner-ups in each of the leagues.

The two feature games will be played at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. with North Side winners, Bancroft Paper Co. playing Colberts Sports, the South Side first half champs and the East Side winners, KUZN, playing A & E Grocery, the second place West Side team.

The West Monroe Trucking team, who won the West Side first half, was unable to play.

The two earlier games, at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., will see Louisiana Power and Light from the North League, tangling with J. F. Heard & Sons of the South League, and American Oil, West League, playing Texaco of the East League. Ouachita National Bank of the South League tied for second place during the first half play with the Heard & Sons team.

Moffitt Rallies For Truimph At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean Moffitt, the teen-aged giant-killer of English tennis wrecked the hopes of another Australian star at storied Wimbledon Saturday by rallying for a razor-thin victory over Lesley Turner.

The cliff-hanger triumph moved the bespectacled 19-year-old co-ed from Long Beach, Calif., into the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championship along with Floridian Frank Froehling who gained the men's round of eight with another come-from-behind win over Britain's young Roger Taylor.

Unseeded Billy Jean, who is ranked third in the U.S., eliminated the second-seeded Aussie 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Froehling, of Coral Gables, Fla. and Trinity U. of San Antonio, Texas, joined his college teammate Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, in the quarter-finals with his rain-interrupted, three hour conquest of Taylor by 2-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2, 15-13.

Darlene Hard, the No. 1 American from Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Donna Floyd Fales, No. 5 of New York, also reached the quarter-finals. Miss Hard, downed towering Christine Truman of Britain 6-3, 3-6, 8-6, and Mrs. Fales tumbled Mrs. Lorna Cawthorne of Britain, 6-0, 6-4.

In another upset, Bobby Wilson, Britain's unpredictable star, eliminated fifth-seeded Martin Mulligan of Australia, last year's losing finalist, 6-4, 6-1, 9-7. Wilson, ranked second in Britain, will meet McKinley next week.

Miss Moffitt, a Los Angeles State College student, racked up her second pressure victory over Miss Turner in two weeks. A week ago she whipped the hard-hitting Australian girl to give the U.S.A. an upset triumph over the team from Down Under in the finals of the new Federation Cup.

Wagner, Thomas Spark 7-4 Win Against Detroit

DETROIT (AP) -- Lee Thomas drove in three runs and boomed a homer and Leon Wagner drilled three singles as the Los Angeles Angels defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-4 Saturday for their 12th victory in the last 16 games.

Wagner took over the American League batting lead from Boston's Frank Malzone with a .349 average on his three hits in four at bats. Malzone went hitless in four at bats and fell from .348 to .343.

Thomas snapped a 3-3 tie with a sacrifice fly in the two-run fifth and belted a two-run homer in the seventh. Wagner scored four times.

Jim Fregosi also homered for the Angels while Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe hit homers for the Tigers, who lost for the 16th time in the last 20 games.

Don Lee, who came in as a reliever in the fifth, got the victory. Jim Bunning was the loser.

ANDY WATKINS, a Little Leaguer from Birmingham, Ala., whose handicap is not a holdback, plays left field, pitches and is batting .354 despite braces on both his legs. When he was a year old, the star with the West End Green Hornets was given a short time to live. An operation six months later forced the use of braces. His manager says "'We need him in left field. He can stop the balls and knows where to throw them." (AP Wirephoto)

Rosewall Downs Alex Olmeda In Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Ken Rosewall of Australia defeated Alex Olmeda of Peru in the semifinals of the World Professional Lawn Tennis Championships Saturday and will meet Rod Laver of Australia in the finals Sunday.

Roswall defeated Olmedo 6-3, 6-3, 11-9 in a downpour after Laver won the first match from Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Rain started falling steadily after the Rosewall-Olmedo match began and the referee came out twice to talk to the players. They insisted on continuing, and although both fell a couple of times on the slippery grass the play was excellent. The crowd put up umbrellas, and most stayed to watch the play at the West Side Tennis Club.

A crowd of about 1,500 saw the wiry Laver come from behind and whip the hard-hitting Yank in a battle of the big serve and volley.

Dixie Youth All-Star Choices Announced In Four Leagues

The Dixie Youth Baseball Board of Directors of West Monroe announced the selection of the All Star teams Saturday from the four Dixie Youth leagues.

These four all-star teams, representing the North, South, West, and East Leagues will participate in the District 4, Bi-District, tournament which will be played in West Monroe, beginning Saturday, July 20 that the Northside park.

The Columbia Dixie Youth All-Stars will also, compete with the four West Monroe all stars teams in this double-elimination event.

The winning team will meet the other District 4, Bi-District, winner, in a three game series during the week of July 27, with the winner representing the District in the State Tournament which starts in Metairie, Louisiana on August 3rd.

The other phase of the Bi-District tournament will be played at Springhill, Louisiana, with two all-star teams from Ruston, and two teams from Farmerville and Union Parish competing with the host city.

There were sixteen all-stars selected from each of the four West Monroe leagues by the respective league managers. The All-Star managers will be Grady Rice, North League; Mark Fuller, South League, Ernest Liggin, West League; and C. M. Gilbert, East League.

T. A. Thompson Wants Liberal Duck Rulings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. T. A. Thompson, D-La., served notice Friday he intends to plug for more liberal duck hunting regulations this year.

The chairman of a house subcommittee on fish and wildlife conservation said he will open a hearing July 18 to find out if duck hunters have been given full consideration in the matter of bag limits and hunting dates.

He said he has received many complaints from duck hunters and "from my own knowledge as a duck hunter I believe that the resources would not be harmed by giving the hunters a reasonable limitation on bag and season."

Thompson said last year's limitations were very stringent and "were no doubt based on duck population estimates which were proven to be grossly erroneous."

Thompson said he has received hundreds of letters from duck hunters and not one wanted to deplete the waterfowl resource "but most of them believed that th eFish and Wildlife Service should gve more weight to qualified public opinion . . ."

Boat Safety Local Topic

With Sam Hanna

Boat Races, Jumpers

Normally weeks set aside to honor different events get little attention other than the mayors proclamation, but today, marking the beginning of National Safe Boating Week, get an extra push in Monroe.

Because the city's new boat dock and park, located across the river levee from Forsythe Park, will be formally opened featuring a program complete with boat races and parachutists leaping into the Ouachita River.

Actually, there should be concern about boat safety, due to the great interest in boating. People should be reminded of the dangers involved in operating boats — fishing boats, pleasure boats, speed boats.

What with the rivers and lakes jammed with boats these days, it's a wonder that more people aren't injured in mishaps on the water. There have been cases of fatalities.

And for sure there will be more.

With this in mind, the Ouachita Boat Club, promoting boat safety, has arranged for a program today on the banks of the Ouachita River at the city's new boat dock.

Donations at the gate will be accepted to help the club continue to promote safety on the waterway. It should be an interesting afternoon at that.

Beginning at 12:30 p.m. with the ribbon-cutting, the show will consist of two parachute jumps from 10,000 feet. The parachutists are supposed to land in the river.

And there will be a ski kite rider — none other than C. E. Snyder of Monroe.

But the big attraction will be the boat races, including participants from several states, including participants who have won national honors in the past and who are capable of putting on a good show here.

Legislation On Pesticide

Hearings have begun in the Congress on legislation that would require the printing of information about hazards to fish and wildlife on the labels of packaged pesticides.

Bills to this effect have been sponsored by Congressman John D. Dingell of Michigan and Congressman Silvio O. Conte from the President's state.

Their proposals would authorize the Secretary of the U.S. Department of the Interior to carry out expanded pesticides research and public information programs.

Other bills sponsored by Dingell and Conte would require federal agencies involved in any program requiring the use of pesticides or other chemicals designed for mass biological controls to consult in advance with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and with state wildlife agencies.

At the same time the Department of the Interior has announced support of proposed federal legislation designed to promote the discovery and development of effective new pesticides which would be free of the hazards accompanying the use of many formulations now available.

This includes Dingell's bill.

The Department emphasized the need for expanded research in pesticides and evaluation of such materials. Federal officials are trying to determine the effect pesticides have "on the food chain of which every animal is part, and to determine possible pathways through which accumulated, and in some cases, magnified pesticide residues can find their way directly or indirectly to wildlife and to man."

Despite contentions that pesticides are not harmful to man and wildlife, there is a growing concern across the nation. It is time for the governmnent to put its energy behind a study.

Hypo Deer Hunting

The Southeastern Cooperative Wildlife Disease Study—a program sponsored by biologists — has looked in on the use of a hypo-arrow that bow hunters could use to shoot deer.

And from all accounts, the hypo may be a help to bow hunters for clean kills. It could prevent the loss of crippled deer, although more deer are left crippled in the woods to die by gun hunters than bow hunters.

An arrowhead has been devised to contain a drug called succinylcholine chloride that will kill a deer in a matter of seconds, but is not harmful to humans. In fact, there is a possibility that this drug will be used in slaughter-houses.

At any rate, the idea behind this new technique is to give the bow hunter a weapon that will make a clean kill. A field study, with hunters using the drugged arrows, showed that deer struck by the arrows will drop dead within a matter of seconds — just a few feet from the spot where they were shot.

This could be of great benefit to the bow hunter.

We once saw a bow hunter shoot a beautiful buck that was found days later in a slough. Of course, the meat was ruined.

Naturally, there will be protests to the hypo-arrow if it is ever placed on the market. But it's better to make a clean kill anyday, regardless of the weapon, whether it be bow, shotgun or rifle.

Duck Program Slow

"The new federal duck program is bogging down," according to John Madson and Ed Kozicky of the conservation department of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

This is the program financed with funds from the sale of duck stamps. It calls for the spending of $105-million in a 7-year period to buy 3,720,000 acres of waterfowl habitat and is now ending its second year.

Much of the $105 million was earmarked for 89 "wetland counties" in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

But Madson and Kozicky say, "In that area, at the end of the program's second fiscal year, only 49,056 acres of small wetlands have been acquired within a proposed goal of 600,000 acres.

"There are easements on only 14,756 acres of wetlands from the proposed 7-year total of 1,150,000 acres. And less than 11,000 acres for waterfowl refuges have been approved for purchase — leaving 248,855 acres still to be approved and purchased."

Madson and Kozicky list two major reasons for the failure of the program so far:

1. The reluctance of taxpayers and public officials to have wetlands dropped from county tax rolls when those lands are bought by the government.

2. The confusion and uncertainty which many farmers feel in having their farms included in "wetland counties."

The writers explain, "One key to the problem is finding a way to acquire vanishing wetlands and still provide some county tax income from those areas."

Farmers in Minnesota and the Dakotas are fearful that the "wetland counties" will lower the value of their property while public officials do not want to lose the lands on the tax rolls.

Because of this, plans have been put forth for the federal government to pick up a part of the tax obligation.

But as Madson and Kozicky put it, "Such problems can be ironed out with time, but one great problem persists. Do the ducks have as much time as we have?"

Little Man's Corner

The fish continued to bite and the little men made news afield.

Sam Ladart landed the limit of bass Friday in Black Bayou. He was fishing with a Fantail. Charley Shambro also has been doing well with the bass in Black Bayou.

Bream fishing is good out there. R. L. Nichols has been catching his share of the bream and so has Ragan Torrance.

From Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Key and John Kirksy have been catching good strings of white perch in Hollybrook. Kirksy also landed eight bass in Gassoway.

Mrs. Morris Coleman got a nice string of white perch in the River Chute below Lake Providence.

And from Winnsboro, Willie Reems had a good bass fishing trip in Mosquitto Lake over in Tensas. Mark Butler caught a big string of bass in Bayou Louie.

Lake St. John continues to be a good place to fish. But Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wall and Willard Wall of Ruston caught the limit of bream in Old River Lake in the Ferriday area.

James Clyde Foster and Randy Foster of Minden got the limit of bream in Lake St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dew of Alto and Mrs. Dottie Dew caught bass limits in St. John on just plain worms.

Oren Zimmerman caught the limit of bream in Lake Concordia. Dempsey McMullen got the limit of bass there.

Old River has been a good spot too. Mrs. Sterling Brown and son Newt from Jena landed the limit of bass and so did Robert Hodges and James Dickerson of Vidalia.

Two Northeast Men Selected By Writers

LAFAYETTE (Special) — The 1963 All-Gulf States Conference baseball club will no doubt be remembered for many years to come as one of the greatest — if not THE greatest — all-star assemblies ever selected in the to six-team circuit.

First-class pitching (19-6 combined record and 1.58 earned run average), plenty of plate power (.333 team batting mark), excellent glovemen with strong arms (.963 overall fielding avg.), speed afoot, and very sound down the middle.

There is an abundant supply of all these desired skills on the '63 honor roll announced today by the Louisiana Sports Writers Association.

Louisiana Tech, although placing third behind GSC champion Southeastern Louisiana College and runner-up USL, led the way with four players.

Southwestern came next with three while Southeastern, Northeast La. State, and Northwestern State each had two regulars. McNeese State failed to gain a berth on the first unit but placed three on the second.

However, the pennant-winning Lions did make a clean sweep of the top individual awards. Third sacker Tony Alello, a New Orleans senior who swatted .369 and batted home 27 runs in 37 games, won the Outstanding Player distinction. He topped the all-stars in total hits (45), doubles (11) and triples (4).

The six-foot right-handed swinger belted at a .365 clip in 20 league games to help pave the way for Southeastern's second consecutive championship. He matched a circuit record by collecting six doubles.

SLC pilot Pat Kenelly was voted Coach-of-the-Year a second straight season and the fifth time in his highly successful coaching career at his alma mater. Since '51 the Lions have won six GSC baseball crowns and placed second four times.

Northwestern State mound ace Charles Johnson, Louisiana Tech catcher Kelton Bacon (.355) and Alello led the balloting with 70 points out of a possible 72. Each missed being a unanimous choice by one mere vote.

Johnson, who posted a 6-1 record and a remarkable 0.72 ERA, was joined on the three-man hill corps by Louisiana Tech's George Woodson (6-2 and 1.29), and USL's Harry Stelly (7-3 and 2.22). This trio allowed but 29 earned runs, 50 walks and 101 hits in hurling a total of 165 innings. Woodson was the strikeout leader with 73.

All-star outfielders are Alton Thomas (.371), Northeast; Ron McNabb (.304), Tech; and Lionel Kleinpeter (.310), USL. The utility outfielder is John Hall (.302) of Northeast.

Alello and Labenne are the only two repeaters from the '62 All-GSC club. Bacon and McNabb were first team choices in '61 but did not make the lineup last year. Three performers — Johnson, Woodson and Robertson — were second - stringers on the 1962 All-GSC crew.

The trend toward youth, started several years ago, was again in evidence as only four seniors (Bacon, Bounds, Robertson, Alello) appear on the first team and two on the second unit. The 26-man squad included six sophomores and seven freshmen, or exactly one-half of the roster.

Johnson had a great season in Demonland, completing all seven games he started and toiling 50 innings. He allowed but 23 hits, 4 earned runs and 13 walks to the opposition. The big righthander's only defeat was a heartbreaking two-hitter to Southwestern by a 1-0 score.

Thomas topped all hitters with a healthy .371 average. Runner-up honors went to Alello at .369, followed by Bounds at .357 and Bacon, .355.

The home run crown went to Hall who clouted nine out of the park. Robertson set the pace in runs scored (31) and total bases (71), and Thomas led in stolen bases (11).

Both Hall and Robertson knocked in 28 runs apiece to share the leadership.

Very few, if any, All-GSC teams chosen in the past can surpass the 1963 squad and its long list of impressive performances.

Sam Huff Signs

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Huff, veteran New York Giants' middle linebacker, signed his contract Saturday for an eighth season in the National Football League.

Huff, 29, never has missed a minute of defensive play for the Giants since he joined them in 1956 as a rookie from West Virginia.

Dallas Cowboys Swap Fullback

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. W. Lockett, Dallas Cowboys fullback, will go to the Baltimore Colts in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice, the Colts announced Saturday.

Lockett, 6-2 and 230 pounds, played with Dallas for the past two seasons. The Cowboys got him from the San Francisco 49ers in exchange for a draft choice.

San Francisco got Lockett from Central Oklahoma State as a lineman in 1961, tried him at defensive end and shunted him at the beginning of the season to Dallas.

If your child's school offered a daily physical education period—including at least 15 minutes of vigorous activity—the physical fitness of our nation's youth could be improved.

It's a fact that nearly one-third of our children lack the strength and endurance to pass simple physical achievement tests! Your child could be among them.

That's why you should know as much about your school's physical education program as you know about its academic program. Precisely how much time is given to physical education daily? Precisely what kind of activity does it include?

IMPROVES PITCHING

Married Life Looks Good Says Yankees' Jim Bouton

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Love makes the world go round. It has the same effect on Jim Bouton's curve ball.

The 24-year-old New York Yankee right-hander says he can't explain his sudden leap to stardom—he had a 10-2 record after shutting out the Red Sox last Sunday—but he admits his marriage last December to the former Barbara Heister of Allegan, Mich., is part of it.

"I feel more relaxed this year," the crew-cut, blond hurler said as he took time out from his chores around the house he just bought here.

"I'm having fun puttering around in the garden and scraping wallpaper. And my wife is a good cook. Macaroni and cheese is my favorite and she does a lot of baking, too. My prbolem is keeping my weight up. I weighed 165 in the Army when we got married; now I'm 185. So far, this marriage business looks like a good thing."

Bouton excelled as Manager Ralph Houk's top fireman for the first month of the season. He got his first start May 12 in Baltimore when Bill Stafford came down with a rash and responded with a two-hit shutout, retiring the first 19 batters. He's been a regular starter ever since.

Since leaving the bullpen, the New Jersey native has provided the Yanks with more relief as a starter than he ever could have as a reliever. His lone setback in nine starts through last Sunday was by a 1-0 score.

That defeat was in the nature of a comeback for Jersey Jim. The previous time out, in Baltimore, he was cracked on the jaw by a liner off the bat of Jackie Brandt and suffered a 12-stitch gash on the right side of his chin.

"I threw Brandt a low, outside fast ball," Bouton said. "At the last minute I saw a white blur in front of my face and I felt myself getting hit in the head, but then I don't remember anything until I was lying on the ground and trying to think where I got hit.

"I was checking my teeth with my tongue to see if they were all there. My head cleared real fast and I thought I could continue to pitch."

How come the meteoric rise from a promising rookie (7-7) to part of a potent 1-2 pitching combination with Whitey Ford?

"I'm not pitching any differently from last year," Bouton said. "However, my changeup is better and I'm throwing it more often. I would have thrown it more last year if I had been ahead of the hitters.

"I had a good spring, although the other pitchers were a month ahead of me after I got out of the Army, and I didn't have to worry that every pitch might send me to the minors. The first year was a big adjstment. This time I didn't have to get used to playing in the big leagues.

"When I started out in baseball I ad a fast ball, curve, change and knuckler. But pitching coach Johnny Sain said I'd be better off with one or two real good pitches than a lot of average ones. I decided the fast ball and curve were the ones I'd work on and I spent the 1961 season at Amarillo, Tex., doing just that. It was the best advice I ever got."

Bouton's curve is among the best in the business. His hitting is close to the worst, but he did win one game in Cleveland with a three-run double off Dick Donovan.

"I was a good hitter as a kid," he bragged, "although they were mostly singles with an occasional double. But I never had a three-run hit before anywhere.

"Ford says I have a hitting zone about so wide," he said, holding thumb and forefinger inches apart, "and Donovan threw it right through there."

The hard-throwing hurler, one of those who was expected to benefit from the new bigger strike zone, said the change "hasn't made that much difference. I've noticed that the batters still hit the high pitches for home runs if you're not careful."

Ferriday Girl Gets Crack At Olympic Trials

FERRIDAY (Special) — Joanne Manchester, of Ferriday High School, who paced her teammates to a third place finish in the annual 1963 Baton Rouge Invitational Track and Field Meet at Istrouma High School last week end, has earned a trip to Dayton, Ohio to compete for the Olympic games.

Miss Manchester who broke a Southern AAU record in New Orleans, bettered her mark by more than fvie feet in the girls shot-put event in Baton Rouge. She took top spot in her event with a heave of 37' 1¼" to better her 31 foot record in New Orleans.

She will leave Ferriday on Wednesday, July 3, and will arrive in Dayton on the 4th to start the three day meet that will see AAU competitors from all over the country competing in the Olympic trials.

The World For Women

June 30, 1963

At right: Solemnized Saturday, June 29 was the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Mildred Gene Levi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Levi, Monroe, and Melvyn Alan Anhalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Anhalt, Fayette, Alabama. Rabbi Martin Silverman performed the double ring vows at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents, 330 Auburn Avenue. The couple departed for a wedding trip to Florida after which they will establish a home in Birmingham, Ala.

Above: Gold urns of white gladioli, stock, Alba lilies and peonies mounted on marble pedestals, formed a setting for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Jo Biedenharn and John Bishop Johnston III, which was solemnized Thursday, June 27 in Grace Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Biedenharn Jr., 2800 Point Drive and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop Johnston Jr., of Sterlington. Following a wedding trip to Colorado the couple will be at home in Monroe.

At right: Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Linda Dell Cooper to William Edward Ragan is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton T. Cooper, Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ragan, Monroe. The wedding will take place August 15 at 7:30 p.m. in Temple Baptist Church.

Below at left: In a candlelight ceremony Friday, June 28 at Cypress Street Church of God, Miss Priscilla Eve Humphries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Humphries became the bride of Jimmy Raymond Breland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Breland, all of Monroe. Upon their return from a wedding trip to the Ozark Mountains the couple will establish a home at 404 Grayling Lane.

Below center: August 10 is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Mary Dorcas Barton and James Emmett Smith, whose engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene V. Barton, Crowville. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith of Baton Rouge. The ceremony will be performed at 4 p.m. in First Methodist Church of Tallulah. Miss Barton is a graduate of Northeast Louisiana State College and her fiance, who attended L.S.U. was graduated from East Texas State College, Commerce, Tex.

Below at right: Miss Rita Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mann, West Monroe, became the bride of Raymon Cary, son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Cary of Farmerville, Friday, June 28. The bridegroom's father performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. in Cheniere Baptist Church. The couple will establish a home in New Orleans, where Mr. Cary is employed.

MRS. KIRBY GEORGE DESORMEAUX

Sallie Williams Is Bride Of Kirby G. DesOrmeaux

In a ceremony solemnized at Our Lady of Fatima Church at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 29, Miss Sallie Anne Williams became the bride of Kirby George DesOrmeaux. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Louise Williams of Monroe and Sidney L. Williams of Shreveport. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. DesOrmeaux of New Iberia.

The Rev. George Martinez performed the double ring vows before the altar, decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and stock. Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Della Williamson, organist and Mrs. Waymon Etier, who sang Ave Maria.

Wearing a floor length gown of Schiffli embroidered tulle, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Sidney L. Williams Jr. The moulded bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and brief sleeves and the bouffant skirt over hoops, was fashioned with a back insert of seven tiered ruffles. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of fleur d'amour, yellow roses and lily of the valley centered with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Attending the bride were Mrs. William Tilton of Alexandria, matron of honor and Miss Mary Louise Bizet of Shreveport, cousin of the bride, bridesmaid. Their identical gowns of yellow peau de soie were fashioned with belled skirts and brief jackets. They wore matching pillboxes with yellow illusion nose veils, and yellow slippers and carried colonial bouquets of daisies with yellow tulle and ribbon streamers.

Harvey Broussard of New Iberia attended Mr. DesOrmeaux as best man and groomsmen were Kenneth Waguespack of New Iberia, Dan Courts and Rex Carter of Monroe.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Williams selected a rose silk sheath featuring self applique with matching accessories and a corsage of hybrid vanda orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige lace sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of hybrid vanda orchids. The bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Maude Delcambre and Mrs. Rita Boyer, were dressed in shades of blue with white corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table, covered with a cutwork cloth over yellow, was centered with a candelabra epergne holding daisies and yellow tapers. Mrs. Joe Bizet of Shreveport, aunt of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and presiding at the crystal punch bowl was Miss Frances Parks. Miss Mickey Lancaster, cousin of the bride, registered guests. Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Bruce Parks, Mrs. Ben McCoy, Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Hugh Vick and Mrs. E. S. Parrish, Misses Janis Brumfield, Barbara Bizet, and Monnita and Kathy Vick.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a costume suit of beige and brown and a corsage of yellow roses. They will be at home in Monroe.

Mrs. DesOrmeaux is a graduate of Neville high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. A graduate of New Iberia high school, Mr. DesOrmeaux is a student in the school of Pharmacy at Northeast, where he is also a member of the football team.

Couple Wed In Military Ceremony

In a traditional military ceremony, Miss Judith Ann Everett, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Warren Sylvester Everett of Vicksburg, Miss., became the bride of Second Lieutenant David Lee McKee, son of Colonel and Mrs. Richard Lee McKee of Berwyn, Pa. Colonel Everett is District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineers District, Vicksburg.

The double ring ceremony took place Saturday afternoon, June 22 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church of Vicksburg with Rev. John R. Speed of Crystal Springs, Miss., officiating.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of silk peau de soie fashioned with scalloped neckline and bodice of Italian lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from her father. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley, stephanotis and white phalaenopses orchids.

Mrs. Robert Lewis Graham, Pascagoula, Miss., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Lawson, Arkansas City, Kans., Miss Lela Kay Lowe, Garden City, Kan., Miss Judy Baldwin, cousin of the groom, Clovis, N.Mex., Miss Chris Ellis, Franklin, Tenn., Miss Sheila Stone, and Miss Joan Davis, Vicksburg. The bride's attendants wore floor length gowns of white organza over taffeta, highlighted with back panels bordered by blue-flowered satin. Their wedding ring headpieces were of matching blue flowered satin and organza, holding blue illusion veils and they wore drop pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride, and carried cascades of white Rubrum lilies entwined with blue maline and satin leaves.

Mrs. Everett chose for her daughter's wedding a blue lace dress with matching hat and bone accessories and the groom's mother wore a dress of blue silk. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

A reception and buffet supper were held at the Holiday Inn at Vicksburg. Miss Cora Lee Logan, Vicksburg, was at the guest book and Mrs. Harvey Paul of El Dorado, Ark., provided music for the occasion.

MRS. ROY BROWN NASH

Solemnized Saturday, June 29 in St. Pauls Methodist Church at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Kay Janette Caldwell of Cedar Rapids and Roy Brown Nash, Methodist Theological school, Delaware, Ohio. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Caldwell, Cedar Rapids and Mr. Nash is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Nash, 1502 Glenmar, Monroe.

Rev. Arthur G. Peterson, grandfather of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. All white arrangements of gladioli, snowdrift pompons and chrysanthemums formed a background for the exchange of vows with the altar rail entwined with English ivy, and clusters of white gladioli and pompons.

Mrs. Don Cook, organist, accompanied Rev. Charles Q. Wallace, associate pastor of St. Paul's church, who sang "O Perfect Love," and played traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white organza over taffeta, designed with scoop neckline, bracelet sleeves and fitted midriff. The bell-shaped skirt was accented by a deep band of Schiffli embroidery. Her chapel length veil of imported illusion was held in place by a crown of pearlized orange blossoms centered by an organza rose. She carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid, encircled with stephanotis and clusters of English ivy.

Mrs. Douglas Jackson served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Mary Jane Dytrt and Miss Terry Musgrove. The attendants gowns were of pink cotton chiffon with scoop necklines and bracelet length sleeves. Three satin bows defined the back bodice above the full bell shaped skirts. They wore matching circular veils attached to pink horsehair clips and carried ballerina bouquets of white snowdrift pompons and pink demure roses.

William Mate attended Mr. Nash as best man and groomsmen were Jack Caldwell, brother of the bride and Richard Landis. Serving as ushers were James Aswegan, Douglas Jackson, Thomas Nelson and Richard Landis.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Caldwell chose a coral dress with matching accessories and corsage of pink demure roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Nash, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of ice blue silk with accessories to match and a corsage of pink demure roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Cedar Rapid Country Club where the fireplace formed a background for the bridal party as they received their 200 guests. Centering the buffet table was the tiered wedding cake flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Nosegays and English ivy formed garlands around the table.

For a wedding trip to Colorado the bride donned a blue and white pin-striped suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Nash attended Cornell College and graduated from State College of Iowa. She is a member of Kappa Theta sorority. Mr. Nash graduated from Neville high school and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and is now attending Methodist Theological School in Delaware, Ohio, where the couple will be at home. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Miss Dorothy Jo Biedenharn Becomes Bride Of John Bishop Johnston III

Twin arrangements of white California gladioli, stock, Alba lilies and Else Sass peonies mounted on marble pedestals decorated the main altar of Grace Episcopal Church for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Jo Biedenharn and John Bishop Johnston III, which was solemnized Thursday, June 27 at 8 p.m. Centering the altar were brass cathedral candelabras, while side altars held arrangements of the same flowers in urns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Biedenharn Jr., 2800 Point Drive, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop Johnston Jr., Sterlington.

The Rev. Bradley Trimble performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. William E. Baldridge. Preceding the exchange of vows Mrs. Bradley Trimble presented a concert of organ selections including traditional wedding marches.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a gown of ivory pure silk peau de soie. The fitted bodice was fashioned with short sleeves, sweetheart neckline and narrow self sash ending in a small flat bow at left front of the waistline. The straight - front skirt featured side fullness confined by deep scissor pleats and triple inverted back pleats swept into a full court train. Her veil of Brussels lace, a family heirloom, was worn by her mother at her wedding. For adornment the bride wore a diamond pendant and she carried a bouquet of White Mission Japhette orchids and lily of the valley, outlined with antique lace and clusters of stephanotis.

Miss Minta Goyne served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Diana Cutler, Miss Betty Stuckey, Shreveport; Miss Ellen Ferguson, Miss Helen Touchstone, Mrs. Charles Campbell and Mrs. Roger Reinhardt. They wore identical gowns of Romance blue organza over taffeta. The close-fitted elongated bodices of Schiffli embroidery featured scoop necklines and tiny sleeves and the belled skirts were designed with back fullness touching the floor. Small bows held snoods of matching silk illusion to form their headdresses and matching slippers completed their costumes. They carried free flowing cascade bouquets of white and gold Eucharist lilies and variegated ivy.

Flower girls were Ann and Nina Johnston, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore old-fashioned frocks of ice blue organza over white, designed with high waistline, puffed sleeves and long full skirts, and carried clutch bouquets of stephanotis and fleur d'amour with satin ribbons to match their dresses.

Mr. Johnston attended his son as best man. Serving as groomsmen were Hank Biedenharn, J. Dixon Johnston, Bennie Farrar, Baton Rouge; Dan Vanderhoven, Alexandria; Joe Thomas and Johnny James, Columbia. Murray Biedenharn was ringbearer.

Mrs. Biedenharn, mother of the bride, wore for her daughter's wedding a gown of moonstone blue silk chiffon, fashioned with cowl neckline, cap sleeves and full skirt, accented by bias detailing at the waist. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white hybrid orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Johnston was wearing a slim blue silk organza model over taffeta, with re-embroidered lace at the hem and repeated on the sheer organza bolero jacket. She wore matching blue shoes and a small wedding ring hat in shades of blue and a white hybrid orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception at their Point Drive home, where hurricane lamps lighted the area to the entrance. At the entrance was a large Cloisennie jardiniere filled with white hybrid delphinium, gladoli, peonies, larkspur, agapantha and stock, with a matching arrangement inside the foyer.

The dining room table held an arrangement of white bridal roses, stock and fleur d'amour interspersed with white larkspur and stephanotis, in a large silver bowl, topped with crystal candelabra and prisms. Flanking the decor were crystal Venetian glass blossoms holding wedding ring mints. The marble topped buffet held a pair of five branch silver candelabra centered with white bridal roses, larkspur and stephanotis. Centering the buffet was a silver platter holding crystal Venetian glass roses. The living room coffee table held a pyramid arrangement of massed stock, agapantha and Alba lilies. A gold lotus bowl held a tall arrangement of white gladioli, stock and peonies.

Highlighting the patio was a 30-branch candle tree holding Votive lights and a huge arrangement of white hybrid delphinium, gladioli, peonies, lilies, stock and Killian daisies. At one side of the candle tree was a pair of 15 branch spiral candelabra with lighted Votive candles.

Members of the house party for the reception were Mrs. Murray Hudson, Mrs. Henry Biedenharn Sr., Mrs. J. B. Johnston Sr., Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Mrs. Haydn Cutler Jr., Mrs. B. W. Biedenharn, Mrs. M. S. Biedenharn, Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, Mrs. Corbin Turpin, Mrs. C. D. Oakley Jr., Mrs. Miles Sager, Mrs. John Fudickar and Mrs. Fred Fudickar. Also Misses Linda Dixon, Martha Perry, Paula Perry, Janet Vanderpool, Jeannie Fudickar, Amanda Cobb, Roberta Cobb, Susan Sherrouse and Jane Sherrouse.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride was wearing a Bali Rose woven cotton suit, featuring A-line skirt and short jacket. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of White Mission Japhette orchids. Upon their return the couple will be at home in Monroe.

Mrs. Johnston was graduated from Neville high school and attended Louisiana State University. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Also a graduate of Neville high school, Mr. Johnston graduated in January from Northeast Louisiana State College. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Order.

Cory-Mann Vows Read In Candlelight Setting

Vows uniting Miss Rita Mann and Raymon Cory were solemnized Friday, June 28 at 7:30 in the Cheniere Baptist Church. Rev. W. O. Cory performed the double ring ceremony before the altar, decorated with an arch of greenery and orchids and branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. Twin baskets of lavender gladioli completed the setting at each end of the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mann, Route 1, West Monroe and Mr. Cory is the son of Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Cory, Route 2, Farmerville.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of traditional design in Chantilly lace and tulle. The taut bodice featured a Sabrina neckline etched with iridescent sequins and pearls. The lace extended into a bouffant overskirt worn over crinolines. A lace rosette caught up the front in a panier drape, while the back featured multiple tiers of tulle accented by lace. Her waist length veil of illusion was held in place by a small crown of iridescent sequins. The bride's bouquet was an orchid surrounded by white carnations centered on a white Bible with satin streamers.

Mrs. Glenda Edwards attended her sister as matron of honor. Miss Jean Atkins was maid of honor and Miss Jo Anne Gist, bridesmaid. They wore identical street length frocks of lavender silk organza over cotton sateen, designed with scalloped necklines ftted bodices and full skirts. Each wore fingertip veils held in place by crowns of satin. They wore white shoes and short white gloves and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations with lavender streamers.

Miss Rhonda Greer, flower girl, wore a white dress styled similar to that of the bride, and carried a basket of spring flowers.

Fred Newton served Mr. Cory as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Freddie Cory, his brother, and Herman Bounds.

Mrs. Mann wore for the occasion a dress of beige linen with lace insertion at the waist and skirt with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Cory wore a lavender dacron dress with white accessories and white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the educational building of the church. The tiered white and lavender cake was served from one end of the table, covered with a lace cloth over lavender sateen and centered with an arrangement of wedding bells between two tapers, surrounded by the attendants' bouquets, with the bowl of lavender punch opposite. Mrs. Shirley Cory and Miss Charlotte Hyle presided at the table and Miss Sharon Cannon registered guests at a table decorated in lavender and white.

For a wedding trip to South Louisiana the bride wore a white eyelet sheath with an orchid corsage. The couple will reside in New Orleans where Mr. Cory is employed with Southern Airways.

Mildred Gene Levi Weds Melvyn Alan Anhalt In Home Ceremony Saturday

In a home ceremony Saturday, June 29, Miss Mildred Gene Levi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Levi, 330 Auburn Avenue, Monroe, became the bride of Melvyn Alan Anhalt, son of Mr. and. Mrs Milton Anhalt of Fayette, Alabama.

Rabbi Martin Silverman performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m: in the home of the bride's parents. Magnolias and foliage banked the mantel to form an improvised altar for the exchange of vows. Seven-branched candelabra with twisted candles and magnolia foliage were placed at either side of the mantel. Arrangements of white stock, gladioli and magnolias were used throughout the room.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of ivory staron Alaskine was fashioned with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves, fitted empire waist and sheath skirt. Her veil of ivory illusion cascaded from an ivory peau de soie pillbox with flat bow in back. She wore short white kid gloves and carried a bouquet of native magnolia blossoms and foliage tied with ivory satin ribbons.

Mrs. David Masur served as matron of honor and only attendant for the bride. She wore a short gown of hot pink silk organza, fashioned with scoop neckline, fitted bodice and cap sleeves, with a flat bow marking the waist above the full skirt. Her headdress was a matching circlet and veil and she wore a corsage of white glamellias.

Mrs. Levi was wearing for her daughter's wedding a gown of pale blue lace with scoop neck, cap sleeves and a satin bow at the waist. She wore matching accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Anhalt, wore a yellow silk sheath with accessories to match and a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

An informal reception was held for those members of the family attending immediately following the wedding at which time champagne and hors d'oeuvres were served. Following the reception a formal seated dinner was given in honor of the bride and groom at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Edgar Masur, with Mr. and Mrs. David Masur as co-hosts.

An arrangement of white stock, asters and candytuft formed the centerpiece for the dinner table. The bride's table holding the wedding cake, anniversary candle and rice bags was covered in white satin and decorated with wedding bells. Ornate place cards for members of the families were placed around the formally set dinner table.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Florida the bride was wearing a two-piece costume dress of deep pink raw silk with black patent accessories. The couple will establish a home at 2617 Niazuma, Birmingham, Alabama.

Mrs. Anhalt is a graduate of Neville high school and of the University of Alabama and is a member of Sigma Delta Tau sorority. Mr. Anhalt attended the University of Alabama, Vanderbilt University and is now a senior at the University of Alabama School of Medicine. He is a member of Zeta Beta Tau.

MRS. CHARLES ELLIOTT THOMPSON JR.

Thompson-Halsell Vows Said In Fair Park Church

Miss Gladys May Halsell and Charles Elliot Thompson Jr. exchanged wedding vows Saturday June 29 at 4 p.m. in Fair Park Baptist Church, in the presence of their families and close friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clinton Halsell, 606 D'Arbonne Road, West Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliot Thompson Sr., 611 Glenmar, Monroe.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leland A. Langridge Jr., against a background of baskets of white gladioli and branched candelabra holding white tapers. Music was provided by Miss Hermione Driskell at the piano and Mrs. Herbert Peterson at the organ. Gerald Dean was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white lace fashioned with a draped silk organza overskirt and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her veil was held in place by a pillbox-style crown of organza and lace rose petals, encrusted with seed pearls.

Roger Dean served as best man for the groom and ushers were Gerald Arrant, Henry Hinkle Jr. and Jerry Liles. Candles were lighted by Douglas and Arthur Liles.

A reception was held in the Halsell home after the ceremony. Arrangements of magnolia foliage, daisies and other summer flowers were used throughout the rooms. Mrs. Gerald Arrant registered the guests.

In the dining room the bride's table, held a silver bowl from which Mrs. R. E. Harrell poured punch and a tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. J. F. Jones Jr. Yellow roses and candles in a large silver holder formed the centerpiece.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a blue silk suit and hat. For the remainder of the summer they will reside in Houston, Texas where the groom is employed. They will return to Monroe in the fall and Mr. Thompson, a graduate of Neville high school, will resume his studies at Northeast Louisiana State College. Mrs. Thompson, a graduate of West Monroe high school and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, is a teacher in the Monroe City school system. She is a member of Phi Mu social sorority.

Trip To Ozarks Follows Breland-Humphries Vows

In a candlelight ceremony Friday, June 28 in Cypress Street Church of God, Miss Priscilla Eve Humphries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Humphries, became the bride of Jimmy Raymond Breland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Breland, all of Monroe. Rev. Dwight Grubbs of Oak Grove performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m.

Vows were exchanged beneath an arch formed by myriad lighted tapers in white wrought iron candelabra, entwined with ivy. The altar, draped with clematis and smilax was flanked by twin mass arrangements of stock in floor baskets, entwined with nandina.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white delustred satin with bodice of Chantilly lace, featuring a scalloped neckline and long sleeves tapered to lily points over the hands. The floor-length skirt fell into soft pleats from a pointed waistline. Her waist length veil of illusion was held in place by a queen's crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of tube roses centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Jo Anne Emerson was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Cherie Humphries, sister of the bride and Mrs. Jean McQuistion, cousin of the bride. They wore short full-skirted frocks of romance blue peau de soie complemented with scalloped nose veils, blue satin shoes and short white gloves. Each carried a large white chrysanthemum with long blue streamers.

Flower girl was Miss Sylvia Emerson of Bastrop, who wore a pink iridescent taffeta dress with full overskirt of matching silk. She carried a basket of white roses and shasta daisies.

Jim Burnley served as best man and groomsmen were W. E. 'Sonny' Bailey and James Stephens. Ushers, who also served as candlelighters were Duane Humphries, brother of the bride and David Miller. Paul McQuistion, cousin of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

Mrs. Humphries selected for her daughter's wedding a gown of sky blue lace with matching blue and white accessories. Mrs. Breland, mother of the groom, chose a mauve lace sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

The blue and white theme of the wedding was carried out in the reception given by the bride's parents in the social room of the church. The bride's table, covered in blue, overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth, held at opposite ends the tiered wedding cake served by Mrs. Don McIntyre and the crystal bowl of blue punch ladled by Miss Sylvia Hinton. Forming the centerpiece were attendants' flowers centered with the bride's bouquet flanked by blue tapers.

Miss Jo Ann Bruno registered guests at a round table covered in white and graced with a crystal bud vase holding a blue hydrangea. Others assisting were Mrs. J. C. Speir, Mrs. Prentice Gaston, Mrs. R. E. McCarty and Mrs. L. B. Lee. Tea girls were Miss Jeannie Worsham and Miss Mary Beth Lee. Mrs. Lillie Hightower and Mrs. E. C. Humphries, grandmothers of the bride, were presented corsages of white and blue carnations, as were those assisting in the courtesies.

For a wedding trip to the Ozark Mountains the bride changed into a three-piece blue linen suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 404 Grayling Lane in Monroe. The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. Breland graduated from Jena high school and Louisiana College at Pineville. He is associated with the Louisiana Department of Highways.

At this time of year brides and out of town visitors occupy center stage in Our Town. CRARY SMITH had guests this week, the WALTER JACOBS of Shreveport, here for the wedding OF JODY BIEDENHARN and BISH JOHNSTON Thursday evening. On Wednesday, Crary honored her visitor with luncheon in the private dining room at Bayou DeSiard country club. A summer bouquet of daisies, lemon daylilies, and phlox centered the table were sixteen were seated.

After lunch, the ladies played duplicate bridge, with ELAINE MILLSAPS winners. At the completion of the games, the group moved on to the home of MAMIE DAVIS, where she and Sara served late afternoon refreshments.

Here for the day on Tuesday, BETTY GRAY KECK and her children, ELIZABETH, JEANNE, and CORKY, visited JOY MARSHALL. Betty, formerly of Shreveport, now makes her home in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The visitors were treated to a swim at Bayou DeSiard county club in the morning, followed by luncheon at the Marshall home.

That afternoon, about fifteen friends of Betty's from Newcomb college days were invited for dessert and a visit. Joy's home was decorated with summer garden flowers. In the entrance were magnolia branches in a brass jardiniere, while the living room mantel held a pyramid of wine-colored dahlias.

Miniature zinnias were used for nosegays in Joy's silver epergne on the dining room table. Guests were offered a choice of cakes or sugar cookies with lemonade. Betty left late in the day to return to Shreveport.

Another Shreveport visitor, SHEILA HARKEY, has been here visiting her cousin, VIRGINIA HARKEY, in the home of the latter's parents, the HAYNES HARKEYS. On Tuesday evening, a group of seven girls enjoyed a trip up the river for swimming, skiing, and picnic supper. The menu included sandwiches, potato chips, stuffed eggs, cookies, and drinks.

MARIE LOUISE SNELLINGS honored two out of town guests when she entertained at a luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club last week. Visitors were SATCHIE DOLAN of Eagle Pass, Texas, and CHARLOTTE WOOD of Troy, Alabama, here visiting DOROTHY SHOLARS and SATCHIE NAIDEN. The table on the porch was covered with a green cloth and centered with a brass basket filled with white and yellow zinnias. There were twelve guests.

Another party given by Marie Louise for a visitor also honored her son FRANK SNELLINGS on his fourteenth birthday. Frank's guest was TOMMY HARDY, son of the FORD HARDYS of New Orleans. Eighteen boys joined Frank and Tommy for a swim and fried chicken box suppers. Visiting her grandparents, the MILLING BERNSTEINS GAY GULLEDGE has been attending YWCA day camp for the past two weeks. Her parents, CHERRY and FRED GULLEDGE, and brothers JOHN and RICK, arrive this weekend from Dallas to be here through next week.

Timing their visit to coincide with the Gulledges, BETTY and BILL DOUGLAS are arriving from Atlanta to visit his mother, OPAL DOUGLAS in Bastrop. Fred and Bill plan to play in the golf tournament at Morehouse country club over the Fourth of July.

Brides are inspiration for a variety of lovely parties at this, or any, season of the year. JUDY TURPIN entertained at a brunch at Bayou DeSiard country club on Tuesday, honoring RUTH ANN BOGGS, who is to be married to TRACY MOORE in August. The table on the porch was decorated with a cupid compote filled with white phlox and calladium leaves. Ruth Ann received a corsage of white rubrum lilies. The menu served to fourteen guests included melon ball cocktail, eggs Benedict, hot biscuits.

Last Saturday evening the FRED AMMANS and CORBIN TURPINS were hosts at an al fresco supper honoring Jody and Bish Johnston, who were married this past Thursday evening. This was a meal which was a feast for the eyes, as well as delicious. Large white platters heaped with fried chicken, while others held pyramids of marinated vegetables, casseroles of cheese grits, and beautiful fresh fruit. Dessert was a choice of five kinds of cake.

Smoked turkey slices filled a silver platter centered with cream cheese roses, while at the opposite end, frosted artichoke leaves and grapes decorated a platter of marinated tongue. Around the sides of the table were chafing dishes filled with creamed crabmeat, shrimp spreads, liver pate, and a platter of elegant marinated crab claws. Cheese-slanted dishes included always - delicious cheese straws, wafers with carraway seed, and cheese biscuits filled with dates and nuts.

Wedding breakfast at the Lotus club was the compliment planned for Jody and Bish by her grandparents, the MURRAY HUDSONS. The club lounge has never looked lovelier than for this party, when it was decorated with dozens and dozens of pink carnations, arranged with green grapes and maidenhair fern in four tall cupid compotes. The meal began with melon ball cocktail, followed by quail with wild rice, asparagus and avacado salad, and for dessert, lemon ice with creme de menthe.

This talk of food and menus reminds us that we have not yet told our readers of the newly remodeled kitchen at the LON HEUER residence on Island drive. This is really several rooms, including a family living - dining area, kitchen work area, and laundry-storage. One enters the living area through a six panel door with brass hardware, reflecting the Williamsburg influence felt throughout the rooms.

Wainscotting is painted white, with celadon green beams in the ceiling and flooring of wide pecan planks pegged with walnut. An old-fashioned lantern fixture hangs above the oval table placed in the bow window.

Oversize brick, handmade on a plantation near Natchez over one hundred years ago, is used for the open fireplace. Unusual features include the built-in Dutch oven, barbecue, and iron pothook in the fireplace. Above is the pecan mantel with its display of pewter plates and candlesticks and clock with embroidered face.

Wallpaper in these rooms features a pettiprint in shades of blue and celadon in two corresponding patterns repeated in different combinations. The smaller print is used on walls and ceiling in the living area, with the larger on panels in the white piano. In the kitchen, the larger print appears on the ceiling, with smaller behind the built-in desk. The smaller print is repeated in the laundry, where white-painted cabinets with black H and L hinges are lined with blue.

Cabinets in the kitchen are in a maple finish called "Williamsburg patina." Inside, they are completely, modernly, tailored for the job. Lighting under the cabinets around the room is a distinctive feature. There is a built-in desk with white Formica top for household planning.

Our poem today is Lkara Munkres' "Kitchen Prayer":

Lord of all pots and pans and things, since I've not time to be
A saint by doing lovely things or watching late with Thee
Or dreaming in the dawn light or storming Heaven's gates
Make me a saint by getting meals and washing up the plates.
Although I must have Martha's hands, I have a Mary mind
And when I black the boots and shoes, Thy sandals, Lord, I find.
I think of how they trod the earth, what time I scrub the floor,
Accept this meditation, Lord. I haven't time for more.
Warm all the kitchen with Thy love, and light it with Thy peace.
Forgive me all my worrying, and make my grumbling cease.
Thou who didst love to give men food, in room or by the sea,
Accept this service that I do, I do it unto Thee.

MRS. ANTHONY NOEL BRIGGLE

Briggle-Cary Wedding Peformed In Dallas

Solemnized Saturday, June 29 in St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal church, Dallas, Tex., was the wedding of Miss Evelyn Carroll Cary and Anthony Noel Briggle, both of Dallas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henry Cary Jr., Dallas, and Mr. Briggle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Briggle Jr., Brownsville, Tex., formerly of Monroe.

The bridegroom is also the great nephew of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Boone, 511 Lakeshore Drive, Monroe.

Rev. Henry C. Coke III performed the ceremony at 8 p.m. which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk peau de soie, fashioned with empire waistline and slender silhouette, enhanced with a winged bolero of Brussels lace which formed three-quarter sleeves ending in points. A full length oval train of peau de soie was caught with a matching bow and fringed streamers at back of the gown. Her cathedral veil of Brussels lace, brought from Europe by the bride, was attached to a half-circle of lace and pearls. She carried a lace fan, also from Brussels, topped with butterfly orchids and an heirloom handkerchief which belonged to her late maternal great grandmother, Mrs. M. F. Curtis.

Mrs. Brent Booker, Dallas, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Allen Hall, Miss Amy Worthington, Miss Linda Bailey, Dallas; Miss Lynn Trentman, Fort Worth; Miss Georgie Brower and Miss Eleanore Brower, twin cousins of the bride.

Stockton F. Briggle of New York, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and groomsmen were James Mitchell, Richard Jennes, Brent Booker of Dallas, George Snellings III of Monroe; Michael L. Briggle of Brownsville; William J. Briggle III of Washington D.C., brothers of the groom; and Edward H. Cary III, brother of the bride.

Serving as ushers were Allyn Patrick, James F. Chambers III, John DiChristafald, Randolph H. Beard, Currie McCutcheon Jr., of Dallas; Marshall Martin of Artesia, N. Mex., and Michael Engelman of Clinton, Okla.

The bride was presented at Idlewild in 1958, presented at Hedonia in 1958 and was Duchess of Dallas at Battle of Flowers in San Antonio, in 1959. She is a graduate of Hockaday and attended Mount Vernon in Washington. She is a member of Slipper Club and Cotillion Club of Dallas.

Mr. Briggle graduated from Sunset high school, attended Tulane University and graduated from Southern Methodist University in 1959. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Order.

Following a wedding trip to Mexico the couple will reside in Dallas.

August Nuptials Planned By Mary Barton, Fiance

Engagement of Miss Mary Dorcas Barton, Tallulah, and James Emmett Smith of Baton Rouge, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene V. Barton of Crowville. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, Baton Rouge.

The wedding is planned for August 10 at 4 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Tallulah with Rev. Wilson Watson officiating.

The bride-elect's sisters, Miss Bonita Barton of Crowville and Mrs. Jerry Key of Tallulah, will serve as maid and matron of honor respectively. Bridesmaid will be Miss Jane Sevier of Tallulah and flower girl and ring bearer will be Ramona Simon and Malcolm Simon.

Bill Nutt of St. Joseph, will serve as best man and ushers will be Austin Williet, Dallas, Tex., Don Simpson, cousin of the bride - elect, Montgomery, Ala., and J. L. Key, Tallulah.

Miss Barton is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lightsey and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barton. She is a graduate of Crowville high school and of Northeast Louisiana State College, Monroe.

Mr. Smith is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Leggett of Ruston and of Mrs. Motive E. Smith of Michigan and the late Mr. Smith. A graduate of University high school of Baton Rouge, he attended L.S.U. and was graduated from East Texas State College, Commerce, Tex. The couple will establish a home in Baton Rouge.

Outside Change Purses Provide Fare At Hand

Bus drivers, usually exasperated by the delay caused by females fumbling for their fares will certainly hail the trend to outside change purses.

One model features dual change purses attached to the bottom front of the pocket book. Another is content with just one in very middle.

But they're invitations to pickpockets unless you keep the change purse side next to you.

MRS. WILLIAM DON MUSGROVE

Musgrove-Cooke Vows Solemnized In Bastrop

Chrysanthemums and gladioli with candles arranged pyramid style against a background of southern smilax and tropical palms formed a setting in the First Methodist Church, Bastrop for the wedding Sunday, June 23 of Miss Donna Gay Cooke and William Don Musgrove. Rev. Robert L. Peyton performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwin Cooke and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Musgrove, all of Bastrop.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta. Reembroidered Alencon lace etched the Sabrina neckline and formed the brief sleeves. The elongated bodice accented the flat front of the wide skirt which swept into a chapel train, with white velvet ribbon and appliques of lace forming a curved design. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a coronet of pearls and crystals. She carried a Bible, surmounted with garlands of stephanotis and fleur d'amour centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Charles Wayne Wilkerson, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Wells and Miss Louise Kay Petrus. They wore identical sheath gowns of Wedgewood blue silk organza over taffeta with fitted bodices, cowl necklines and full overskirts. Their headpieces were blue veils attached to crownless pillboxes and they carried bouquets of Killian daisies.

Lane S. Crowe served as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Julian Musgrove, brother of the bridegroom; Ronnie Butler of West Monroe and Buford Benson, cousin of the bride.

Candles were lighted by Miss Deidra Paulette Cooke, sister of the bride and Charles Parker, her cousin. A concert of wedding music was presented by Mrs. J. B. Spier, organist and Mrs. Derrall Foreman, soloist.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cooke chose a yonder blue sheath of pure silk with matching accessories. Mrs. Musgrove, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pale pink linen dress with white accessories and both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the social room of the church. A floral arrangement in a footed crystal container, flanked by crystal candelabra based with wedding bells and fleur d'amour centered the linen-covered bride's table from which punch and the wedding cake were served.

Members of the house party for the reception were Mrs. James Roan of Shreveport; Mrs. Robert Perkins of Monroe; Mrs. C. E. Parker Jr., Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Mrs. Charles Sisk, Mrs. Gladys Boyd, Mrs. W. L. Montgomery and Mrs. C. H. Ables, all of Bastrop. Tea girls were Misses Brenda Green, Dianne Dupree, Dianne Bryant and Lanie Ware, Bastrop. Miss Valinda Parker distributed rice bags.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride changed into an aqua costume suit of cotton with matching accessories and a small white cloche and the orchid from her bouquet. The couple will be at home in Bastrop.

Curry Good Accent For Antique White

By BETTY PEPIS

Q: My living room has antique white walls and draperies, a medium shade of green rug, a light green sofa and one white-on-white chair. Please suggest color for matching hostess chair and accent colors.

A: Your room sounds well planned. I would introduce either a curry color or a Bristol blue for the hostess chair and accent color.

Q: Our master bedroom is not large. It will have a king size head board for twin beds. The room is painted a pale pink. What do I use for bedspreads, draperies, throw rugs and lamps?

A? Since you say the room is not large, I would not break up the walls with a print but keep the draperies a pale pink, too. They should, however, be treated in an interesting manner, either cafe type or the more formal valance with side draperies. Also, keep the bedspread a pale pink. This, to be practical, should be made of a heavy fabric or be quilted. Have dust ruffles made of plaid in pink, white and spring green. Select spring green for the throw rugs and accessories. Lamps are best in white.

Q: Please tell me what I can do to brighten my living room? The walls are white, a French Provincial sofa is upholstered in toast and two chairs are in light blue. What color do you suggest for the rug, draperies, toss pillows and ash trays?

A: With the colors you now have, I think a toast rug would be most suitable. Have white draperies and a clear shade of blue for toss pillows and ash trays. At some time, change the blue chairs to a bright yellow or spring green to bring a bright color into the room.

White Pants Set Sail For Summer Fun

White pants set sail for an active season of summertime fun. They're the choice of good sailors everywhere, even shore-bound landlubbers.

Designers feature summer playwear collections with trim tailored white pants, in varying lengths, and styles them in sturdy cotton duck or lined cotton knit. Attention is then focused on the many bright sporty tops that liven the fashion scene — in bold splashes of colors, stripes and patterns.

For another look at vacation time, there are beachcomber shirts in rich Tahitian floral patterns. Roll-sleeved or no-sleeved, they're right worn with white pants — shorts or ankle length.

NEWEST VEST

MISS PATRICIA ANN FORD

Patricia Ford, Bastrop Man Plan August Vows

Engagement of Miss Patricia Ann Ford to Gale Wesley Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley S. Garrett of Bastrop, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Conrad Ford, 1807 McGuire Avenue, Monroe. The wedding will be solemnized Saturday, August 3 in Memorial Methodist Church at 4 p.m.

The Rev. George Duerson, director of Wesley Foundation, Northeast Louisiana State College, will perform the ceremony.

Miss Ford has chosen Mrs. George Duerson to serve as matron of honor and Miss Linda Griggs, bridesmaid with Miss Deborah Kay Ford as junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Garrett will attend his son as best man and groomsman will be Louis Whitworth. Chosen as ushers are Ken Roberts and Ross Conrad Ford Jr.

The bride - elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Reese Strong of Henderson, Tex., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ross S. Ford, Tyler, Tex. She is a graduate of Neville high school and of Northeast Louisiana State College and is a member of Phi Mu social sorority.

Mr. Garrett is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Knight of Mer Rouge and the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Garrett of Bastrop. He was graduated from Bastrop high school and Northeast Louisiana State College and is employed with International Paper Company of Bastrop, where the couple will reside.

Hospital Guild Plans Aid For Pediatric Ward

St. Francis Hospital Guild held its June meeting, the last meeting until fall, on Monday in the Conference Room of the hospital. Mrs. M. H. Kulcke, president, conducted the business session.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam reported that the ways and means committee had met with Mother Finbar and had agreed to proceed with funds necessary for the year's project, helping to decorate, furnish drapes and accessories for the new Pediatric Ward.

Mother Finbar recently attended the Catholic Hospitals' Convention in Chicago and brought back many ideas for decorating and furnishing rooms and play room such as nursery murals, aquarium and library. It was also agreed to purchase small wheel chairs and stretchers and a TV for the playroom. Mother Finbar announced that a bronze plaque would be placed on the door stating the Guild had assisted with the donations.

A committee appointed by the president to work with Mother Finbar in the decorating and furnishing includes Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. Roy Kelly and Dr. Katherine Foster.

The president appointed a nominating committee to report at the September meeting. Selected to serve on the committee are Mrs. Howard Greene, Mrs. Bert Root, Mrs. Clarence Oakley and Mrs. S. E. Huey.

It was reported that the Guild's protege, Miss Patty Prophit, was graduated with honors from Northwestern School of Nursing and is now with St. Francis Hospital.

Mrs. Milam, Mrs. Milton Gorn and Mrs. Charles Fulson were named to a committee to check into starting a girl at the September term at Northeast Louisiana State College School of Nursing.

Following adjournment Mother Finbar invited the members to have refreshments in the cafeteria. Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Charles Fulson, Mrs. Burg Waddell, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. Howard Greene, Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. Milton Gorn, Mrs. R. H. Oliver, Mrs. Clarence Oakley, Mrs. S. E. Huey and Mrs. M. H. Kulcke.

MRS. THOMAS WILLIAM STEVENSON

Double Ring Ceremony United Local Couple

A double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Sue Irene Brown and Thomas William Stevenson was solemnized in the chapel of the First Methodist church in West Monroe, Friday, June 21 at 2 p. m. Rev. Earl B. Emmerich performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brown of West Monroe and granddaughter of I. C. Smith of Monroe and Mrs. Girtha Brown of Calhoun. Mr. Stevenson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stevenson, Monroe and the grandson of Thomas William Stevenson, Frost, Tex., and Tom Elkins of Oakdale and the late Mrs. Belle Elkins.

Mr. Brown gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a three-piece knit suit of navy blue, trimmed in white. Her accessories were navy blue and she carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Marianne Fuller of Calhoun, serving as maid of honor, wore an apricot model with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Stevenson attended his son as best man.

Mrs. Brown chose for her daughter's wedding a mint green silk sheath with black and white accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Stevenson wore a blue linen sheath with accessories of beige and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents at 114 Laurel Street in West Monroe. Miss Nina Faye Martin cut the cake which was served to the guests by Miss Linda Kay Brown and Miss Marianne Fuller.

Mrs. Stevenson is a graduate of West Monroe high school and is presently a senior in elementary education at Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Stevenson graduated from Ouachita Parish high school and attended Northeast.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Florida. Following graduation of Mrs. Stevenson from Northeast Louisiana State College in January the couple will establish a home in Baton Rouge where the bridegroom is employed.

Mr. Tony Bucci, Instructor of Piano Accordion at PAUL HEWITT MUSIC CO. 1312 Louisville Ave. announces a special 6 weeks summer course of private lessons including the use of an accordion. Blues, Greens Leading Fall Drapery Colors

Greens and blues are important summer and fall drapery colors, according to a comprehensive survey of the decorative fabrics markets by Home Furnishings Daily. These colors are often paired. Rust and orange are next in popularity and here, again, are often seen together.

There are plenty of regional looks to the new designs which have been influenced by the Mediterranean, Spain, Italy, England and the Perennial favorite, Early American days. The decorator look has moved in strongly in the popular priced field with wovens particularly upgraded. More combinations of fibers give much more textural interest to the new fabrics. While finishes are still important, quality and styling come first this year.

Prints are much more modern in feeling due in part to their dark grounds and bright accents, Home Furnishings Daily finds. Their scale is larger, too, with leaves and florals taking on enormous proportions. There is a boldness in both design and color which creates an impression of higher style. Many florals are stylized and simplified, with one exception — there are more tree of life patterns. More and more panels will be found in stores this year in vivid and bold colorations.

Bedspreads tend to be dressier with a trend to more intricate quilting and darker colors. There is less frilly embroidery.

All in all, throughout drapery departments in stores, there is a much wider selection than ever — especially in colors — and a definite air of sophistication.

Tipping Tips Aid Newlyweds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tipping tips for the honeymooners:

— In the United States and Canada, the bell boy expects 25 cents per suitcase, even 50 cents for delivering ice, a telegram, or when performing any minor errand.

—For individual meals, tipping the waiter 15 per cent of the check is the accepted rule. Add more if exceptional service is given or called for and received.

—For overnight stays, no tip is necessary for the chambermaid; otherwise, leave $1 per week.

—On cruises, tip cabin and dining stewards about $1 per person per day. At the halfway mark, however, give half of the total tip for the voyage to stewards so they can have the money for shore leave.

SCHOOL MUSEUM

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) —The one-room school is fading fast in America, but Eau Claire school children are cooperating in an effort to save one for posterity.

They are donating pennies in a drive to raise $1,500 to move the old rural Sunnyview school three miles to a park near the downtown area.

The city parks and recreation department will paint the school red and maintain it as a museum.

The school was built in 1881 and abandoned in 1961.

Sandra Brown, Tallulah Man Plan Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Louis Brown Jr., of Shreveport, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Jean to Lieutenant Billy R. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bilbo Sullivan of Tallulah.

The couple will exchange vows on Saturday, August 10 in Unity Church at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Shirley Bayles of Shreveport will serve as matron of honor and bridesmaids will be Miss Linda Anthony, Mira; Miss Tonis Casey, Houston, Tex.; Miss Alice Lee Daughenbaugh, and Miss Sherri Jolet, Shreveport. Johnny Goss of Tallulah will attended Lt. Sullivan as best man and groomsmen will be Ricky Brown, brother of the bride-elect; Eddy Gunn, Huntsville, Ala., Joe Haynes, Minden; Raymond Prior, Tallulah, Chosen as ushers are Jerry Fuller and Bobby Sullivan.

Miss Brown was graduated from Byrd high school and is a junior at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, where she was Crescent Girl of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and an Air Force R. O. T. C. sponsor.

The prospective bridegroom received his education at Tallulah high school and his Business Management degree from Louisiana Tech in January 1963 where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and also was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

Shoe Stylist Condemns High Needle Heels

While most women are still teetering around on needle heels, it's a safe bet that two years from now they will be wearing lower, broader heels. Roger Vivier says so, and he is acknowledged to be the leading designer of modern times.

M. Vivier, who for nine years was with the house of Dior, now is about to open his own salon, has started most of the trends of the last decade, including platform soles, Louis heels, pointed toes and the current crescent and squared toes. For the last Paris collections he launched "nanny" shoes, a square-heeled walking oxford that looks right with sportive clothes.

M. Vivier believes that busy women are foolish to run around all day in high needle heels. He is even doing squared heels on evening shoes. Shoe trends are slower than clothes trends, so it will be about two years before the fashion becomes general.

MRS. JOHN EDWARD SHAUGHNESSY JR.

John Shaughnessy Jr., Bride At Home Here

Miss Linda Gayle Meredith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Pryor Meredith of Bastrop, became the bride of John Edward Shaughnessy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Shaughnessy of Monroe, in a double ring ceremony solemnized Saturday, June 22 in the First Baptist Church of Bastrop.

Dr. Ray P. Rust, pastor, performed the vows at 4 p.m. following a program of nuptial music by Mrs. Vivian Sloat, organist and Miss Sara Womack, soloist.

Branched altar candelabra arrange pyramid style held tall white tapers flanked by arrangements of majestic white gladioli and palm leaves against a background of palms and smilax.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a regal floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and satin. The basque bodice overlaid in lace, featured a contour neckline and sleeves tapered to points at the wrists. Back of the slim line skirt featured a floating satin panel which terminated in a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a crescent arrangement of stock, centered with split carnations.

Mrs. Gerald Reisinger Jr., Shreveport, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Sloat. Bastrop; Mrs. Jim Jordon of Monroe and Mrs. Johnny Langston of Blytheville, Arkansas. They wore identical gowns of pale yellow crystalline taffeta and lace designed with fitted bodices and belled skirts. They wore matching shoes and veiled headdresses attached to pleated circlets. Each carried a bouquet of Marguerite daisies.

Candles were lighted by Misses Margaret Burlew and Beth Hammond, cousins of the bride, who wore identical gowns of foam green.

Serving as best man was Edwin White of Monroe. Groomsmen-ushers were Barry White of Monroe; Johnny Langston, Blytheville, Ark., Bobby Givens, Bogalusa and Billy Douglas Givens of Bastrop.

Mrs. Meredith, mother of the bride wore an almond green sheath with draped skirt, small green hat and matching accessories.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social room of the church where a serving table covered with a white cutwork cloth with undertones of yellow, held a central decor of yellow marigolds and white daisies. Crystal punch bowls of yellow punch at either end were presided over by Miss Pauline Wallace of Shreveport and Mrs. Gerald Mooney.

The bride's table held the traditional tiered wedding cake and was also adorned with the bridal bouquet, encircled by bridesmaids' bouquets. Mrs. Herbert Maus of Springhill, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. James Pate of Pine Bluff served the wedding cake. Tea girls were Miss Sue Watts, Mrs. William Earl Gray, Miss Patsy Fleming, Miss Patricia Green and Miss Brenda Davison of Bastrop and Miss Cheyenne Pate, Pine Bluff. Miss Sarah Sloan, student at Northeast, presided at the bride's book. Rice bags were distributed by Sammy Burlew, Jimmy Hammond and Ann Givens, cousins of the bride.

Other members of the houseparty assisting in courtesies were Mrs. Don Burlew, Mrs. Sammy Waldrip, Mrs. Mary Hammond and Mrs. Billy Givens, aunts of the bride and Mrs. Vernon Akin, Mrs. Vallery Rains and Mrs. W. A. Kunze.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 312 Rochelle in Monroe, for the summer. For travel the bride wore an ensemble of muted yellow with champagne patent shoes and bag and the carnation corsage from her bouquet. Mrs. Shaughnessy attended Louisiana Tech and is presently attending B.M.I. in Monroe. Mr. Shaughnessy is a student at Louisiana Tech where he is a senior major in mathematics.

Attending from Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shaughnessy Sr., parents of the groom; Mrs. Anderson Dupree and son, Miss Sandra Kay Mericantante, Miss Carolyn Coody, Miss Nancy Shaw, Mrs. Peter G. Mulhearn, Miss Anna Lea, Donald Cotton, Mrs. H. O. Womack, and Jimmy Williams.

Plush Hats Are Elegant For Fall '63

Milliners are already dreaming up next fall's hats, and the look will be both sportive and elegant.

Felts are abandoning the traditional citified shapes for high, punch-anywhere crowns and ripple brims. They deliberately avoid the new-hat look for a country air of casual comfort.

But plush hats, which were popular during the last cold winter for warmth, are going newly elegant. Pile, a sports fabric, is often being treated like fur.

Beige pile makes a high-crowned fedora, with gathered brim, a band in fake snake. Mink brown plush is used for a deep-cuffed, formal city pillbox with high crown.

Fluffy white pile is used for a high-rising toque, with edging of braided, heavy wool knit to frame the face. It's as dressy a hat as one could want for a cold city day.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Shameless Females Irk Mother Of Sons

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of four teenagers. These are perilous times for growing up, but I am not concerned even remotely about my daughters, Ann. It's the boys that worry me.

Tom is 16 and Jim 18. They are obedient and respectful, excellent students, well - behaved and outstanding in athletics. So what is the problem? It's the way the girls run after them that worries me sick. How much temptation can a young fellow stand?

Now that school is out the phone rings night and day. Both boys have summer jobs, but when they come home at 5:30 there is a list of girls who have telephoned. Every night two or three girls drive up in their convertibles. Sunday a girl came over in her car. She was wearing a bikini.

I wouldn't think of allowing my daughters to be so shameless. What can a mother do? — ATLANTA, GA.

Dear Atlanta: The world has always had shameless females and I see no evidence that that this sort of woman is disappearing.

Your work is done, Mother — or it isn't. If your boys were taught early to respect themselves and others you need not worry. If you failed to teach them, worrying now won't help.

Dear Ann Landers: I wish these girls would quit crying because they have figures like ironing boards. My problem is just the opposite and I would gladly change places with any of them. It's easy to add to what you don't have, but nothing can be done when you have too much.

Ever since I was 12, I have been subjected to crude remarks because of generous over - endowment. All through school I've had a collection of private nicknames you wouldn't believe. I tried walking hunched over, carrying my books in front. I wore loose blouses. Nothing helped.

You can't imagine what it's like for a young girl never to be able to wear a sweater or a strapless dress or a low - cut gown. And what a job finding a decent fit! I need a size 10 dress with a 14 top.

So please tell the Flat Flossies to stop moaning. If they had to wear a double D cup they'd know what trouble is. — ALL ME

Dear You: An embarrassment of riches, you might call it. Here's your letter and let's hope it cheers up the Flat Flossies — although they will probably find little comfort in knowing that someone else has too much of what they'd like more of.

Dear Ann Landers: Several letters have appeared in your column from mothers who received used clothing for their children. Some were delighted — others insulted. I hope you will find space to print just one more.

I grew up during the depression. Every evening gown I ever owned went to at least four proms. My maternity dresses went the rounds, too. Nothing was wasted.

When we moved to another city I offered some clothing to a woman who hasn't spoken to me since. So when my husband decided to discard an expensive sport jacket I gingerly offered it to a mother who could well afford to buy her son a new one. She gave me in return some play clothes for my younger children. It kills me to send kids out in brand new clothes to play in the mud. I was delighted to have the hand-me-downs.

This woman and I are now good friends. The secret is to know which people will be offended and which ones will be pleased. And the only way to find out is to ask. — DID IT

Dear Did It: Thanks for a nice, homey letter. There are more people like you than the other kind. And I'm glad!

MISS IRMA LEE FLINT

Irma Lee Flint Engaged To Wed Mr. Perryman

Engagement of Miss Irma Lee Flint, senior at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, to Floyd Mac Perryman, aviation officer candidate, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leroy Flint of Dunn. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. LaVelle Perryman of Dubberly.

The wedding will take place Saturday, August 10 at 2 p.m. in Dunn Baptist Church with Rev. Joe McClain officiating. A reception will follow in the home of the bride.

Miss Sandra Faye Holder of Delhi will attend the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaid will be Miss Nell Perryman, Dubberly, sister of the future bridegroom. Serving as best man will be Wilton Perryman, of Minden and ushers will be Troy Lee Flint, brother of the bride-elect; Tommy Vel Perryman, brother of the future bridegroom and Ensign Hilton B. Johnson.

Miss Flint is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brown of Baskin and the late Mr. and Mrs. James H. Flint, Baskin. A graduate of Delhi high school she is presently a senior in business education at Louisiana Tech where she is a member of Delta Beta Omicron and Phi Kappa Phi honorary organizations.

Mr. Perryman is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Perryman, Dubberly and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McMurtry, Mer Rouge. He graduated from Louisiana Tech in January 1963 in agricultural engineering and is a member of Wings and Prop Flying Club and American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

The couple will be at home in Pensacola, Fla., while he continues his naval officer candidate program.

Stovall-Franks Vows Are Read

Vows uniting Miss Linda Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Franks, and Charles E. Stovall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stovall, all of Rayville, were solemnized Saturday night, June 22. Rev. Don Fletcher performed the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

MR. AND MRS. RAOUL LANGLINAIS

Langlinais-Malone Vows Exchanged In Calhoun

St. Frances Catholic Church at Calhoun was the scene of the ceremony Saturday, June 22 at 3 p.m. which united in marriage Miss Joyce Malone and Raoul Langlinais. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Malone of Calhoun and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Langlinais of Lafayette.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a traditional gown with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace embellished with seed pearls, featuring a Sabrina neckline. The skirt was fashioned of delustered bridal satin designed with reembroidered lace appliques and sweeping to a chapel train. Her veil of imported illusion fell shoulder length from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of feathered white chrysanthemums centered with a purple-throated white orchid, atop a white prayer book, a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants, Miss Wanda Langlinais and Miss Linda Bailey, wore identical dresses of blue cotton fashioned with fitted bodices, scalloped necklines and pleated skirts. They wore dyed to match shoes and short white gloves. Their headpieces were illusion veils attached to blue bows and they carried nosegays of painted chrysanthemums with blue maline poufs and ribbon streamers. They wore necklaces of matched pearls, gifts of the bride.

Manning Naquin served as best man and groomsman was Jimmy Davidson. Ushers were Jerry Fenton and Lester Herbert.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a dress of navy chiffon and lace with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother selected a navy silk shantung with accessories to match. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Blue ribbon bows outlined the bride's table which was covered in white net over a blue cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. Miss Glenda Miller presided at the crystal punch bowl and Mis Jenette Fenton, assisted by Miss Charlotte Grossie served the cake.

Miss Wanda Lee Jordan presided at the guest book.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks the bride traveled in a white silk jersey ensemble with white patent accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Lafayette for the remainder of the summer, returning to Monroe for the fall opening of Northeast Louisiana State College.

The bride is a graduate of Calhoun high school and of Northeast and until recently taught in Bossier Parish. Mr. Langlinais graduated from Youngsville high school, attended the University of Southwestern and is a senior in the school of Pharmacy at Northeast Louisiana State College.

SONIAT, the former Laura Mae Williams of Oak Grove, will serve as New Orleans area chairman for the Kappa Delta National convention which will convene at the Roosevelt Hotel, July 1-5. Mrs. Soniat was a member of Alpha Chi chapter at Louisiana Tech and taught in public schools of West Carroll parish. She is the daughter of Mrs. J. T. Williams of Oak Grove.

Glo-Rainwear Is New Traffic Safety Device

Children that glow in the rain is the latest traffic safety device.

Because safety statistics show that many accidents are caused by the driver's inability to see pedestrians in dark and cloudy weather, a rainwear company appropriately called glo-a-coat.

It is made of special vinyl fabric impregnated with highly reflective glo-orange pigment recently adopted by the National Safety Council. The coats have matching sou'wester hats.

The glo - orange treatment achieved national prominence when it was used in parachutes which floated our astronauts to safe landings so that they could be tracked easily.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Every summer thousands and thousands of people indulge in sunbathing. They consider this an entirely safe, garden variety activity. Actually it can be dangerous to health, and death to a lovely complexion. Of course it depends partly on the type skin you have, and also upon how much know how you use in obtaining your suntan.

Over and over again skin specialists warn that over exposure to the sun is one of the leading causes of skin cancer and premature aging of the skin. Habitual over - exposure and too little protection will cause the complexion to become leathery and lined.

Yet year after year, women bake themselves, and often blister and peel. There is no doubt that a suntan is attractive in the summertime and that the sun is health giving. However, you can have a suntan without damaging your skin so badly and you can get all of the sun's rays you need for health when sitting on an open porch with a roof over your head or under a shade tree.

If you wish to have your suntan and keep your complexion, here are a few things to remember.

There are products on the market today which screen out a large percentage of the damaging rays. Apply one of these before going into the sunshine. If you are going to be outdoors for long periods reapply about every two hours.

Remember that you can get a burn even after you have a good suntan. Keep using good sense and your screening product.

Most important, begin your exposure slowly and build up gradually.

Take your swim or sunbath before 11 a.m. and after 3 p.m.

Apply suntan lotion, or oil to your feet. Feet can burn like the rest of you and may be very painful.

Lips and eyelids are very sensitive to the sun's rays. You can use a little cream over your lipstick.

Some very fair or sensitive skins simply do not react well to suntanning. If you have one like this, get your suntan by applying suntan make-up.

Lately, many women have been writing to me asking for bust exercises. Here is one you can do out in the sun and accomplish two things at once. It can be done with either books or dumbbells.

Lie on the floor or ground on your back, arms resting straight out from the shoulder pits. Take a book or a dumbbell in each hand. Slowly raise the arms upward with stiff elbows until the hands are together. Slowly lower arms and continue. As your muscles grow stronger, you can increase the size of the book or dumbbell.

FAT IN THE FIRE

The blaze began in a smoke room where bacons and hams were being cured when fat from the meat apparently dripped into the fire, flared up and started the blaze. About 2,200 pounds of meat was in the smoke rooms.

Ideas Given For Bachelor Dinner Decor

Decorations at a farewell "bachelor dinner" for the groom before his wedding day should be simple but bright and bold to capture he-man interest, advises the Society of American Florists.

For a stag party that would rate high on any man's list, use black and white checked table cloth, red napkins and white plates. Insert huge white carnation "boutonnieres," ringed with pittosporum foliage, at the base of black candlesticks arranged in tier fashion for the centerpiece.

Or, use an actual ball-and-chain for the centerpiece, decorating it with an arrangement of carnations and stocks to give sharp contrast to the bold blacks. This centerpiece undoubtedly will evoke shouts of amusement from guests before the symbol's true meaning is realized: Two people willingly tied together for life.

Vicuna Blends Introduced For Fall Fashions

The rarest and most expensive of all wools is being combined with another soft but not quite as dear fleece from the cashmere goat. The vicuna fleece brings a whooping price because the rare little animal who roams the Andes is so tiny he yields only 6 to 8 ounces, thus requiring numerous vicunas to make one coat, even more than the 30 goats needed for a cashmere coat.

Assignments In Diocese Announced

Father William Allen, former director of Don Bosco's Home in Cottonport, has been named pastor of St. Joseph's church, Monroe.

Recently ordained Father Kenneth Williams is now assistant at St. Francis Zavier Cathedral, Alexandria and Father Theodore Lelieveld, back on duty after a sick leave, is assistant at St. Joseph's parish, Mansfield.

Father David Clark has been appointed temporary administrator of St. Anthony's church, Cottonport, and Father Michael Hannon, formerly of St. Joseph's parish, Monroe, has been granted a leave of absence to the Brooklyn diocese.

SICK LEAVE

Father Giles Boyer, pastor of St. Genevieve's church in Brouillette until injured in a serious car accident over a year ago, is presently on sick leave in Canada.

Father Allen is a native of Chicopee, Mass., where he offered his first mass in 1931. Prior to ordination his seminary studies were made in the U.S., Canada and France.

Following reception of the priesthood, he studied three years at the Lateran University in Rome where he received a doctorate in canon law. He has contributed articles on canonical subjects to leading Catholic periodicals and journals.

ASSISTANTSHIP

Father Allen came to the diocese of Alexandria in 1955 as assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Cottonport. He took over directorship of Don Bosco's in 1956.

Father Bordelon's appointment to Don Bosco's has something of "homecoming" in it, since he originally started the diocese's program of care for homeless boys. While pastor of Immaculate Conception Church in Dupont, he opened his rectory to 15 needy boys. The number quickly increased to 35, necessitating the construction of additional facilities.

When Bishop Charles P. Greco came to the diocese in 1946 he made immediate plans for a permanent institution, and the following year the present Don Bosco's opened its doors with Father Bordelon as its first director.

Father Bordelon was born in Alexandria in 1915, the son of Mrs. Amelie Bordelon and the late Curtis Bordelon, Sr. He attended Menard Memorial high school until his entrance into the minor seminary at Covington, La.

Upon completion of his major seminary studies at Notre Dame Seminary, New Orleans, he was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans in May 1940.

Community Choir Will Hold Concert

The Community Concert Choir, composed of singers from several churches in and around Bastrop, will present a "God and Country Concert" 7:30 p.m. Monday at Bastrop First Baptist Church.

The program will include sacred anthems, spirituals and patriotic anthems under the direction of Bill Santo, music minister at First Baptist Church.

SOLOISTS

Soloists include Ann Hohman of the First Methodist Church, Carl Turpin of the First Baptist Church, and Jimmy Brown of the First Presbyterian Church. Accompanists will be Prentiss Dunn, organist; Jim Jones and Mrs. Douglas Davison, pianists; and Johnny Tipton, tympanist.

Included on the program will be several numbers played by the Memorial Bell Choir of the First Baptist Church, using musical handbells cast in London, England.

The concert will be climaxed with the singing of the Roy Ringwald arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as recorded by Fred Warring. The arrangement is for chorus, four-hand piano accompaniment, and tympany.

Special Services Of Dedication Set By Church

Dedication Sunday services will be held at Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe today at 11 a.m., it was announced by Dr. Hugh Bradshaw, pastor.

Dr. Bradshaw said the observance will give all the members an opportunity to rededicate themselves to God and the church. The observance will also mark the beginning of the pastor's 15th year with the church.

He preached his first sermon there on the first Sunday in June, 1949, and was installed on Sunday, June 19 of that year.

In other activity at the church the second in a series of weekly Bible group studies on Jeremiah will be held this evening at 7.

NEW POPE FINDS

Big Reservoir Of Good Will

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

No Pope in a thousand years has begun his pontificate with a greater reservoir of good will than Paul VI.

As he takes up the lonely burdens of his office, Protestants and Eastern Orthodox Christians are praying as earnestly as the world's half-billion Catholics that he may be truly guided by the Holy Spirit.

The unprecedented interest which non-Catholics are taking in the new Pope is a carryover of the vast affection they had for his predecessor. By the sheer force of goodness, Pope John XXIII changed the whole image of the papacy for the non-Catholic world. During his reign, it was possible for those outside the Catholic fold to hear the authentic voice of a Good Shepherd speaking from the Throne of St. Peter.

Pope Paul is too brilliant and sensitive, too aware of the world, not to realize that his present popularity is a legacy. And, as he made clear in his first formal address, he is not ashamed to acknowledge his inheritance. He is quite willing to be known as the Pope who came after the great John XXIII, and tried to carry on his work.

"CONTINUE"

In outlining the aims of his pontificate to the College of Cardinals, he repeatedly used the word, "continue."

He said his "preeminent" concern would be the continuation of the Ecumenical Council summoned by Pope John and automatically suspended by his death.

He also promised to "continue with full dedication the great work started by our predecessor" in attempting to "restore the unity" of the Christian family.

"We are opening our arms to all those who take pride in the name of Christ," he said. "We are calling them by the precious name of brothers, and let them know that they will find in us constant understanding and benevolence..."

Despite his devotion to John XXIII's goals of renewal and reunion, Paul VI is by no means a carbon copy of his predecessor. On the contrary, he differs from him very strikingly in temperament and personality, and it would be unreasonable for anyone to expect him to do things in the same style.

PEASANT'S SON

John XXIII was a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred by the most outrageously informal conduct. Like St. Francis, he manifested the rare combination of a Christ-like, self-denying character with a happy, outgoing personality.

Paul VI is an introvert and an intellectual, intense in his feelings but disciplined in the expression of them. He is subject to melancholy moods. His compassion for humanity is said to be great, but it seems unlikely that he will display it with the same kind of spontaneous little gestures which so endeared John XXIII to the world.

Being a good Pope, however, is not the same thing as winning a popularity contest. And there are reasons for suspecting that Paul VI may prove to be even more effective than his great predecessor in pursuing their common goals.

REASONS

The reasons include his relative youth and vigor, and the reasonable expectation of a fairly long pontificate.

Also, as an old Vatican hand who spent 30 years in the secretariat of state, he knows the varied and wondrous ways in which curia professionals may sidetrack and smother papal initiatives of which they disapprove. He is not likely to be as patient with such obstructionism as was the kindly old man whose slippers he seeks to fill.

The curia conservatives did not approve of Pope John's Ecumenical Council. They tried to talk him out of it, and when they failed in that, they sought to postpone the date indefinitely. When it met last fall over their protests, they tied it up in protracted debate over draft statements which they had prepared, and which were directly contrary to the spirit of renewal and reunion.

The tolerance which Pope John displayed toward these tactics dismayed many of the progressive bishops at the council, and it was not until weeks after the council met that they felt sure enough of the Pope's support to get on with the work of "updating" and reforming the church.

When Paul VI summons the council back into session, it is a safe bet that things will move faster.

Local Delegates To District Meet

The pastor and two delegates from Watson Chapel Methodist Protestant Church in West Monroe attended the recent 22nd annual session of the Mississippi District of the Methodist Protestant Church in Collins, Miss.

They were Rev. Kenton Renfroe, pastor, and Mrs. Lennie Jones and Mrs. Beth Peacock, official delegates. Rev. B. F. Gerald, pastor of the Forest Methodist Protestant Church, Forest, Miss., was named president of the district representing some 30 churches in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Rev. H. O. Carmichael, pastor of the Faith Methodist Protestant Church, Jackson, Miss., was named secretary, and Rev. James Mozingo, Toxey, Ala., treasurer.

Revival Opens At Center Point

A revival will open today at Center Point Baptist Church on New Natchitoches Road, West Monroe, and will continue through July 6, it was announced by the Rev. George Womack, pastor. Dinner will be served at the church today at noon.

The Rev. T. H. Mercer of Epps will serve as evangelist.

Rev. Langford Guest Pastor

The Rev. Eugene Langford, public relations director for Louisiana College, Pineville, will preach at 10:30 a.m. and 7:10 p.m. today at Ridge Avenue Baptist Church in West Monroe. The church is currently without a pastor.

Pulpit Guest At Fairbanks

Fairbanks Baptist Church will have a pulpit guest at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. today.

The Rev. Earl D. Mercer, public relations director for the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home, will preach in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Hugh Tarpley, who will be concluding revival services in Alexandria.

News Briefs In Religion

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Daniel E. Scovanner, 40, minister of Story-Hypes Memorial Methodist Church, is a pilot, mechanic, musician and radioman who has worked as an electrician, bulldozer operator, reporter and in the trucking business.

If a clergyman can speak the other fellow's language, he says, "be interested in their interests and be with them where they are, then they will be willing to listen to him."

THE REV. SMITH

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—Three ministers named Smith have churches of the same denomination within five miles of each other in this area.

The Rev. Samuel W. Smith is pastor of Massillon Evangelical United Brethern Church. His nephew, the Rev. Herbert L. Smith, is minister of Fohl Memorial EUB Church in nearby Navarre. And the Rev. Guy E. Smith, unrelated to the other two, is pastor of Otterbein-Shepler EUB Church near Navarre and Grove EUB Church near North Industry.

TIME FOR PRAYER

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — When lunch hour arrives at Goodyear Aircraft, a group of scientists, engineers, draftsmen and secretaries meets in a plant conference room for prayer and Bible discussion.

Similar meetings are held in two other Goodyear Aircraft plants and the engineering shop here. More than 50 workers of all faiths and denominations attend. Among reasons for living up to what is discussed they say is:

"Because other workers naturally are watching us and are deciding whether to join one of these groups, too."

College Singers To Appear At Liberty Church

A sextette from the Mid-South Bible College, Memphis, Tenn., will appear at Liberty Baptist Church, 401 Slack St., West Monroe, 7:30 p.m. Friday in a program of special music, it was announced by the Rev. John Dallalio, pastor.

They will present solos, duets and group singing, and describe some of the work and programs of the college. Scheduled to speak is the head of the Missions Department of the school.

Youth Raises Bible Question

During a devotional period in the Readhimer Cottage at the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home here, Mrs. Walter Ray Weeks, the cottage mother, was telling a story about David from the Old Testament. A six-year-old boy raised his hand and said: "That was David Crockett, wasn't it?"

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

8 Designs Displayed

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Mrs. Tracy Higdon, president of the Lakeshore Garden Club of Monroe, and several of the club's members brought eight beautiful flower designs to be displayed on the T. V. program last Wednesday and later placed in the Fifth Dsitrict Garden Center.

Mrs. Clint Hanna used leaves, seed pods and fruit to create a lovely all green arrangement. The leaves of the canna formed the first vertical placement (four tiered) in a soft olive green compote container. Green with yellow limes formed the focal interest. These were placed on picks and stuck into the needle holder. Green with yellow (varigated) hydrabgea leaves formed a background for the limes.

The seed pods of the mimosa tree (color yellow-green) formed the lower line of the triangle and also, was use das a filler to the back of the limes. All of these colors blended perfectly and created a very pleasing and interesting design so suitable for the home during the long summer days. All of these materials condition well, maybe, with the exception of the hydrahgea leaves. These are not so dependable unless they are conditioned in deep water overnight beforehand. I might suggest that the young aspidestra leaves could be used in their place and could be depended on for the long lasting design.

GOLDEN PRIVET

Mrs. John Craft used the golden privet for the slight Hogarth line in a brown compote container. She filled the container with oasis which had first been wrapped with chicken wire. Next she filled in this line with the beautiful golden "cut-and comes" starting with the bud at the top and massing the larger blossoms in the center — then finishing the lower part of the design with the smaller—creating good gradation with the flowers. The privet was used as a filler to the back of the design. Hosta foliage formed a background for the flowers. A beautiful, colorful design for today's house or patio.

Mrs. J. W. Bubnich used the exotic tiger lily (three stems) in a tall amber colored bottle. One tight bud was placed at the top. The full flower was placed next facing the front, then, low in the design was placed a half-open bud. The leaves formed the only filler and gave color contrast to the orange blossoms. These lilies are long-lasting and can be enjoyed for a long length of time when used in arrangements for the home. It is wise to remove the pollen from the stamens since it is a deep brown and might stain a table cloth or get off on your clothes or hands. This is a safe thing to do if you bring them into the home. These lilies are so lovely they are best used in simple designs just as Mrs. Bubnich has done. They need no help from other plant materials to enrich their exotic beauty.

TRIANGLE DESIGN

Mrs. Tracy Higdon used the aspidestra leaves to form an over-all triangle design in a low rust colored bowl. One leaf was rolled at the base of the design creating interest and contrast of line. Three "cut-and-comes" were placed in a vertical position in the primary line adding color against the rich green background. Fresh flowers could be added from day to day thus making this a wonderful permanent arrangement for the patio or den.

For her next design Mrs. Higdon used three stalks of red canna buds to form the Heaven-Man-Earth line of the oriental influence in an authentic black usabata container. Simplicity was the keynote here—so, no other materials were needed to make this an ideal design for the low coffee table in the den to create an oriental atmosphere.

Mrs. J. B. Evans Sr. made excellent use of a little brown crockery jug when she placed three brown dried cattails in it for the tiered vertical line of her design. For color and "Eye-Catcher" she used the double orange daylily in three stages—the tight bud at the top, the full open flower and the half open bud. These can always be repalced from day to day—making this a handy arrangement for the kitchen or patio.

Mrs. Henry Nyhius made two designs for the show. Her first was of oriental feeling —simplicity prevailed when she used three clipped cypress umbrella grass stalks. These were tiered into a vertical edsign in a milk glass compote. One very large red hybiscus was placed low in the focal area - thus completing the design. A milk glass plate was turned over and used as a base for the arrangement. This gave better balance which was necessary here since the flower was quite large and was over the third size of the bowl which is a good rule to follow-basically. The plate and bowl created the effect of one large container. This design would be so ideal for that table placed against the narrow wall space, perhaps the entrance hall.

For her second design Mrs. Nylius used elaganus branches for her line material creating a symmetrical triangle. Within this established line she placed the orange into yellow double dayliies with buds forming a massed design. The bowl was a low rectangular shaped ceramic with a frog of the same material perching on one corner. This is a very colorful arrangement that can be enjoyed a long time when filled with buds as well as open flowers. As the full blossoms fade the buds open daily. Handy for the busy housewife to use a the family room or den.

This was such a wonderful program from a wonderful club—one that is progressing each day. I was told that they are planning to become a Federated cub just as soon as they send in their club members and officers names, etc., to Mrs. Jettie Barnum, fifth district director, Jonesboro. Let this set a fine example for other non-Federated clubs to follow. By doing this you, too, will progress and find greater interests in gardening and flower arranging and may I add—a greater field of knowledge and fine friends who have your interest in common. Louisiana Garden Club Federation and National Council of State Garden Clubs invite you to be one of them.

Next Wednesday I hope to show the rest of the blue ribbon winners pictures for the T. V. program—from the Twin City Council Flower Show, "Progress of the Twin Cities." So be watching the design you see may be yours.

On The House

It is estimated that seven million families move from one city to another every year. Of these, about 70 per cent must move because of job transfers.

A handful of companies have the facilities to give these transferred employes full assistance in taking care of the countless problems involved in selling their old homes and finding new ones. The other workers must find help elsewhere.

One of those who has the unusual job of giving such help is Diane C. Drake of St. Louis — yet she never sees any of those who benefit from her knowledge! Diane is known as a relocation counselor and is concerned with the American Institute of Marketing Systems, a kind of nationwide clearing house for families on the move.

When special, personalized housing problems must be solved, Diane gets the call. Mostly through correspondence, occasionally by telephone, she goes about the business of matching needs with realities.

A typical recent case: a man made good in his Midwestern home town and was promoted to a more lucrative post in New York City. The house he occupied was in a nice, middle-income neighborhood where 60-foot elms shaded his front porch. It was a perfect setting for his aging mother, who liked to sit on the porch and watch the world go by He insisted the world go by. He insisted that his home in New York must have a front porch—and that it must be a new house.

Diane knew that, in New York's residential sections, houses with front porches are in older neighborhoods. After a considerable exchange of letters, she was able to convince the man that a new house in a suburban development would solve his problem. The proviso that clinched the agreement was that the house have a rear patio, so that the man's mother could observe community life where it often takes place in New York suburbia — in the backyard.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. To the extent that it is feasible, a family should consider a home that is possibly substantially different in style from the one that it is leaving. It would seem more likely, at first thought, that a similar home would make the shock of dislocation more bearable. But a similar home invites comparisons, often of a nostalgic sort. A different, exciting new residence, however, provokes eager anticipation.

VARIATIONS

2. A family should understand that each community has its own characteristics and that the sooner a family blends into its new background, the happier it will be. If this means living in a neighborhood where social amenities are different, don't resist change and risk being uncomfortable among your new neighbors.

3. While making the move, plan for the future. A three-bed-room house may have seemed ample at the origin city and might be sufficient in the new location. But why uproot the family again when it outgrows three bedrooms? A family-on-the-move should combine the relocation with a plan to provide for future needs.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: We picked up several rolls of vinyl wall covering at a bargain price because of slight imperfections and plan to redo our kitchen walls. We also bought a special paste for this kind of material. Can you tell us whether the walls have to be treated first?

ANSWER: Yes, proper wall preparation is necessary. The walls must be washed with a strong ammonia solution and allowed to dry thoroughly before hanging the vinyl covering. However, if the walls have a gloss paint on them, as so many kitchen walls do, they must be sanded or steel wooled before the ammonia washing.

Walls which have decided spots or streaks or sharp light and dark contrasted areas must be given a prime coat of flat paint or covered with a special lining paper. The lining paper also is necessary before applying the vinyl covering to heavily textured walls. This type of material should be butted and not overlapped.

Hybridist Gave Much To Rose Fete

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newfeatures

Someone was missing at the annual Rose Festival at Newark, N. Y., this year. The 36,000 rose plants and the brilliance of uncounted other blooms he loved couldn't belittle the absence of Charles H. Perkins.

Charlie wasn't around to walk through the 17-acre Jackson & Perkins gardens where he quietly watched thousands of guests who came to admire his handiwork. His eyes had peered through his glasses to catch their reactions to the giant and dwarf blooms his tender hands had helped to develop.

CHARLES H. PERKINS

PRESIDED

Perkins had presided at virtually all of the 31 Rose Festivals before his death last March. Charlie had made a brief speech of welcome in which he told a bit about one of his new roses. He was very proud of them and he never forget to give credit to those responsible for the new beauty.

Charlie had spent 61 of his 73 years among his roses. As long as the famed gardens offer color and fragrance, Perkins will be remembered.

NEW GLORY

And new glory came to Eugene S. Boerner, J. & P. plant research director and longtime friend of Perkins, who has had more roses patented under his name than any other man.

The opening of the festival also was the occasion for a public display of Berner's 1964 All-America winner, the white floribunda Saratoga.

NAME CHANGE

HINDMAN, Ky. (AP) — James Still, a prominent Kentucky author, often has to explain to visitors the origin of some of the unusual names of communities in his area, names like Carbon Glow, Handshoe and the like.

Recently, he had to do the same thing for a neighbor.

They were riding in Still's auto and passed a roadside sign that read: "Litter Barrel."

Dad burn them highway people," fumed Still's companion. "They done changed the name on us. This community has been called Kelly Town ever since I can rekerlect."

Landscape Color Boost

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you need color in your landscape plant some of the following for quick flowering: Sweet alyssum, cosmos, marigold, annual phlox or portulaca.

This is a good time to select the daylilies that you want in your garden. It is best to select them while they are blooming, then you are sure to get the color you desire. Daylilies can be transplanted any time of the year. With the great interest of daylily growers here in our parish you will not have any trouble getting the daylily you, want.

PLASTIC GREENHOUSES

Here's new news for the amateur gardener who has always wanted a greenhouse of his own but never felt he could afford it. It's now possible with plastic, according to Extension horticulturist at Colorado State University. Four kinds of plastics are being used for greenhouses, polyethylene, polyester, polyvinyl, and fiberglass. Polyethylene is the cheapest but, because it is thin it has the shortest life. For best results it should be mounted on a frame and stored in the dark in the summer. Polyvinyl resists deterioration caused by light but it cracks during prolonged freezing. You can figure a two year life span for this plastic.

Polyester, a thicker, slightly rigid film, is more durable than either of the other two but it costs more. It should last four years on the roof and seven on the sides of a greenhouse.

Fiberglass is rigid and usually comes in corrugated sheets.

H.D. SCHEDULE

FOOD TIPS

How do you, Mrs. Homemaker, keep yeast dough warm during its rising period? Commercial bakers have special heat and humidity controlled cabinets for rising called "proofers." To simulate a proofer at home, place the bowl of yeast dough inside another bowl filled with warm water. Keep the water warm throughout the rising period. Or, place a pan of very hot water on the bottom rack of your oven with the bowl of dough on the rack directly above it. Close the door. If you have a gas range place the dough in the oven with the pilot light on, leaving the door partially open.

Are there dieters in your family? Diet or not every adult needs these foods daily: four or five servings of enriched or whole grain breads or cereals, two cups of milk or its equivalent in other products, two or more servings of lean meat or other protein rich food and four or more servings of fruits and vegetables. Assure good health with well planned low calorie meals including the above foods.

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, have trouble getting some of the members of the family to eat breakfast try this French toasted sandwich. Spread sandwich slices of enriched white bread with marmalade or jam. Dip the sweet sandwiches in a milk and egg mixture and fry as usual. Dust with confectioners' sugar for serving.

Headquarters To Open Monday For McKeithen

The John McKeithen for Governor Committee in Ouachita Parish has set up headquarters and appointed a number of committees which will handle the campaign for Public Service Commissioner McKeithen in the area, it was announced Saturday by James W. Moore, Ouachita Parish chairman.

The headquarters, which will also serve the fifth district campaign for McKeithen, open Monday at 700 N. 7th St. in Monroe, headed by H. C. (Tot) Menuet, office coordinator.

"All local and area supporters are working toward the testimonial dinner for our candidate July 11," Moore said.

The dinner will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Paragon Club in Monroe. Tickets are $25.

Moore also announced that there will be a meeting at Walt's Restaurant, 1315 Cypress, in West Monroe Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. to organize West Monroe McKeithen supporters.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Abundance Of Beauty

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

For really bountiful crops of flowers, the column has recommended many times that you plant some climbing roses. Where there is room for them on trellises, fences or walls, climbers will provide that breath-taking abundance which is the is the dream of every gardener.

For some reason, we Southern gardeners have been content to plant climbing roses and then just wait patiently for them to come into their full production. It is really unnecessary, however, to wait, for years for climbers to produce a good crop of blossoms. Training will shorten the necessary time.

NEED TRAINING

If climbers are allowed to just grow straight upwards on their supports, they will, more than likely, never bloom very much anywhere except at the top. This is because the flow of sap keeps most of the growth developing at the tips of the canes. When the canes are trained in fan shape or horizontally, however, you slow down the sap flow and cause the formation of laterals on which bloom buds will be formed. In this way, you can bring the roses down to you where you want them.

Different varieties of climbers will begin to put on their full crop of flowers at different ages. Our climbing roses are mostly bud sports from bush roses. (A sport is a diviation from the parent stock.) All of a sudden, a bush rose sent out a climbing cane. Cuttings and buds were taken from this cane, and a new climber had been added to the list.

Of course, the climbers have come from all sorts of bush roses, so we have many sizes in climbers. Some have become short climbers which we call pillar roses, and some are rampant wanderers that will cover small houses in a short time. In addition to these sports, we have, of course, some climbers which had a planned parentage.

SWEETHEART ROSE

One of the most beautiful climbing roses for the South is climbing Cecile Brunner—often called the Sweetheart rose. You may have to root one from a friend's garden because there are not many nurseries which sell this one in spite of the fact this was one of the very first recorded climbing sports from bush roses.

Another early one was climbing Carolina Testout (about 1901). This one is to be seen everywhere in the South. While rosarians often cast aspersions upon its color, it certainly is a producer and it seldom needs much attention.

Some of the most vigorous bud sport climbers are Etoile de Hollande, Ophelia (seldom seen anywhere but in England), Peace and Mme. Butterfly. Typical of the smaller climbers is Talisman, a handy short one for places where you do not want a rose to overtake everything in sight, but still want a rose instead of some other climber.

Soviet Premier Wants To Scrap National Anthem

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda Saturday published Khrushchev's suggestion, made last week before the Central Committee of the Soviet party.

He said many Russians have suggested "a new state anthem which would keep in tune with our time," and he urged Soviet composers and poets to get to work.

Jaycee July The Fourth Celebration Draws Near

The Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce is ready for their annual July Fourth celebration in Forsythe Park, according to Bill Rose, chairman for the project.

A full slate of events is on tap, Rose said, including fireworks and a speech by the author of "The Naked Communist," W. Cleon Skousen.

Boy Scout troop 32 and Cub Scout pack 31 will raise the colors at 11 a.m.

Several bands will provide entertainment during the day. They include the Melodiaires at 11:15; the Jumping Jacks at 12:30; the Monroe Municipal Band at 2 p.m.; the Twin City Jamboree at 4 p.m., and the Dukes at 6 p.m.

An air show is scheduled at 3 p.m. and the Bayou Kennel Club is scheduled for an obedience drill and poodle fashion show at 3:30.

A barrel fight between two teams from the Monroe fire department will be staged at 5 p.m.

Skousen's talk is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Neville stadium and will be followed by a fireworks display.

WHAT'S MORE LIKE the Fourth of July that an American flag? And Jaycee Jaynes will be distributing them in Forsythe Park Thursday like they did last year, as pictured here. Jaynes Caroline Masur and Norma Routt made this little girl happy.

HISTORIC OCCASION

Steel Companies, Union Sign Pact

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union and the basic steel industry made their historic relationship formal Saturday, signing contracts achieved by informal talks.

President David J. McDonald and other top officers signed for the union while high-ranking officials represented the 11 major companies. Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp. signed first. U.S. Steel Corp. was last nearly 3½ hours later.

Highlight of the pacts which last until May 1, 1965, is a 13-week extended vacation plan.

"This is a really historic occasion," McDonald told the company men at the conclusion of the signing session. "I have been happy to work with you. We hope that you can keep the order books filled and that we will enter a prosperous period with full production and full employment."

R. Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel Corp. executive vice president and cochairman of the Human Relations Committee with McDonald, replied, "I again want to say that this has been a strenuous, fascinating and rewarding experience. Good luck to all of you."

Before each contract was signed, McDonald gave the firms contract reopening notices. This token action was taken to preserve the union's legal rights in contract negotiations with other companies.

Cooper, however, smilingly reversed the procedure when it was U.S. Steel's turn, presenting McDonald with a hand-written reopening notice.

Laughing heartily, McDonald said, "We will be happy to begin negotiations."

Then they signed the contract.

Under the contracts, effective Aug. 1, both sides have the right to terminate the agreements upon 120 days notice after Jan. 1, 1965.

The old contracts called for a 90-day notice. The reopener wasn't used though. The new agreement came after some 5½ months of informal talks in the Human Relations Committee. Thus, it was the first time labor and management reached agreement without a strike or fixed strike deadline.

The vacation plan gives 13-week paid vacations every five years to half of each company's steelworkers with the longest service. Some 400,000 basic steelworkers are affected by the contracts.

Traffic Mishaps Kill At Least Six In Alabama

By United Press International

Traffic accidents claimed at least six lives in Alabama during the first 18 hours of the weekend in Alabama.

Billie Jackie Carter, 24, of Daleville, was killed early Saturday in a freak accident near Dothan. State troopers said the victim jumped from a moving car and was struck by an oncoming vehicle. The accident happened 15 miles west of Dothan on Alabama 92.

A seven - year - old Negro girl, Joyce Williams, was struck and killed by a car in Birmingham Friday night.

Negro Willie James Hannah, 27, was killed in a one-car accident five miles south of Bessemer Friday night. Authorities said he lost control of his automobile on wet pavement.

Clara A, Borroughs, 46, of Bessemer, was killed Friday when the car in which she was riding collided with another on old U.S. 31.

Asa Peda Quick, 23, of Hanceville, was killed in a Walker County collision Friday. Officers said Quick's car was struck by a vehicle driven in the wrong lane of U.S. 78 four miles west of Jasper.

John Frank Harris, 19, of Greenville, was killed when his car crashed into a bridge abutment near Greenville.

Antisegregation March Led By Gov. Romney

GROSSE POINT, Mich. (AP)— Republican Gov. George Romney, in a surprise move, appeared in time to head an antisegregation march through this fashionable Detroit suburb Saturday.

Romney, who had not been asked to appear, walked casually to the head of the group as members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others were forming a parade to march through Grosse Pointe and adjoining Grosse Pointe Park.

Romney said he had not been asked to head the parade but added, that since he was in the Detroit area he decided to come out.

"I came because I believe that any American should have equal rights with any other American. There is an excessive amount of discrimination in housing. Some practiced in this particular part of the state is particularly reprehensible," he said.

Romney had rejected invitations to participate in a civil rights march through Dearborn, another Detroit suburb, last Saturday, and also a giant "walk to freedom" in which more than 125,000 persons marched down Detroit's Woodward Avenue last Sunday.

In rejecting the invitation to participate last Sunday Romney had restated his policy of not participating in any official functions on Sunday in accordance with his Mormon religion.

COMMUTED CONVICT

Patient Of Lung Transplant Dies

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — John Richard Russell, a convict believed to have been the first human lung transfer patient, died Saturday of a kidney failure.

A University Hospital spokesman said death came at noon to Russell, a 58-year-old Kosciusko man whose life term had been commuted last week.

Surgeons had replaced his cancerous left lung with a healthy lung 18 days ago. However, hospital spokesmen had indicated most of Rusell's internal system was racked with cancer.

The healthy lung came from an munrelated donor in a historic three-hour operation.

The hospital said the transplanted lung had "worked" from the time of the operation until Russell succumbed to chronic nephritis, a kidney disease which inflames portions of kidney cells.

Russell, who was termed rational the entire time after the operation, had been in prison at the state penitentiary at Parchman.

Gov. Ross Barnett Tuesday commuted Russell's prison sentence in recognition of his "excellent record" and contribution to mankind. He was serving a life sentence for a 1957 Attala County slaying.

Russell's left lung was destroyed by cancer and his right lung was limited by emphysema, another lung injuring disease.

The convict accepted the University of Mississippi medical center surgcal team's suggestion that a lung transplant be used.

Physicians did not transplant the lung however, until after experimenting with more than 500 animals over a 7-year-period.

Barnett said he had been taking steps to have a full pardon granted.

The governor said the contribution of Russell in taking part in the transplant would "alleviate human misery and suffering in years to come.

The hospital last week revealed "peritonialdialysis" was being used on Russell to help his kidney problem which arose after the transplant.

The technique was described as being designed to use his abdomen walls as an artificial kidney to filter body wastes from liquids.

The hospital said the method was slow, but effective.

The surgeons said the main problem at the time of the transplant and during the trial period was the lung facing the body's defense against foreign "invaders."

Hospital spokesmen said the lung had functioned extremely well following the tranplant but cancer had gone too far in the rest of the convict's body.

WORKING CON MAN

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — Police reported a new type of con man in Harlan County.

Two men posing as Health Department employes approached a Straight Creek resident and told him they were required by law to paint his outhouse.

Officers said the men put on a coat of white paint and charged the unsuspecting owner $66.

CURTAIN CALL

An unusually large turnout for tryouts for the children's play planned for this summer was an early indication of the popularity of this production.

George Brian, director of the play, said he was "very pleased" with all of the children and adults who came to the Strauss Playhouse last Sunday.

The cast for "The Indian Captive" consists of five children and six adults. The children are Bruce Harrison as Thomas Lytell; Susan Golson as Eleanor Lytell; Susan Taylor as Deborah; Chuck Fuller as Red Bill and Michele Landry as Shining Leaves.

Adults appearing in the play are: Mrs. E. W. Biegenwald as Mrs. Lytell; Ray Lucero as Cornplanter; Mrs. G. C. Grian as the Old Queen; Warren Ward as Falling Leaves; David East as Many Bears, and Sue Turner as Eagle Feather.

CAST ADDITIONS

Additions to the cast of "The Desperate Hours" have been announced by Richard Clark, director of the Little Theatre. Linda Lee Martin of Corpus Christi, Texas, will take the part of Miss Swift. Linda is a drama major at the University of Houston. She is in Monroe for the summer. Dave Baron, a Monroe resident, will play the role of Chuck Wright.

A new tile has been added to the ever-growing number on the Green Room wall. Joe Kern has taken a block for his role in the drama, "Out of the Night."

Our west coast reporters have some more news of theatre activity out that way.

The White Oaks Summer Theatre has just started its annual season in Carmel Valley. Its program included "The Philadelphia Story," "The Fantasticks," and "Little Mary Sunshine" for adults, "Greensleeves' Magic" for children and five experimental concerts. Season tickets at $10 include the three adult shows and any two of the concerts.

Our reporter sat in on a rehearsal of "Greensleeves' Magic" and chatted with some of the members of this summer stock company. They are mainly people who intend to make a career of the theatre. Each of their shows has a different director and they make all their sets and costumes as part of their theatrical education.

As predicted earlier in this column, the famous Monterey Wharf Theatre reopens July 17 with "Carnival." For a time it was hoped that a new theatre could be built on the pier where the old one was destroyed by fire, but this proving impracticable, operations are resuming in the near-by movie theatre that has been its temporary home. The whole activity is under new management and it will be interesting to see if this institution can restore its former glory.

A committee has been formed to promote the idea of a Festival Theatre for the Monterey Peninsula, to be devoted to the production of classic plays in the grand manner of the Stratford Theatres in Canada and Connecticut or the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis. The sponsors foresee the need for a 1,200 to 1,600 seat theatre costing upwards of one million dollars and requiring production costs of one hundred to two hundred thousand dollars per play!

Our correspondent further reports that by mid-summer, no less than eight theatres will be vying for tourist patronage on the Monterey Peninsula. None will have anything that even remotely compares with the facilities of Strauss Playhouse. The quality of their productions varies considerably, but even their best is in no way superior to the standards to which our members are accustomed. Indeed, when the theatre people out there hear about our modern playhouse and our nearly 3,000 members, they are obviously astonished that a community of our size supports live theatre so much better than many others much bigger seem able to do.

TURNS TO MYTH

Like the previous play, "Herakles," is to be tested first at Yale University's Drama School next fall, with subsequent Broadway production possible under sponsorship of Alfred de Liagre, Jr. and Elia Kazan.

DRAMA SEMINARS

DENVER (AP) — The Institute for Advanced Studies in the Theater is transferring operations for the summer from New York to the University of Denver campus.

A series of seminar discussions are to be conducted by John D. Mitchell, head of the institute, and two other instructors; William Burdick, solo dancer with the Metropolitan Opera ballet; and Miyoko Watanabe, a specialist in Kabuki Theater. In addition, performances are to be given of four plays previously done in New York.

NEW WRITERS

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For the third summer in a row, the Pioneer Playhouse is concentrating exclusively on testing works by new playwrights.

Ten scripts are to be given week - long runs in the season through Labor Day. Among the authors are a furniture company president and a State Department employe now stationed in Viet Nam.

As mementoes of the tryouts, each author on opening night is presented with a plaque salvated from the Old Wilderness Road — starting point of the Lewis and Clark expedition—and a bottle of Kentucky bourbon.

BOOKS

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Delightful Novel For Light Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

A delightful novel for light summer reading is "More Than Welcome" written by Dean Boyd. This is the story of a welcome wagon hostess in a small Connecticut town and of the people she meets. There is a prevailing air of good humor and this is just the book for a long lazy summer afternoon. A collection of mystery stories is "The Shaggy Dog and Other Murders" by Frederic Brown. They are well written and give an interesting view of the horror that can invest the commonplace. Lawrence Durrel's Alexandria Quartet is considered one of the classics of modern writing. The four books, "Justine," "Balthazar," "Mount Olive" and "Cleo" have now been published in a one volume addition, which will be most popular with the reader who wants to start at the beginning and read the entire group. "The Port" by Henry Beetle Hough catches the flavor of New England and brings it through to the reader. This book is highly recommended for all who love the Cape Cod region. Norah Lofts is an exceedingly popular historical novelist of the English scene, who has a very wide reading audience. Her latest novel is "The Concubine" based on the life of Anne Boleyn. This book gives a very frank and different interpretation of the love affair of Anne Boleyn and Henry VIII. It is a book which many readers will enjoy. "Advocate of the Isle" by Loys Masson is a very different sort of book which will not have an enormous appeal, but which will interest some readers. It has it's setting on the island of Mauritius and was originally written in French.

Among the new additions to the Library this past week are three delightful small books dealing with specific hobbies. One is "Archaeology as a Hobby" written by Virginia Fortiner, another is "Starting a Terrarium" by William Gilbert and the third is "Bird Watching as a Hobby" by Robert Wells. A new collection of poetry is "American Negro Poetry" collected by Arna Bontemps. A new edition of Milton's "Paradise Lost" will be eagerly welcomed by students, especially since it has a fine introduction by F. T. Prince. Moses Finley is the author of "The Ancient Greeks" which gives us an excellent interpretation of the life and thought of these people. This will also be useful to students.

Catherine Drinker Bowen, who is one of our best modern biographers, has a new volume "Francis Bacon; the Temper of a Man." This is a very fine interpretation and is a definite contribution to the literature dealing with this remarkable man. Another biography, which should interest Louisiana people is "Judah Benjamin" written by Simon Neiman. The author paints a very good picture of this man who had such an important part in the Civil War in Louisiana. Another biography which will appeal to those of a literary inclination is "Dear Preceptor; the Life and Times of Thomas Wentworth Higginson" written by Anna Mary Wells. "Sam Houston, American Giant" by Marion Karl Wisehart contributes much new material to our knowledge of this man who is one of America's legends. "The Landlords" by Eugene Rachlis is an interesting discussion of the Real Estate Busines in America.

Additions to the reference collection are very interesting. One is "The International dictionary in 21 languages" which should be most helpful to writers. Another is a reprint of "The Official Atlas of the Civil War." This book has been out of print for many years and we are happy to have a copy in the library. The third one is "Louisiana in the War of 1812" written by Powell Casey. This book gives lists of the Louisianans who took part in this conflict and is a valuable source of information.

New Affidavit Terms Actions As Subversive

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — reworded affidavit charging subversive activities was filed against three Indiana University Socialists Saturday, and Prosecutor Thomas Hoadley said he would resubmit the case to a grand jury.

An indictment returned May 1 was dismissed Friday by Circuit Court Judge Nat U. Hill, who said the word was unclear.

Charged are Ralph Levitt, 26, and James E. Bingham, 25, both of Indianapolis, and Thomas Morgan, 22, Terre Haute.

Hoadley's new affidavit changed the disputed word "or" to "and" in a section of the original indictment which charged the trio with assembling "for the purpose of advocating or teaching the doctrine that the government of the United States or the State of Indiana should be overthrown by force, violence or any unlawful means, voluntarily participating therein by their presence, aid or instigation."

Charges against the three members of the Young Socialist Alliance were based on a March meeting in which a national officer of the alliance allegedly said Negroes would use violence if necessary to achieve civil rights in the South.

Hoadley said the case also would be reconsidered by a grand jury which convenes July 10.

THERE ARE ABOUT one hundred and twenty storybook castles in The Netherlands. This one is Muiderslot, located near Amsterdam, and not far from the artists' colony, Laren. Some of Holland's castles from the Middle Ages have been turned into modern majestic hotels.

MORE THAN WINDMILLS

'Hidden' Holland Becomes New Tourist Attraction

Have you ever snuggled in a giant's bed or been weighed to prove that you were not a witch? Where, outside of Italy, can you wade in a Roman bath?

You can see the giant's resting spot or test the scales in Holland, and, while you are there, dip your toes in a Roman bath. These and many more wonders make up the Holland which remains hidden from the tourist who is content with gazing at the traditional sights from a seat on a glass topped bus. But there is much more to this enchanting country than windmills and wooden shoes. For those who are willing to take a few lei-

The beds of the giants are located in Drenthe Province. They are high mounds of earth topped by large boulders which are carried to this region, say geologists, by Ice Age glaciers. The boulders were buried under sand and unearthed by later inhabitants who found them ideal tombstones. From these mounds, archeologists have taken stone axes, wooden vessels and implements buried by Germanic tribes who lived there 4,000 years ago.

Thwarts Bigots

The ceremony at Oudewater is a tradition that started centuries ago to thwart religious bigots. You'll be weighed on the town scale and come away with a certificate stating that you are too heavy to ride on a witch's broom, and, therefore, completely lack magical powers. Where, but in Holland, could you get such a sweeping testimony?

The Roman baths are just part of the scene in Maastricht, the oldest fortified town in the country. This part of Holland traces its culture back 2,0000 years and boasts also of catacombs and a beautiful Roman villa.

For the last 1,0000 years, the adventurous have explored Holland's only real mountain, St. Pietersberg, whose 200 miles of tunnels, some of which are used for mushroom growing, boast also of unique murals on their white limestone walls. The man-made labyrinths have become the largest autograph book in the world. You are welcome to add your signature to the others dating from 1037 upward and you'll see that Napoleon, Voltaire, the Prince of Orange and Sir Walter Scott signed their names, too.

Holland is a real surprise package. You can walk through a village of hay stacks in the Northeast Polder's Genemuiden. No smoking please! You can take a dip in the pool at Boekelo in the heart of the large salt deposits and be rocked gently by artificial salt waves. You can visit the village of Lelystad, which will become the country's twelfth province when it emerges entirely from the sea.

If you like to be awed by architecture, visit any of the country's great cathedrals. As yet, most of them are not tourist meccas so you'll have the solitude necessary for a little quiet contemplation in the midst of all their glory. There is the Cathedral St. Jan in 's - Hertogenbosch also known as Bois le Duc. It was built in the 15th century of the purest Gothic style. Gouda, the well - known cheese center, is the site of the Church of St. John which has 2,412 panels in its 31 stained glass windows. Handel and Mozart played on the organ at St. Bavo's in Haarlem.

The gargoyles on the church in Arnhem once made headlines the world - over when a pastor and a stone sculpture disagreed on style. You'll understand why when you look up the tower steeple on the eleventh century church and see new gargoyles bearing a strange resemblance to Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and some other comic figures. The pastor is represented, too, as a dragon peeping out from under a cloud.

There are about 120 castles in Holland. Castle De Haar at Haarzuilens in Utrecht Province is still family owned. Muiderslot on the River Vecht looks like an illustration in a story book. Sijpestein was built in 1288 and now is a fine museum of porcelain, furniture and paintings.

Thorn dates from about 922. It's an all - white village. The town crier still roams the streets there at night. Schoonebeck residents say they have the best dressed oilfield in the world—in a trim garden.

There's no denying Holland has more than its share of the unusual. Be sure to see the windmills and even pay a vist to the klompenmakers (wooden shoemakers), but do stay long enough to discover the Holland that nobody knows.

Stamp News

Two British colonies, vastly separated from one another, have made stamp news with interesting new issues. Singapore has released two new stamps commemorating its "National Day." The 4 cent and 10 cent stamps depict large apartment houses recently built by the Singapore Housing and Development Board.

From the Carribean area, Dominica has announced the issuance of a new set of 17 stamps showing various scenes and items of interest in and around Dominica, reports the Crown Agents Stamp Bureau. Some of the items featured on these stamps are: The seashore at Rosalie, a sailing canoe, road making, traditional costumes, bananas, cocoa, parrots and portraits of Queen Elizabeth.

The United Nations Postal Administration deserves a vote of thanks for the excellent job it has been doing in providing a wide variety of stamps publicizing the aims and activities of the United Nations and its specialized agencies. In addition to issuance of stamps, the United Nations participates in philatelic exhibitons throughout the world. The material for these exhibitions range from large displays suitable for showing at international exhibitions to small exhibitions appropriate for display at local stamp clubs. They even furnish on loan film and film strips. Stamp clubs may receive further information on these matters by writing to the United Nations Postal Administration, United Nations, N.Y.

Tunisa has issued four new stamps honoring its "National Day," reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The 15M value features mosques and minarets of the town of Kairouan, the ancient capital of Tunisia. A woman in traditional dress is seen in the foreground. The 25M depicts a woman of Djarba, a beautiful island of Tunisia. The 55M portrays a woman of Kosar Hellar, a town of olive groves. The 60M illustrates woman attired in the garb of the Arabian Nights.

The General Post Office in England reports that it will issue special stamps on April 23, 1964, to mark the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare. Artists are now being commissioned to submit designs to the British Post Office.

From Czechoslovakia comes word that two new stamps were issued to commemorate the 10th anniversary of Czech television. One stamp features a television camera, an aerial and a TV set. The other stamp shows a television aerial and a transmitter.

Kennedy Alters Italy Timetable

LONDON (AP)—A White House spokesman said Saturday President Kennedy has changed his Italian visit timetable to give him a free night in Rome.

The President originally was to have left Naples for Washington July 2.

But a spokesman said Kennedy on that day now will travel from Naples to Rome "for a completely free night, free from business."

IT'S THE NEW, LOW-COST International Pickup-Model C-900

Designed to handle small loads at low cost, it wastes no space . . . wastes no power . . . wastes no money. You don't have to pay for a bigger pickup than you need.

This is the new INTERNATIONAL Model C-900 economy - size pickup — the very latest addition to a great line of light-duty trucks.

Here's everything you'll want in a small - size truck. It's 107-in. wheelbase lets you make tight turns and park almost anywhere. It has the springs to support a hefty load in its 6-ft. body. The tough, tight-fisted, engine will work hard and long for you on a gallon of regular gas.

You get all this plus INTERNATIONAL truck-built quality — the kind that stands up to tough work!

EQUIPPED WITH • Heater
• Spare
• Turn Signals
• Defroster

The C-900 is ready for you to inspect and drive at Scott Truck and Tractor Co.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:

I keep my rolling pin wrapped in wax paper in my refrigerator. When it is thoroughly chilled, it is wonderful for rolling pastry in hot weather!

A white fingernail pencil, such as is used for whitening underneath the fingernails—is excellent for touching up the discolored grouting between tiles in the bathroom. I just moisten it and mark.

Mrs. Larsen

WELL-STACKED

DEAR HELOISE:

I have been seeking a better way to store my pot covers and lids . . . instead of laying them flat under the kitchen shelf.

Well . . . I had an extra plastic-coated dish drainer. I use this drainer and put all my pot covers and lids in the slots. I place this under the kitchen counter on a shelf. It is so easy to find my covers now. I just reach in and pick up the exact pot lid I need. It is neat and no more fumbling for pot lids.

Mrs. F. LaRosa

FROM THE LINE

DEAR HELOISE:

I use two baskets when removing my laundry from the line. I have found that when taking in the clothes I can drop the "to be ironed" things in one basket and the folding things in the other.

This saves time in going through the whole wash again and sorting for different categories.

B. D.

SOFT TOUCH

DEAR HELOISE:

When butter is too cold to spread, turn a hot bowl

over it and it will barely soften, but not melt. Your bowl can be made warm by filling it with hot water from your tap for a few minutes.

To plump raisins, pour hot water over them for a few minutes, drain, let cool, and add to your fresh fruit salad.

Mrs. J. H. Schneider

SLIPPERY MATTER

DEAR HELOISE:

Not until my husband slipped in the bathtub while standing on a rubber mat did I realize that a mat does not remain safe or skidproof without help.

Now, once a week when I give the tub a thorough cleaning, I turn the mat over in the bottom of the tub and sprinkle cleanser on it too. Then I scrub off the film that accumulates on the mat in spite of washing it after each use. Now the mat sticks to the tub and is safe to stand on during showers.

Heloise, I use a broom to clean my tub. Sure saves my back.

Patsy Wells

BITE-SIZE CUT

DEAR HELOISE:

When making fruit salad and using a small can of pineapple, I find it is much easier to take my paring knife and cut the pineapple in bite sizes before removing it from the can.

After opening the can of pineapple, drain off the juice. Then stick your knife in the center hole of the pineapple and cut out to the edge of the can. By rotating the can you can keep cutting until you have uniform slices.

Salad

THE LAST SCENT

DEAR HELOISE:

I make small bags, about four-by-five inches, from very loosely woven material. I use old curtains, etc.

I place eight or ten moth balls in each bag and sprinkle a dab of cologne or perfume on the knot of the bag. I tie them at the top and place these bags in clothes closets. Add more moth balls and cologne about two or three times during the summer and you will not smell a strong moth ball odor.

Victoria Bemeut

SWEET ADVICE

DEAR HELOISE:

I remove perspiration odors from my washable clothing by rinsing in baking soda. This makes my clothes (and my baby's clothes also) smell sweet and clean.

All young mothers will love soda for their baby bottles. I put one-half teaspoon in each empty bottle and fill it with water. I let this stand and sterilize it later.

Whit

PLASTIC PILLOWS

DEAR HELOISE:

Save that old plastic swimming pool. There is lots of good plastic still in it for other things. I covered some foam rubber pillows with this plastic to make a comfortable lawn chair cushion.

Ken Caruthers

PAINT WITH DELIGHT

DEAR HELOISE:

When I am painting a ceiling or anything that requires the brush to be higher than my hand, I wrap a piece of old cloth around the handle of my paint brush above where my hand goes. This keeps the paint from running down onto the handle, and getting on my hands, and eventually running down my arm.

Allen Miller

BY CANDLELIGHT

DEAR HELOISE:

Sometimes we are caught in a predicament. Our efectricity goes off and we have no lights.

Some years ago I accidentally discovered that if you place a lighted candle (or old-fashioned oil lamp, if you are lucky enough to own one) in front of a mirror, the reflection doubles the illumination.

BREAKFAST TIP

DEAR HELOISE:

When poaching eggs, STIR the water in ONE direction before sliding the eggs in from your saucer, and you will find this prevents the eggs from spreading.

I also find that when I line the bottom of my refrigerator vegetable bin with two layers of paper toweling it will prevent the vegetables from spoiling. The excess moisture seems to be absorbed by the paper, and the vegetables stay more firm and fresh.

Mrs. E. E. Segerson

MASHED SPAGHETTI

DEAR HELOISE:

I use my potato masher to cut canned spaghetti for my kids and grandkids.

This also guards against lumps in gravy and cream sauces when I use the potato masher to stir them.
